Fine Girls Many
Only 575 P. C. Profit
Drunk, in the Air
A Genuine Octopus

—By Arthur Brisbane—

TWENTY AMERICAN GIRLS went to play golf in England. Eleven have already won British golf matches. Not a bad average. All parts of the United States produce girls with extraordinary mental and physical powers. California, where you grow in sunshine, summer and winter, produces the unequalled Helen Wills.

This country has no monopoly on fine, adventurous young women. Amy Johnson, golden-haired 22-year-old British girl, flying from England to Australia alone, landed yesterday in India, two days ahead of all masculine records. Miss Johnson, now safely past the dangerous Indian desert, is beating all world records, in a tiny Moth plane, smaller than Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis. Her trip covers 11,000 miles, and she expects to fly back in the same plane.

To save weight, the young lady, every time she lands and takes a bath, borrows a change of underclothing. That is racing.

The great gambling house at Monte Carlo is sad. Last year's profits amounted to only 575 per cent, lowest in years.

That compares well with the interest rate on a government bond, or dividends on legitimate industrial stocks. But it isn't much for the gambling house.

That 575 per cent interests those that are foolish enough to gamble, on horse racing, in gambling houses, or otherwise. So called "honest games" are arranged to yield "the house" a certain profit of about 40 per cent on every dollar bet. You can imagine what dishonest games make.

Elbert Anding, operating a plane for profit, took two women, three men, up 1400 feet. One man, drunk, tried to take the controls from Pilot Anding. Everybody in the plane was in deadly danger, when Anding struck the drunkard on the jaw, knocking him senseless between the passenger seats. The drunken passenger, after Anding landed the plane, stumbled out and began throwing stones at the cockpit.

Bootleg whiskey is of poor quality.

In the Daily Mail of Brisbane, Australia, an advertisement shows Uncle Sam as an octopus, with top hat, stars and stripes, big cigar and chin beard, seizing upon the oil wealth of Queensland.

Large type says:

"Australian Wealth Primarily for Australians."

The Brisbane Daily Mail says Americans are not wanted there, seizing oil wealth within the British Empire.

The Brisbane Daily Mail editor ought to come here and see what the Shell Oil Co., managed by Sir Henry Deterding, running the gigantic British-Dutch oil concern, is doing.

Deterding, with his Shell Oil Co. exploiting oil deposits all over the United States, is the most effective octopus on record. What he does to our native born oil octopuses makes them shed salty tears.

Deterding even wins in America a competition for supplying the Japanese navy with oil, selling to Japan oil cheaper than it ever was before, getting it from American oil fields, and taking the profit abroad. That you might call a FIRST CLASS octopus.

Great Britain has nothing to learn from us in the octopus line.

Many remember when the Panama Canal was suggested, how the gigantic sum staggered imagination.

We lent 40 times that sum to Europe to help the processes of killing, and staggered nobody but little people that sold Liberty bonds far below par.

Now the War Department studies the plans for a bridge over the Hudson river at 57th st. in New York.

It would cost $180,000,000, but that agitates no one.

We have passed into the billion dollar era. Mere millions attract little attention.

Copper, very feeble recently, rose to 13 cents a pound, some comfort for producers.

That metal should be selling over 20 cents a pound, and never under. It would do that if the people generally knew the importance and value of copper in construction.

The people would know that if copper men knew how to advertise.

GARRETT INDICTED; GIVES BAIL ON LARCENY CHARGE

Cagle and Secret Bride

Christian K. Cagle, West Point football hero, faces dismissal from the military academy following disclosure that he was secretly married August 25, 1928, to Miss Marion Munford Haile of New Roads, La. Marriage of a West Point cadet is expressly forbidden by the academy regulations. (I. N. R.)

CAGLE MARRIED; RESIGNS AT WEST POINT

Army Football Hero Asked to Get Out When the Secret Romance Is Bared

West Point, N. Y., May 13 (AP)—Cadet Christian Keener Cagle resigned today from the United States Military Academy after presenting a certificate saying he was married. The resignation was requested by Maj.-Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent of the academy, and was forwarded at once to the War Department at Washington.

West Point, N. Y., May 13 (AP)—Immediate dismissal of Christian Keener Cagle from the military academy was forecast today by army officials, following news dispatches confirming reports of the army football captain's marriage nearly two years ago, in direct violation of West Point regulations.

Academy officials, including Maj.-Gen. William R. Smith, the commandant, were not prepared immediately to take official action or make any statement, but the indications were that Cadet Cagle would be called summarily to account.

SECRET LEAKS OUT.

Information concerning Cagle's marriage in Gretna, La., August 25, 1928, contained in an Associated Press dispatch, was the first detailed evidence received at West Point. It was understood that following an investigation of rumors, Cagle had explicitly denied being married.

Marriage by any cadet is strictly prohibited by the regulations and, after every leave or furlough, he is obliged to sign a certificate guaranteeing he had done nothing in violation of the rules.

It was recalled that Cagle overstayed a Christmas holiday furlough in 1928 and was disciplined

MASTER FINDS CHELSEA MAYOR IS CORRUPT

Declares Haley Contract Fell Through When Whalen Demanded Too Much

Mayor John J. Whalen of Chelsea and John P. Haley, contractor, entered into a corrupt and fraudulent arrangement to secure the Chelsea ash collecting contract for the latter, according to a report by James J. Ronan, filed in Supreme Court today.

Ronan, who sat as master in the so-called Chelsea fraud case, found that all parties to the contract given Cornelius E. Twomey were acting in good faith, and that it was free from fraud.

The action in which he presided was brought by Chelsea taxpayers to void the ash collection contract given by the city to Twomey, but evidence of Haley's dealings with Whalen was introduced.

DISHONEST BIDS.

Master Ronan found that Haley, who had the ash collection contract under former Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley, submitted dishonest bids to both Mayor Quigley and Mayor Whalen.

He also found that Haley would have secured the contract had he been able to secure sufficient cash to satisfy Whalen's demand.

The general findings of Master Ronan are:

"I find that both Haley and Whalen, on or about the middle of December, 1929, entered into corrupt and fraudulent arrangement by which, in pursuance of the payment of cash by Haley to Whalen, Haley was to secure the ash collecting contract and that these two continued to operate under such an agreement until the morning of Jan. 31, 1930.

COULDN'T GET CASH

"I find that Whalen prevented bidders from submitting bids at the time invitations therefore were invited by the Quigley administration;

"I find that Haley submitted a dishonest bid to Mayor Quigley;

OLIVER B. GARRETT ATTY. H. F. CALLAHAN

Garrett photographed on his way to the office of Dist.-Atty. Foley where he surrendered on the indictment charging him with the theft of $545.42 from the city in pension. He was accompanied by Attorney Callahan, his council. Garrett was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and was held in $2500. (Staff photo.)

ARRESTED IN THEFT FROM CITY

Oliver B. Garrett, former police liquor raider, was indicted, arrested and arraigned today for the larceny of $545.42 from the city by means of his fraudulent pension.

He surrendered in the office of Dist. Atty. William J. Foley after the Suffolk County Grand Jury returned an indictment charging him with larceny of "under $100" in six counts and a warrant had been issued for his arrest.

Arraigned before Chief Justice Walter Perley Hall in the second session of superior criminal Court he pleaded not guilty and was immediately bailed in $2500.

His counsel, Herbert F. Callahan, asked and was granted a 10-day period by the court in which he may file special pleas attacking the validity of the indictment. If no such pleas are filed, the case will be listed for trial.

The maximum penalty for conviction would be two and one-half years' imprisonment on each count of larceny, but the sentences might be made concurrent. Trial justice, in the event of a guilty finding, would have it within his jurisdiction to place the defendant on probation.

ON PENSION ONLY

The only evidence submitted to the grand jury was pertinent to the alleged fraud of the Garrett pensioning as found by Attorney-General Joseph E. Warner, who conducted the Garrett inquiry on mandate of the Legislature.

Evidence concerning Garrett's alleged grafting on bootleggers and houses of ill-repute will not be laid before the grand jury until next month at the earliest, for the jury was dismissed for this month after it reported today.

It will convene again on the

HORSLEY, NOTED VET, IS DEAD

George A. Horsley, national chief of staff of the G. A. R., and a veteran of the famous sea fight between the Kearsarge and the Alabama, dropped dead today on the Strandway at City Point.

He was with Paric Commissioner William P. Long and John F Parramino, the sculptor, making arrangements for the memorial anchor and tablet to naval men which will be erected on the Strandway next month by the Kearsarge Veterans' Association.

Mr. Horsley lived with his wife at 1063 Broadway, West Somerville. He was playing an important role in plans for the Tercentenary, of which the naval memorial at City Point was a part.

MRS. HOOVER'S INJURY WORSE

Washington, May 13 (AP)—Suffering from an injury more serious than was at first supposed, Mrs. Herbert Hoover is not expected to return to her normal White House activities for several weeks.

Capt. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, however, said today that the wrenched back she suffered in a fall had improved and that she would be able to take brief automobile rides soon. He said she would probably not be able to accompany the President to Gettysburg, Pa., May 30.

Mrs. Hoover has already been confined to the White House for more than a month. In the last two weeks she has been using a wheel chair.

Curley Wires Praise for Heineken Visit

"I can but regard your visit in Boston as a splendid harbinger of international good - ill and also of the greatest importance to the port of Boston by reason of your desire for the increase and betterment of our shipping facilities," Mayor Curley tod - wired Philip Heineken, president of the North German Lloyd Line.

The latter departed for Germany today from New York on the steamship Europa, following his tour of port inspection, which included Boston.

Cop Bribery Charge Recanted in Court

Providence, R. I., May 13 (AP)—Frank Gomes, Pawtucket, R. I., who, when arrested two weeks ago on charges of transporting and possessing liquor, said he had been paying $125 a month for protection to an East Providence policeman, today was surrendered by his attorney.

Arraigned for bribing Special Officer Michael M. Motta, he pleaded not guilty and was held in $2000 bail for trial. The case is being investigated by the attorney general.

BRAINTREE HAS BIG SHAKEUP

No lunch hours for desk officers, police headquarters must be rid of loafers and adequate reports of departmental doings must be kept, were among orders issued today by Braintree selectmen.

The selectmen's orders were put into effect following the findings of a citizens' committee.

Chief John J. Heany, hitherto accountable to no one, must report at headquarters for desk duty from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. Motorcycle Officer Harvey J. Annis is transferred to foot patrol duty and John W. Illingsworth becomes motorcycle officer with instructions to do at least 60 miles of riding a day.

The remaining 13 patrolmen are shifted to new beats for six weeks and then will change beats every two weeks.

For the first time in the history of the department a sergeant will do night patrol duty. He is Sergt. Everett A. Baker.

In future Atherton N. Hunt, town counsel and Boston attorney, will prosecute all liquor law violations.

GARRETT ARRESTED AND HELD IN BAIL ON THEFT INDICTMENT

MUST STAND TRIAL ON 6 CHARGES

first Monday in June, by which time, District Attorney Foley hopes, John F. Sullivan, former Hotel Ritz proprietor and Garrett's chief accuser, will be physically and mentally able to give evidence. He is still a voluntary patient at the State Asylum at Danvers, suffering from a near-nervous breakdown.

"GARRETT CLEANUP"

Today's events—comprising a new step in the "Garrett cleanup" which already has resulted in the removal of Herbert A. Wilson from the police commissionership, the retirement of Capt. George W. Patterson and a police department shakeup—moved swiftly starting at 10:15 a. m.

At that hour the full grand jury of 23 members assembled in the second session of Suffolk Superior Criminal Court and reported a secret indictment of Garrett to Chief Justic Hall.

The chief justice dismissed the jury and conferred with District Attorney Foley. A few minutes later Clerk William Prindiville of the second session issued a warrant for Garrett's arrest.

The total larcenies comprise six pension payments made by the city to Garrett, the full $87.56 for the months of November, December, January, February, March and April, and a proportionate payment for the month of October, when his pension, stopped on order of Mayor Curley ten days ago, became effective.

The warrant was given for service to Special Officer Martin Conray, attached to the office of the district attorney.

Before in indictment was returned, Atty. Callahan had called on Dist. Atty. Foley, anticipating it, and informed him that he and his client would be ready to appear "if needed."

Garrett was believed to have awaited the grand jury's report at the office of his counsel.

FORMALLY ARRESTED

Special Officer Conroy communicated with Callahan shortly before 1 p. m., Garrett and his lawyer appeared at the district attorney's office, where service was made, and the former chief liquor raider of the Boston police force was officially placed under arrest.

Garrett was debonaire, unperturbed, faultlessly attired and smiling. He had no comment to make when he appeared.

Dist. Atty. Foley was not present, having gone with the grand jury on a trip to Deer Island, but Asst. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle arranged for the arraignment.

Surety of $500 was asked by Doyle and immediately supplied by Callahan. It was posted by Frank Anastasi, of 1768 Washington st., who is Garrett's barber, and Leopold Manfredonia, of 91 Porter st., East Boston.

Word flashed through the courthouse corridors that Oliver B. Garrett, with a record of many thousands of arrests, had finally been arrested.

IN PRISONER DOCK

Chief Justice Hall was notified that Garrett had surrendered and resumed the bench in the second session hearing room.

Garrett, accompanied by Callahan and Conroy, went to the detention room adjoining the courtroom. From there he was led into the prisoner's dock by Court Officer William Griffin.

He stood in the dock fully composed and still smiling, nodding to several acquaintances in the room.

Clerk Prindiville read the indictment and asked the prisoner:

"What is your plea?"

"Not guilty," replied Garrett.

Atty. Callahan then asked for a continuance of 10 days in which to review the indictment and possibly prepare special pleas.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle informed Chief Justice Hall that surety of $2000 had been posted and this was agreeable to the court.

So quickly did the arraignment follow indictment and surrender that there were many empty seats in the courtroom.

Still nodding and smiling, Garrett walked from the courtroom again at liberty, having been in custody but a few minutes. In the corridor he shook hands with several friends, some of whom were former members of the liquor squad.

He said he had no statement.

Graft Probe Next

Because of the 10-day continuance there is a probability that before he is pieced on trial for the larceny attending a pension, allegedly obtained by fraud and false pretense, evidence concerning his alleged grafting activities will be given to the same jury that indicted him today.

Garrett was pensioned last October, after six years' service on the Boston police liquor squad, the pension being awarded on the basis of injuries said to have been suffered in an on-duty accident August 2, 1927.

Ugly rumors and open charges followed and the Legislature voted an investigation by the attorney-general. During the inquiry Garrett and his wife were shown to have banked more than $122,000 in the years he was a raider on an annual salary of $2900.

Inefficiency disclosed resulted in the removal of Commissioner Wilson and his replacement by Eugene C. Hultman. Capt. Patterson, who was found by the attorney-general to have been both inefficient and incompetent in his associations with Garrett, was retired officially on his own request at roll call last night.

Atty.-Gen. Warner found that Garrett had been "a grafter preying on bootleggers and vice traffic."

Evidence concerning this phase of the case also will include grafting charges made by Sullivan against Sergt. Arthur Timmins and Special Officer Arthur Tiernan, who are still on duty in the department.

Sullivan's charges that he made payments through Mrs. Garrett and Mrs. Lillian V. Hatch also will be given to the grand jury. There is a possibility that other members of the old liquor squad will be named in the proceedings.

Garretts Move Out of Allston Apartment

Moving out of Oliver B. Garrett's furniture from his apartment at 9 Park Vale ave., Allston was completed today—with destination of the furniture still a mystery.

Garrett, former chief liquor raider of the police department, was conspicuous by his absence, however, nor was Mrs. Garrett in evidence.

A woman wearing tortoise shell glasses and with a Boston terrier on a leash superintended the moving operations as four husky movers jiggled the furniture, including an electric radio set.

The woman said she was not Mrs. Garrett and declined to reveal to what storehouse the furniture was consigned.

"They are to take a room," she said. "That's all I know. And he has not disappeared at all, as one morning paper said."

STIMSON CALLS NAVY TREATY 'FAIR DEAL'

Secretary Tells Senators It Raises the U. S. to Position of Equality

Washington, May 13 (AP)—Facing smilingly the first salvo of Senate opposition to the London naval treaty, Secretary Stimson again assured the foreign relations committee today the pact not only was a "fair settlement," but the best that could be negotiated under present world conditions.

British-American parity had a major place in the day's session. Committee members manifested a particular desire to know whether the treaty really places the American and British fleets on an equal basis. The secretary insisted stoutly that it does.

Evidence accumulated that the question of parity would bulk large in such opposition as may develop.

ESTIMATE COMBAT POWER

Stimson began by saying he intended to take up the strength of the fleets by individual categories. Senator Swanson, Democrat, Virginia, asked if the American delegation considered the "war power" of the fleets or the "commercial protection."

"We took the two fleets," Stimson answered, "and estimated their substantial combat powers."

Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, one of the American delegates, remarked that protection of commerce was "inseparable" from other elements of naval warfare and therefore was necessarily considered. Stimson agreed.

SAYING OF $400,000,000

Senator Robinson, Republican, Indiana, wanted to know if Great Britain would not have an advantage by converting her great fleet of commercial ships into fighting craft.

"Try and figure that out," said Stimson. "Let us hear what you would do."

"Was there any naval expert at London who thought there was not equality in the plan agreed upon?" asked Swanson.

"There was not," replied Stimson.

The witness insisted the net result was to bring the American navy from a position of "inferiority" to one of "equality."

The battleship scrapping provisions of the London treaty, the secretary said, would mean a saving of $400,000,000.

HOOVER'S TOUR FLAYED AS BID FOR LOST FAVOR

House Firm in Stand Against Flexible Feature of Measure

Washington, May 13—A political tempest broke today over the question of whether President Hoover's contemplated "swing around the country" next August is to be on business or recreation.

While he was receiving invitations by the score to step off and make speeches here and there, the Democratic national committee made public a statement of Senator Wheeler, Montana, saying:

"This is the first time that a President of the United States has felt it even necessary or even advisable to resort to a barnstorming excursion to win the people back."

The White House was keenly resentful of the assumption that the President intends to take his many policies before the people. It was emphasized there that it was to be a trip for no other purpose except to fish in some of the Rocky Mountain streams and determine in what way the park system could be improved.

LAWRENCE HIT BY CENSUS

Lawrence, May 13 (AP)—This city, one of the centers of the woolen industry in the East and until a few years ago one of the leading textile cities of the country, dropped 10,927 inhabitants in the 10 years since 1920, figures announced at the district headquarters at Lynn showed today.

The 1930 figure is 83,345, against 94,270 in 1920. Only the neighboring city of Lowell, another large textile center, exceeded Lawrence in New England in numerical decrease. Lowell lost 12,709 and now has only 100,050 residents, but the percentage of reduction was only 11.3 against 11.5 for this city.

TURNER BEHIND LINDY'S TIME AT WICHITA

Los Angeles Flier 45 Minutes Late on First Leg of the Flight to New York

Wichita, Kan., May 13 (AP)—Roscoe Turner, flying well behind Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's record schedule, landed here at 10:43 a. m., C. S. T., today, to refuel on his one-stop flight for a new speed mark between Los Angeles and New York.

Turner's time for the 1249 miles to Wichita was seven hours 41 minutes, Col. Lindbergh, who with Mrs. Lindbergh, set a cross-country record over the same course Easter Sunday of 14 hours 23 minutes 27 seconds, flew from Glendale, Cal., to Wichita in 6 hours 56 minutes 10 seconds. Turner was approximately 45 minutes behind the record time.

Turner hoped to better by an hour the mark set by Charles Lindbergh, who also stopped to refuel at Wichita.

The big cream and red monoplane started with 400 gallons of gasoline. The ship is a high wing monoplane of the same make as Lindbergh's, but it is powered with a 525-horsepower motor, 100 horsepower greater than Lindbergh's ship.

HAS FAIR WEATHER

Government weather reports received shortly before the takeoff said favorable atmospheric conditions prevailed over the great circle route, the generally used path of the cross-country speed fliers.

Turner said he would cruise at an average speed of 180 miles an hour over the 2600-mile course. His ship has reached a top speed in tests of slightly more than 200 miles an hour. Turner hoped to reach New York in about 13½ hours flying time.

LION CUB MASCOT

Turner, who began flying during the World War, has made the cross country flight several times and last summer set a transcontinental speed record for loaded passenger planes when he crossed the continent in slightly more than 19 hours with four passengers, making five stops for fuel.

In the gasoline tank crowded cabin of his ship was a lion cub flying partner. A specially built parachute was strapped to the animal's back and Turner, who also was wearing a pack, can release the cub from himself in the event he is forced to jump.

Plan for Non-Stop Hop to Buenos Aires

New Haven, Ct., May 13 (AP)—Capt. Alexander Eldridge and Commander George Pond, who plan a non-stop refueling flight from this city to Buenos Aires, will request the airport commission tomorrow to have the municipal airport put in shape for the take-off.

The flight is expected to start sometime within the next week.

French Mail Flier Arrives at Natal

Natal, Brazil, May 13 (INS)—Jean Mermos, French aviator blazing the trail for a new air mail route across the reaches of the south Atlantic, arrived here today at 6:12 a. m., local time, or 5:12 a. m., E. D. T., completing a non-stop flight from St. Louis, Senegal, Africa.

With Mermos were three companions—a mechanic, a radio operator and a postal official.

STATE TO MAKE DRUG SURVEY

A searching investigation into the prevalence of habit-forming drugs in this state was assured today with the signing of a resolve by Governor Allen.

The investigation is to be made by a commission of seven persons to be appointed by the chief executive, which in addition, will recommend measures to protect the people from "the terrible consequences of drug addiction." The report is to be made not later than the first Wednesday next December.

In asking for the legislation, Governor Allen told the legislature that alarming reports had reached him in regard to the increased use of and traffic in dope.

The governor pointed out that the subject has not been surveyed for some 15 years and that the state's activities in stamping out the evil had somewhat lapsed.

FLAMES DESTROY SPAULDING REFINERY BUILDING IN CHICOPEE

Sporting Goods Company Suffers Loss Estimated at Over $150,000

Chicopee, May 13 (AP)—Destruction of the three-story refinery building of the A. G. Spalding & Co. sporting goods manufacturing plant, which housed 6000 gallons of naphtha and 2000 gallons of acetol, threatened the entire plant today.

Loss was estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000. Indirect loss through curtailment of production will be far heavier, it was stated.

The entire fire department was called, but its effectiveness was handicapped by the intense heat and danger of serious explosions that prevented the firemen from getting at close grips with the flames.

After the refinery building had been blazing for some time one of the walls collapsed and a large quantity of blazing naphtha flowed onto the surface of the Chicopee river adjacent to the building.

The burning naphtha quickly spread, but a rapid concentration of hose lines extinguished it before it could communicate with a covered wooden bridge that spans the river.

An added element of danger was the presence of three underground tanks, each containing 10,000 gallons of naphtha, and it was realized that should the fire communicate with these the explosions would be terrific.

Immediately after the fire broke out all of the several hundred employes were ordered out of the factory. An official said that the fire came at a season when the plant was especially busy.

Paul M. Demers, a fireman, was overcome by smoke while working on the roof of the burning building. When the fire was at its height assistance was called from Holyoke.

FINDS WHALEN IN FRAUD DEAL

that he would have been awarded the contract if Whalen had not prevented City Engineer O'Brien from executing it, and that Whalen prevented its award solely because he had not received payment from Haley, who was unable to secure available cash in the amount sufficient to satisfy Whalen;

"I find that Haley submitted a dishonest bid to Mayor Whalen and the contract would have been awarded to Haley during Whalen's administration if Haley had been able to secure sufficient cash to satisfy Whalen's demand, and that the only reason why it was not so awarded to Haley was because the latter was unable to secure and pay this amount of cash to Whalen.

TWOMEY CONTRACT VALID

"I find that all the parties to the Twomey contract were acting in good faith in awarding and executing this contract, and that it was free from fraud."

Attorney Frank S. Deland for Whalen has taken an exception to Master Ronan's denial of his motion to strike out all evidence in the report relative to any fraudulent conduct on the part of Whalen.

In his 25-page report the master finds that early in the negotiations Whalen was demanding of Haley $23,000 and finally reduced this amount to $18,500 as the price of the award of the contract to him.

NIGHT CLUB VISIT.

Referring to the visit to a Boston night club by Haley, Whalen and Donovan, the day before the bids were opened by Mayor Whalen, the master said:

"Haley says he was figuring the profits in an effort to have Whalen reduce his price. The respondents offer no explanation.

"Whalen's story as to the trouble between him and Haley on the morning of January 31, 1930, when Whalen sent for the police, corroborates Haley's story that for six weeks they had been dickering relative to attempting to have the cash collecting contract awarded to Haley.

"Whalen primarily wanted to get cash from Halen, and then in such amount as near $18,500 as Haley could obtain and pay, but Haley was unable at any time to make a payment of more than $10,000 in cash, and I find that if he had made a tender of $13,500 in cash that Whalen would have taken it and permitted O'Brien to sign the contract during the Quigley administration, or if the tender was made during Mayor Whalen's administration, that he would have attempted to have Haley secure the contract."

GANDHI FORCES PUT TO ROUT IN SHOLAPUR

Martial Law Is Declared as Government Troops Take Control of City

(By the Associated Press)

Mahatma Gandhi's Sholapur legions today seized that city of 119,581 population and swiftly brought upon themselves a state of martial law with investiture of the city by government troops. The natives set up swaraj (self-government) in defiance of British dominion.

The Bombay government summoned a special session at Mahabaleshwar, summer capital, to deal with the extraordinary crisis.

While Dr. Sarojini Naidu and Manilal Gandhi prepared to launch salt raids on government depots Abbas Tyabji, Gandhi's successor, whom Dr. Naidu succeeded, and numerous other leaders were sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from six months in Tyabji's case to three years of rigorous servitude in that of other disturbers.

A general hardening of the government's attitude on all sides was evident today.

Troops Rule Sholapur Under Martial Law

Sholapur, India, May 13 (AP)—Government troops took control of Sholapur under proclamation of martial law to suppress an attempt at Swaraj (self-government) by the native populace.

The troops proceeded to invest the city. Strong reinforcements arrived to support the military commands already on the scene.

The civil disobedience leaders had seized control of the city in the face of determined efforts by the troops and police to subdue their activities.

This city, the scene last week of deadly conflict between followers of the imprisoned Mahatma Gandhi and the authorities, passed out of the Government's control when the native disturbers repulsed the efforts of police and troops to put down their activities. Casualties of several hundred, including a score killed, resulted.

GOVERNMENT ACTS.

The Bombay Government was summoned today to a special meeting by Sir Frederick Sykes, Governor of the Bombay Presidency. All members of the Government this forenoon were hastening to Mahabaleshwar, the summer capital.

One of the first manifestations of the first violent attempt to establish swaraj (self-government) was an order by the Gandhi leaders in the beleaguered city instructing bullock cart drivers and the drivers of other vehicles to keep to the right instead of the left, the latter being the British regulation.

Various Hindu leaders met this forenoon and conferred upon themselves the dignity of petty magistrates in order to deal with matters of administration of the city's affairs.

MRS. HEARST ENDS TOUR

New York, May 13 (US)—Mrs. William Randolph Hearst returned yesterday afternoon in the North German Lloyd liner Europa after a four months' sightseeing tour of Europe and Egypt.

Mrs. Hearst was particularly interested in her two meetings with Premier Mussolini, once in his administrative chambers and again on an automobile excursion with him outside Rome.

On this trip, Mrs. Hearst said, Mussolini pointed with pride to his housing facilities for the poor and the archaeological work which is going on in Ostia, the ancient city by the sea, which is fast becoming a large suburb of Rome.

Mrs. Hearst spoke enthusiastically of the progress which Mussolini is making in Italy. Everyone pays homage to him, she said.

She expressed eagerness on her arrival to return to her direction of the milk fund, by which thousands of New York kiddies are provided with nourishment every summer.

Worcester, May 13—Two attempts to poison the family of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fish became known today when postal authorities began an investigation.

Six weeks ago, at the home of the Fishes in Providence st., a package of a chocolate pudding compound was received through the mail with a card stating it was with the compliments of a Worcester store.

Fish, who himself is a storekeeper, became suspicious, checked up and discovered that the shop in question had mailed out no samples.

Several days ago a package of lemon pie filling directed to the Fish family was intercepted in the mails.

The contents of both packages were found to include a large quantity of sodium hydroxide or caustic soda, which, if taken internally, would eat through the walls of the stomach.

Miss Annette Parker, daughter of Mrs. Gerard Lester Parker of Brookline, was married in Paris to Robert Eugene Otto of that city and Key West, Fla., according to dispatches today.

The ceremony was performed at the American Pro-Cathedral of Holy Trinity in Paris by the Very Rev. Frederic W. Beekman, dean, in the presence of a large number of prominent persons.

Miss Parker was graduated from a Back Bay school and then specialized in piano at the National Cathedral in Washington, later attending the Garland School in Boston.

NAB 6 IN HUGE LOTTERY RAID

Worcester, May 13—A huge lottery, operating for many weeks with thousands of dollars changing hands weekly, was broken up and six men were under arrest today.

Bundles of lottery tickets, keyed to the numbers and an automobile were seized by police.

Those taken into custody are Francis Carberry, 46, of Front st.; Joseph Healey, 47, of Enfield st.; Al Richer 52, of Ashmont ave.; Bernard A. Lester, 44, of Dorchester st., Benjamin Robarge, 72, of Ethan Allen st. and Arthur Richer, 48, of Pleasant st.

Carberry is alleged to be the principal personage of the six and is said to have admitted that his agents sold 7000 tickets a week, giving him 20 cents a ticket, or a total of $1400 a week.

A secret investigation of the lottery has been under way for six weeks, and most of the uncovering work was done by a rookie policeman, James M. McGuiness, who has been a member of the department only a few months.

The alleged ring is declared to have handled tickets in many pools and lotteries, including race lotteries, baseball pools and number lotteries.

by assignment to three months extra guard duty.

The Associated Press dispatch that revealed the facts of Cagle's marriage said that records in the court at Gretna show that Cagle and Miss Marion Munford Haile, a pretty auburn-haired girl of New Roads, La., were married on August 25, 1928, by George J. Trauth, justice of the peace, of Gretna, who went back through his records of the past seven years and located the certificate.

SECRET WELL GUARDED.

Each gave their age as 23 years. Cagle gave his address as 543 St. Ann st., New Orleans, and his bride's address as Baton Rouge.

Witnesses to the marriage were Garnett H. Todd and Daniel Whitney. The marriage certificate shows that the bride's father is deceased. Her mother is Mrs. Valentine Herbert Haile.

The announcement of the marriage, kept secret for two years, surprised relatives of Cagle, as it did his wide circle of followers on the gridiron, with the exception of the few close friends who knew of the wedding and shielded the secrecy.

Harbor Traffic Artery to be Paved

City to Improve Water St. for Tercentenary Visitors to Navy Yard

Water st., in Charlestown, over which thousands of tercentenary visitors will travel to the navy yard this summer, is to be rebuilt by the city.

The improvement has not been officially voted as yet, but the mayor and several other officials are known to be in favor. Charlestown business men and residents are unanimously seeking this improvement.

Notice of this planned reconstruction is circulating around the harbor and is causing much rejoicing. The street, according to a group of citizens who made a survey, is in deplorable condition.

Charlestown people hope work will be rushed as the huge crowds journeying to see "Old Ironsides" will have an easy access.

But companies and representatives of the Dollar line and the Savannah Steamship Company are also supporting the project. The two ocean travel concerns must route their entire passenger list over this street.

Today's Who's Who

The subject of today's "Who's Who in Boston Harbor" is Horton I. Marlor, president of Davis & Hough, Inc., one of the largest weighing and sampling concerns in New England.

This genial business man is a "licensed, and sworn weigher," but says the "sworn" part is sometimes most prominent.

Friends of this member of the executive committee of the Foreign Commerce Club envy him the business trip he will take to Paris on the Lafayette on May 31. He plans to interview several foreign shippers.

This week Marlor is weighing some Egyptian cotton on the Delilah. A great help to him in his work is his ever-present pipe "which never goes out," and which is famed for its sweet smelling Turkish tobacco.

Marlor's hobbies are reading and story telling.

"I'll read anything once, and maybe twice," he says.

Marlor is an ex-serv[illegible]ing been with a[illegible] car company connected with general headquarters. Once he was cited for special services to a major-general.

Longshoreman's Gazette

CARL MORRISON, Editor

Vol. 2 No. 11

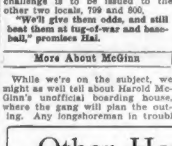
Like the modern woman, we have changed our "makeup," but we're the same little attraction. The term "makeup" in newspaper language refers to arrangement of type. Today we are broadening our scope of harbor news, also.

When this Longshoreman's Gazette was launched, a few weeks ago, its aim was concentrating on news of interest to those actually employed on the waterfront. Since then we have decided to give attention to the thousands who make a living out of water commerce, but who may not be located on the waterfront.

As the longshoremen were our "first love," news of their doings will continue to be the feature, but reports will be printed of steamship, foreign commerce and other related activities also.

Longshoremen's Picnic

Local 806 is planning a big outing for late June or early July, probably at Ransford Island. The committee consists of the officers and Joe Taft, William Manning, Tony DeMaio, Michael Buck, Joe St. [illegible] or out of work usually can find welcome at McGinn's parlors. Recently Ollie Humphrey defeated Tom Lafferty for the "No. 1" position as cook.



George and Mike LaMotta. Harold McGinn, financial secretary, says a challenge is to be issued to the other two locals, 799 and 800.

"We'll give them odds, and still beat them at tug-of-war and baseball," promises Hal.

More About McGinn

While we're on the subject, we might as well tell about Harold McGinn's unofficial boarding house, where the gang will plan the outing. Any longshoreman in trouble safe position to avoid being struck by the load."

Last year ten men lost 759 days by being careless when landing sling loads. A total of 24 men also were laid up for 1982 days by sling loads in motion.

Page Miss Sears

Joe Smiddy claims that John P. Mullen can defeat any longshoreman, steamship man, stevedore or clerk—in fact any one on the waterfront—in a walking contest. We understand "Hubber" Mullen made a historic hike from Providence to Boston in nine and one-half hours in a blinding snowstorm. "Barnum" Smiddy is ready to back his man.

Meet "Snooze" Donovan

Our cub reporter has another of his series of harbor nicknames:

"James Donovan, who is known as 'Snooze,' is the champion sleeper of the waterfront. When not working on a Cunard boat, 'Snooze' can always be found curled up at home, be it day or night."

"Balls are not lost until they stop rolling."

Arrives Tomorrow

Capt. V. L. Ryan, of Providence, radioed Rogers & Webb that the Kearny would arrive in Boston tomorrow from Manchester and Liverpool. The ship has a cargo of 340 tons for Boston. Capt. Ryan's father recently retired after a long service with Merchant & Minera.

Speed Up Landing

The Hamburg-American Line is starting a new plan of handling customs and passport matters on shipboard during the voyage from Cherbourg to Cuxhaven to avoid the usual long delays at the docks on arrival.

Today's Safety Rule

Longshoremen who value their feet are urged to be careful in Rule 12, which reads:

"When load is being landed, keep feet well away from under. When landing a load, keep in a

Other Harbor News

A golf tournament was held at the Wampatuck Country Club in Canton over the week-end by half a dozen steamship men and friends. "Ed" Bemis, of the foreign and domestic commerce department at the customs house, rolled up a 50 on a 36 course, but insisted he was off his game because of lack of practice.

Chester Gardner, Joe Desmond, and Russel Rae, of Stone & Downer, George Toole and Bernie Costell, of Rogers & Webb, and Emil Bernard, of Martineau & Burke, are positive that Bemis practiced all winter in his cellar.

For a considerable period, Joe Desmond was mysteriously missing, and upon his return the professional was heard to comment:

Boston to Bermuda

We understand the Canadian National Steamship Lines is studying the feasibility of sending ships into Boston next year for a direct connection to Bermuda. National politics plays a part in delaying the decision to serve an American port. Besides the thousands of New England natives who make the Bermuda trip via New York, there are hundreds of Canadian citizens in Maine and Massachusetts who would patronize a Canadian boat to Bermuda. An excellent opportunity exists both for passengers and freight, especially as there would be no competition with any present line. New Englanders, who constitute a large share of those who go to Bermuda, are obliged to sail from New York.

SEER HELD AS 4 STARS TESTIFY

Los Angeles, May 13 (AP)—Swami Bashpha Raw, Hindu seer, was ordered held for Superior court trial on five counts of grand theft and two charges of statutory offenses at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing. Three motion picture stars, Charles Chaplin, Gloria Swanson and Mary Pickford, testified.

Raw was charged with obtaining $4600 from Mrs. Adele Allerhand of Ocean Park, Cal., after he allegedly had told her his clients included such film personages as Chaplin, Miss Swanson, Miss Pickford, George Arliss and others. Chaplin denied he knew Raw.

Miss Swanson and Miss Pickford previously had testified they never had seen the Hindu and denied they had ever made gifts to him. Arliss denied out of court he ever had known Raw.

Baker, Appendicitis Victim, Operates on Self; Dies

New York, May 13—Believing himself competent to be his own surgeon, a baker died here of peritonitis.

On April 22 friends of Louis Capetta, 42, told him a pain in his side was appendicitis. So he cut himself with a razor blade, removed part of his appendix and sewed the wound up.

Last Wednesday the pain returned and he repeated the operation, removing more of the appendix. But his suffering increased and he finally went to a hospital, where physicians could not save his life.

He killed her father for $200,000 life insurance and had a perfect alibi, but her accusing eyes forced his confession. An absorbing story in the American Weekly section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser next Sunday.

$12,000,000 IN HIGHWAY JOB

Warren Brothers Co. has been awarded a contract by the Peruvian government for construction of 800 to 1000 kilometers of road, mostly country highways, parts of the national highways system, according to a cable received here. Exact amount involved is indefinite but it will be a minimum of $12,000,000 and may run up to $15,000,000.

The contract will represent the first work performed by the company in that republic, although Warren Brothers has sold plants for bituminous paving work to that country. Officials of the company have been negotiating with Peruvian government officials on this contract for about a year.

The construction will be largely roads connecting cities rather than construction within the cities themselves. It will be a cash proposition so far as Warren Brothers is concerned.

Last month orders were received to begin operations on approximately $5,000,000 work of work on feeders to the Central highway in Cuba. In other words, the supplementary Cuban job and the Peruvian job amount together to from $17,000,000 to $20,000,000 and in addition the Cambridge concern has obtained other smaller foreign contracts.

How an eminent Surgeon

uses the foremost bank in NEW ENGLAND

HE OPENED an account as a compliment to an officer of the bank—as many accounts begin. It grew, evidently faster than he had realized. For one day the officer telephoned him that his balance was conceivably greater than his current need. The doctor was surprised. "You think I might well invest some part of it?" he asked.

A representative of The First National Old Colony Corporation called on the doctor and give him his second surprise. Instead of offering a specific security he suggested an investment plan which would eliminate the troublesome detail connected with the care of investments and at the same time build a considerable estate in conservative securities. It was exactly what the surgeon wanted.

HE deposited his securities under the plan with the Systematic Investment Plan Department and the income from them is reinvested as rapidly as it accumulates. He liked the idea of having his securities handled as a unit and liked the prompt, business-like manner in which all transactions were handled.

As a result The First National Old Colony Corporation holds his securities, collects dividend checks, clips and collects coupons, collects tax refunds; prepares quarterly reports which enable him to compile his tax returns; and attends to many other necessary details pertaining to his securities.

In addition he has nominated Old Colony Trust Company, our affiliated institution, executor and trustee under his will; he goes to Europe every summer on steamship tickets procured by the bank's Travel Department; he carries the bank's Letter of Credit and Travelers Cheques; the bank's European representatives have given him material assistance on the other side; during his absence his silver is stored in the bank's vaults.

THIS SURGEON is outspoken in his comment on the usefulness of the bank. If his advice were followed, every professional man in eastern Massachusetts would at once get in touch with an officer of The First National Bank of Boston, tell his financial story and say, "What can you do for me?"

THE DAILY HUBBUB

By ANTHONY SKELDING

DEAR MEN

Jimmy Martell, who looks like Fatty Arbuckle and wears his uniform like a Mexican general, is doorman at the Parker House. He is an oldtime minstrel man and used to tour the Maine sticks in a blackface act with two partners. He got into the show business in a funny way. Once when he was up against it, he was riding a freight car and got knocked on a low bridge. When he came out of the hospital he discovered that the surgeon had cut a couple of facial tendons which allowed him to make funny faces at will. He practiced for a while making faces at himself in the mirror. When he became expert at the business he picked up a couple of partners to make the trip. The act prospered for a while, then his partner, who had all the big tricks, eloped with a musical comedy vamp. This busted his company. He quit the road and got into the hotel game. There is no more efficient doorman in the city. If any sceptic doubts this yarn let him go up to Jimmy during door-opening-hours at the School st. entrance. Jimmy will gledly oblige (if he isn't busy) with his repertory of funny faces a . . . any kind you like on request.

BAG MEN

On the King's Chapel side of School st., almost any morning can be seen a thin line of eager-faced shabby men . . . elderly. They keep their shoes shined and faces freshly shaved. An appearance of shaffy honesty is one of the requisites of their trade. They are waiting for jobs to carry the sample cases of traveling salesmen . . . guests of the hotel. They work by the hour, sometimes by the day. Their prices are determined by the weight of the sample cases they carry and the distances toted. The old-timers know all the buyers of the various stores around town and therefore are of considerable assistance to new salesmen in the territory. These old fellows also know the easy buyers and the tough ones. They have picked up this gossip in their years of service. In their day they have carried some queer samples and met up with funny rackets.

BIRD DRUMMER

Dave, an old-time bag-man, was once engaged by a traveler who carried a line of fancy tropical birds. The birds were housed in small cages, a dozen or so enclosed in a big valise. The job was a light one, but rather bulky. Parrots, cockatoos, and love-birds—the salesmen's best sellers—were on the top layer ready for show. Dave started with his client Tuesday morning, to visit a well known bird store near the North Station. It was a hot day and Dave's client dropped on the way to get a drink, leaving Dave at the curb with the birds. Dave was curious to get a look at the man's merchandise—he always liked birds anyway. What harm? . . . He would just take one peep. He did—and out flew the whole flock of samples. By some fluke he had opened the case on the "feed side." Dave dived and grabbed a valuable cockatoo by the leg, but the rest got away. Dave and his client were out of business for the day.

SUCCESS DOCTOR

Dave once carried a couple of sample cases for a mysterious customer who walked so fast he had difficulty following him. The salesman would rush ahead and leave Dave to trail him as best he could. Not knowing the man's business, and therefore not knowing the regular stops, it was a difficult job. Most of his calls appeared to be in the large down town office buildings—upstairs prospects. The man kept Dave on the job for several days, but never offered to pay him. He was staying at a good hotel, and as Dave said, "He looked like a swell job." Came Saturday, the last day, and Dave looked forward to his pay, possibly a liberal tip thrown in. The last call was in the Tremont Building. Dave parked in the doorway with the traveler's cases for a couple of hours, then got uneasy. He waited until noon. His "swell job" was still engaged—where? He did not know. Said Dave: "I'd have been waiting there yet if I hadn't opened the cases and taken a peep."

It was packed with big black books, bible size. They were titled in gilt: "Bible of Success."

"The guy never came back," said Dave, "and I've got them books yet."

Crops in Southwest Damaged by Storm

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 13 (AP)—Hail storms and torrential rains, doing great damage to crops, have accompanied devastating winds into parts of the southwest. Eight counties of northwestern Oklahoma were swept by hail storms last night. Leaves were stripped from the trees, livestock was injured, and homes were damaged. From Aledo, Tex., came word of probable damage of more than $50,000. Two residences, a lumber yard, a cotton gin and an empty store building were demolished.

Merchant Shot to Death in His Home

Richmond, W. Va., May 13 (AP)—Harry Rohm, 45, a Richmond leather merchant, was found shot to death in his home here shortly before midnight. Police said it was a case of murder.

Discovery of the body was made by the man's wife, to whom he had recently been remarried, and his daughter, Anne. They were returning after an absence of several hours.

Gillette in Goodbye to Sherlock Holmes After 30 Years

Princeton, N. J., May 13 (AP)—William Gillette, who for 30 years has made Sherlock Holmes famous in the drama, last night bade farewell to fiction's most famous sleuth.

On the stage of the McCarter Theater, Mr. Gillette lighted the famous underslung pipe, gathered the indispensable dressing gown around him and softly drawled for the last time the acute observations of the great detective.

After each of the four acts a capacity house called him to the curtain and after the third act, he said good-bye.

Youth Fined $100 for Setting Fires

Accused as members of a gang who rolled dice to determine which would commit incendiary acts, John J. McDonough, 19, was fined $100 for setting two brush fires and Edward F. Greenough, 18, was fined $50 for ringing two false alarms yesterday in Quincy court.

Suspect Sought in Slaying of Girl, 9

Des Moines, Ia., May 13 (AP)—Intensive search continued today for the slayer of Evelyn Lee, nine-year-old schoolgirl. Her body was found in a wooded section on the outskirts of the city yesterday.

Police concentered their hunt today on one man whom they did not name. It is he, they believe, who has molested school children in southeast Des Moines, scene of the crime in recent weeks.

AIR SCHEDULES IN HUB ARE INCREASING

By GEORGE HAMBLIN

With 14 regularly scheduled airplanes arriving and departing from Boston Municipal Airport, Albert L. Edson, airport superintendent, expects the number will jump to 30 before the middle of the summer.

This figure of 24 is derived by means of the six departures and like number of arrivals each day of passenger planes, and the air mail coming and going accounts for the other two.

Granting that Curtiss will start their Portland to Nantucket run June 28, and that Colonial will establish their fourth plane per day each way, the number will climb to 28.

NEW COMPANY BUSY

New England & Western Air Transportation, operating the Boston-Springfield-Albany run, with connections at Springfield for New York, has met with such immediate approval by the air-riding public that another trip each day is being planned.

This added flight will not go into effect for a month, or until such time as the company receives another Ford tri-motor from the factory.

The additional ship to Albany will most likely be started at 5 p. m. and will mean that four more take offs and landings will be made from the city's flying field, bringing the number to 22. Then, according to Edson, Eastern Air Express, flying to New York via Providence, will have to enlarge their schedule if the line catches on. Another trip each way will make the total 24.

MAINE WANTS LINE

Augusta, Me., is fighting for an airline from Boston, making connections for New York, and Whitefield, N. H., will again be flown in every day, making four arrivals and departures per day, and bringing the total to 28.

"Now that Colonial has flown a year without injuring a single person," said Edson, "New Englanders are beginning to believe in aviation. The Boston Airport will attempt to stay ahead of the business, and we are sure we can."

Baby Put in Jail With His Mother Again in His Crib

Montesano, Wash., May 13 (INS)—His crib is empty no longer. Little Richard Butorac is at home. This morning, scarcely a few hours after the people of Grays Harbor County learned, through the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, that their officials had imprisoned a mother and her nursing child.

Before Justice of the Peace Arthur M. Furnia arrived at his office yesterday, former Superior Judge George D. Abel had been there and left an appeal bond for $500, subscribed by friends of the incarcerated woman.

Mrs. Jos Butorac had been convicted before Furnia Friday for the possession of home brew and fined $250 and costs. She was sent to jail with her nine-months-old boy, and four small children at home were left in the care of a 15-year-old daughter. The woman was smuggled out a back door of the jail yesterday by Sheriff W. A. Hamm, who threatened waiting photographers with arrest if they remained in the vicinity.

Pictures of the mother and the child behind the bars were taken with a telescopic lens from the rear windows of the premises of Albert Schafer, prominent Washington lumber man, who lives across from the courthouse.

MEARS STARTS FINAL PLANS FOR FLIGHT

New York, May 13 (US)—John Henry Mears today began preparations to circle the earth in shorter time than the Graf Zeppelin made its historic flight.

For many years Mears held the record for girdling the globe.

He said, as he stepped from his plane yesterday at the end of a transcontinental flight, he was confident of reclaiming the round-the-world record next month.

Accompanied by his daughter, Pilot Charles La Jotte, and "Tailwind III," a sealyham mascot, he made a leisurely trip from Los Angeles in 20 hours of flying time.

MUST CUT 2 DAYS

Mears must cut a little more than two days from his former time around the world with the late Capt. Collyer as pilot. The Graf Zeppelin's time was 21 days and 7 hours. Mears said upon his arrival:

"I shall hop off as near to June 1 as possible. The flight here from Los Angeles indicated that, with good luck, it is possible to circle the earth in less than three weeks."

Mears announced that his pilot on the round-the-world flight will be Fred Melchior, famous Swedish flier and aeronautical engineer, who has been in this country for five years. He was first in at the rescue of the German plane, Bremen, and has had other notable experiences.

CRUISING RADIUS 2700 MILES

The plane is a Lockheed Vega, equipped with Pratt-Whitney wasp motors. It has a capacity of 450 gallons of gasoline with a cruising radius of 2700 miles or 18 hours in the air. It will carry two-way radio equipment and the code "Khimn" has been designated as its call.

The radio operates on a frequency of 5650 kilocycles.

Tailwind III, the mascot, will accompany Mears and Melchior around the world. The terrier was christened by Mary Pickford

"I Couldn't Improve on Them"

"I prided myself on my Egg Noodles. I always thought they were the most delicious that could be made. But when I tasted Mueller's . . ."

THE HOUSEWIVES of America have made an important discovery. It is no longer necessary to make egg noodles at home. The appetizing goodness of Mueller's is fully equal to that of the finest home-made egg noodles—they have a tempting deliciousness that simply can't be improved upon.

And that isn't all. Mueller's Egg Noodles create health and energy. Only the purest ingredients are used in their making—selected fresh eggs and a special blend of choice flour. Ask your grocer. He has Mueller's or can get them for you.

McCarthy Funeral Services Thursday

Funeral services for Timothy E. McCarthy who died yesterday at his home, 10 Wellesley pk., Dorchester, following a cerebral hemorrhage, will be held Thursday at St. Ambrose Church, Fields Corner.

Born in Roxbury in 1872, the deceased spent his entire life in this city, where he was later employed as an electrician.

Prominent as Past Exalted Ruler of the Boston Lodge of Elks he was also a well known figure in political circles, having been a member of the State Democratic committee, the common council and the old board of aldermen.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude McCarthy, two daughters, Mrs. J. L. Kallaway of Providence and Miss Gertrude, and one son, Eugene.

NO NEED FOR TASTELESS VEGETABLES

Their Flavor Can Be Improved While Cooking or Before Serving Them

Cooks who are successful in the art of making vegetables appetizing, depend upon two rules. First, cook raw vegetables in as little water as possible. Canned vegetables should not be re-cooked—merely heat them thoroughly. Second, use a mixture of sugar and salt in seasoning them.

Salt, by itself, merely overcomes flatness. Sugar, however, "brings out" the flavor of the vegetable. And when the two are combined, an unusual appetizing goodness is developed. A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a good rule to follow.

In the case of extra-mild flavored vegetables, sugar, salt, mustard, oil and vinegar can be combined and used as a flavor just before serving. For example, after spinach—canned or fresh—is taken from the fire, drain it and then heat for a minute in this mixture: 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon mustard, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon vinegar and 2 tablespoons salad oil.

The more one experiments with sugar and salt in seasoning vegetables, the more apparent is the flavor value of this combination. Doctors and dietitians approve this use of sugar as a flavor. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

"Smooth Skin is any girl's Greatest Loveliness," says JAMES CRUZE, famous Hollywood Director

9 out of 10 Screen Stars use Lux Toilet Soap

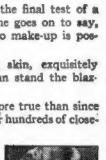
"FEW PEOPLE can resist the spell of smooth lovely skin," says James Cruze, prominent Hollywood director—and sums up the experience of 45 leading directors.

"The close-up is the final test of a star's popularity," he goes on to say, "since practically no make-up is possible.

"Only a perfect skin, exquisitely smooth and fine, can stand the blazing lights."

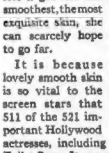
Never was this more true than since the talkies, with their hundreds of close-ups, "arrived." Unless a girl has the smoothest, the most exquisite skin, she can scarcely hope to go far.

It is because lovely smooth skin is so vital to the screen stars that 511 of the 521 important Hollywood actresses, including all stars, use Lux Toilet Soap. It was at their request that all the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.



LILYAN TASHMAN uses this method

The stage stars, famous in Broadway successes, have also been using Lux Toilet Soap for a long time—and never were they so grateful to its gentle care of their skin as since so many of them have been playing in the talking and singing pictures. In the European capitals, too, the screen stars have adopted this soap—so velvet-smooth does it keep the skin!



ESTELLE TAYLOR always uses it

And you can keep your skin lovely, too, by using this delicately fragrant white soap! Get several cakes today.

1. Beginning Monday, May 12, every day, including Sunday, for twenty-nine days, a message will be broadcast over stations WNAC and WHDH from which a word or words will be omitted. On the thirtieth day no message will be broadcast and contestants will supply their own message. Everyone is invited to receive these messages and locate the missing word or words with the help of a clue in the form of a picture published in the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser. This picture will illustrate the missing word. On the thirtieth or last message the picture alone will be published and entrants will supply their own message to fit this picture.

2. $500 in cash will be paid by the American and Advertiser to readers who send in the nearest correct and complete sets of solutions to the thirty messages, and other valuable awards will be made.

3. Everyone residing in New England is allowed to participate in these awards except employes of the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser, their immediate relatives and families.

4. Hold all messages until you have the complete set of thirty (30). Then send them all in together in one package addressed to the Radio Mystery Message Editor, Boston American-Advertiser, 5 Winthrop Square, P. O. Box 185, Boston, Mass., within the period to be specified later in this newspaper.

5. Messages used may be extracts from speeches of famous men and women, from poems, from correspondence or other suitable sources, and each extract will be matter of known record and the missing word must be the exact word used in the original message.

6. Each package sent in must be fully prepaid. First class postage. Packages received with insufficient postage will not be considered. You may send in as many sets as you wish, but no person will be entitled to more than one award.

7. In case there are no complete sets of correct solutions submitted, awards will be given to the persons submitting the nearest correct solutions, giving weight to skill and judgment. In cases where the solutions to the twenty-nine messages are identical, awards will be made on the basis of judgment, exact accuracy and skill in supplying the thirtieth or final message.

Thus, the 29 messages must nearly correct, and the last or ORIGINAL MESSAGE deemed the best, will win the principal award.

8. The Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser reserves the right to make any change in, or addition to, these conditions that it may deem necessary for fairly and properly conducting the Plan and the decision of the Tercentenary Radio Mystery Message Editor on any question which may arise will be absolutely final and the entering of a participant is a complete acceptance of all conditions and regulations made now or to be made.

PICTURE CLUE NO. 3 IN TOMORROW'S BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

Letters From American Readers

Terms McBride's Remark a Sacrilege
Editor Boston American:

Do any of your readers believe that the Anti-Saloon League is "Born of God?" This was claimed for it by General Superintendent F. Scott McBride in his talk before the Senate Lobby Committee at Washington.

What nonsense to drag the Almighty into such an organization. This is touching the zenith of sacrilege. No other term can be rightly applied to it. No wonder that the hair of the senators stood on end when they heard this claim. It certainly made a dent in their minds.

Being a prohibitionist we have erred and strayed from the right paths by the antics of the league, not only in Boston, but now in Washington. While I think that prohibition has done good in many ways, it is not a final method of driving out rum, but I can now see that the Anti-Saloon League is likely to do more harm to prohibition than any other agency. If we are to have rum again, the door for it has been opened by the errors, national blunders of this organization.

Question for Beauty Contestants to Answer
Editor Boston American:

"Are women on the average growing overweight?" "Do they get the right kind of exercise?" "Is cigarette smoking a reducer?"

These three questions were handled without gloves by a number of young women who are interested in a beauty contest which is to be held this summer in one of the fashionable resorts of New England.

One of the speakers, Miss Reame, said in part:

"It is the purpose of food to furnish fuel for the body. Women are not like bears, or even camels. They don't need to store food in their bodies. It isn't either pleasant or beautiful to carry a week's provision inside, and no woman should make a storage plant of herself. Eat only enough to replenish energy that has been used up. You must remember that it is excess of food stored up day by day that causes women to jump up in figures on the scales.

"If we are to remain beautiful we must not overeat and must take exercise daily, especially walking, which is more suited to women than any other exercise."

Chinese Government and Gandhi Topics
Editor Boston American:

The presence of so many representative Methodist bishops in Boston at a conference in Boston, this week, will give a lively tone to the many matters brought before them. They are not theological matters, but those bearing upon world topics by bishops living in the sections of the world which they know well.

Bishop L. J. Birney of China will give a talk on the Nanking government, Wednesday night, in Mechanics Hall. He was formerly dean of the Boston University School of Theology and is well known in Boston.

Bishop Frederick B. Fisher of India began his ministry in the Hub, where he was formerly pastor of the First Methodist Church, Temple st. He will give his views of Gandhi, who has stirred up more than a hornet's nest in that country.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York will give the finishing touches to this gathering. All these 50 or more bishops are lively war horses, fearless and unconventional in their make-up and bound to provoke interesting controversy. We wish them, as one of their admirers, to charge the atmosphere of Boston with forward march.

Chinese Women Succeed as Bankers
Editor Boston American:

Can women run a bank all by themselves? Is there any bank in the United States run by women? These two questions while involving the same interest were argued at a forum Sunday evening with much gusto by the young women present.

Sixteen young women native Chinese are running a bank in Frisco, Cal. Around their premises, there is not a man to be seen except the modest janitor. He is a very quiet individual. These girls handle a large proportion of all the money that circulates through Chinatown in Frisco. They speak both English and Chinese. They say that this bank is a striking combination of oriental beauty and occidental utility. They even have the names of the tellers inscribed in Chinese on the windows of their cages. This ought to be encouraging to several women working in the financial center of Boston who are thinking of running such a bank in the Back Bay when the capital is forthcoming.

News of Traffic Pleases One Commuter
Editor Boston American:

Nothing pleased me more in the news column of your paper than this piece of information that traffic is to be cut at North Station. Won't you do something in your columns to support those who have the authority to make traffic less in this section of the city, or remove the North Station to where passengers can get at it without being frightened out of their lives by trying to enter it.

MARIA S. STODDARD.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

Sometimes students in Boston, Friday evenings, get together and just chat about things in general. Some of us are far from home. We like to drive dullness out of us.

One of our number sprang this subject before us:

"What Has Been the Happiest Moment in Your Life?"

"What the Unhappiest?"

Well, if you could hear all the answers to these two questions your readers would have delirium tremens. Many of them were just too funny and some too salacious to print.

But one wiseacre, one who had the dumps doubtlessly, said:

"I believe Bertrand Russell is right in answering such questions. He said: 'The unhappiest moment of my life was birth. The happiest will be death.'"

Just note this. He is called a good thinker and yet to spawn this on us will not raise our admiration of him. What do your readers think about these questions? Give your views through the letter column.

ALLEN THANKED BY VENIZELOS

Governor Allen today received a letter from Eleutherios Venizelos Premier of Greece, expressing thanks for the Massachusetts state flag which the chief executive presented to a Boston delegation of Greeks bound home to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Grecian independence.

The delegation, in turn, was to present the flag to President Zaimis of Greece as a token of esteem between the citizens of Massachusetts and Greece.

Geo. Washington Is Cited in Love Suit

Philadelphia, May 12 (AP)—The social calls of George Washington and Benjamin Franklin were cited by Judge Edwin O. Lewis today to show that there is "no harm" in a married man visiting a married woman when the woman's husband happens to be out.

The judge made only one stipulation—that there be no evidence of love-making. He made the statements in dismissing the $25,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Raymond Miller against James Walker, principal of a public school.

Washington and Franklin, Judge Lewis declared, often visited the wives of other men.

"And I can't see any harm in it," he added. "I know many men with impeccable reputations who do it."

Women neighbors had testified that they had seen Walker call on Mrs. Miller as often as three times a week for more than a year and that the visits had lasted several hours.

"What's wrong with that?" Judge Lewis asked. "Like the classical poets, the principal, being an intelligent man, might very well have been reading poetry to Mrs. Miller."

Then turning to the plaintiff's counsel, Judge Lewis asked a question which went unanswered.

$75,000 ASKED FOR PLAYFIELD

Plans for a playground in the Faneuil district of Brighton, on land bordering on the property of St. Columbkille's Church, were revealed in an order for $75,000 which Mayor Curley submitted to the City Council for acquiring a site of six acres, bounded in part by Faneuil, Market and Parsons sts.

According to City Councilor Edward M. Gallagher of Brighton, this site is the only remaining land suitable for a playground in his district.

Bishop Maxon's Son Is Admitted to Bail

New York, May 13 (INS)—James M. Maxon, Jr., son of a Chattanooga (Tenn.) bishop, was admitted to $15,000 bail today when he pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging murder in the second degree. He is alleged to have built to death David Paynter, a 52-year-old retired printer, during a drunken brawl in a West ave. rooming house, early in the morning of April 18.

Prospect St. Closed

Prospect street, a direct way from Central sq., Cambridge, into Somerville for the Revere Beach Boulevard, is closed to traffic pending removal of car tracks and the resurfacing of the street to the Cambridge-Somerville line.

WET CARGO FOR DIPLOMATS

Marked "for diplomatic use only," 181 cases of choice liquor passed through Boston last night for the foreign legations in Washington.

The shipment was from Europe and was routed through the port of Boston by the Westport, clearing for Baltimore. The cargo was sealed and exempt from law because of diplomatic immunity.

Not all of the Westport cargo was wet, for 580 tons of general merchandise were discharged, including 14 oak logs, each weighing about seven tons.

House 'Wet' Bloc Meets Tomorrow

Washington, May 13 (INS)—The House "wet bloc" will meet Wednesday to plan a final drive for action on modification bills at this session.

Rep. Linthicum (D.) of Maryland, chairman, called the meeting after a movement was launched to discharge the House judiciary committee and bring resolutions both for repeal of the 18th amendment and modification of the Volstead act on the House floor.

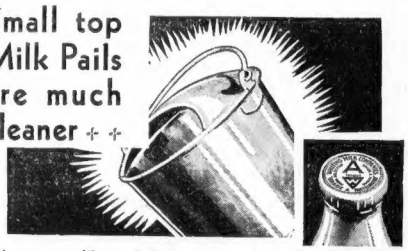
WHITING'S GRADE "A" MILK

Small top Milk Pails are much cleaner



This may seem like a minor item to you; but really it is very important. The smaller the opening into which the milking is done, the less chance there is of contamination getting in. Fitted with strainers, these pails are but another example of the precautions the Whitings take to provide New England homes with safe, pure, richer-milk—as they have been doing for seventy-five years. Ask for the smiling Whiting salesman to come and tell you the interesting story of Whiting's Grade "A" Milk—the better milk for all the family.

Tune in on Buddy and Blake and the Whiting Serenaders, Friday Evenings at 7:30—Station WEEI.

THE "GERMAN DEMPSEY" HITS STRIDE IN TRAINING FOR SHARKEY

Whenever Schmeling puts in appearance, a crowd immediately gathers. The German warrior has caught the public fancy and possesses the color and personality that make him an idol of the crowd. Max appears to enjoy his popularity.

Schmeling ought to be in perfect physical condition when he steps into the ring with Sharkey. He goes about the business in a very serious manner. He is shown above limbering up before stepping a few rounds. (International Newsreel photos.)

RUNYON SAYS

by Damon Runyon

NEW YORK, May 13—With the tickets probably going on sale today or Wednesday, the heavyweight championship bout between Jack Sharkey, of Boston, and Max Schmeling, of Germany, for the benefit of the Milk Fund, of which Mrs. Wil-liam Randolph Hearst is chairman, started off with the heaviest advance sale in all the history of the boxing game.

I do not except the Dempsey-Carpentier bout. It is true that at the same relative distance from battle sight as this, the man mauler and the lily of France had put more cash in the box office than now shows in Mr. Boyton's coffers at Madison Square Garden, but the advance sale for Boyle's Thirty Acres had been proceeding on printed tickets for quite a spell.

The reservations for the Milk Fund Show haven't been completely totalled as yet, but Mr. Francis Albertanti, the nimble assistant to Frank G. Bruen, general manager of the Garden, computes them at around $350,000, and this takes no account of orders in the hands of anyone other than Mr. Albertanti. Boston alone reports nearly $30,000.

Oddly enough, most of the reservations are from out of town — Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore, Washington, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and scores of other outside ports.

Oddly enough, too, the heaviest demand is for the seats at $12.65, which are the seats in the elevated sections of the stand at the Yankee Stadium, and under cover.

Apparently the out-of-town clients have in mind the possibility of the weather acting up on the night of June 12.

If you ask me, that's where I'd always like to sit myself watching an exposition of the manly art, if duty didn't put me down where I have to inhale the resin dust, and sop up the stray water from the corner bottles, and serve as bait for the little gnats and mosquitoes that swarm about the ring lights.

New Yorkers Demand Highest Priced Seats

BUT YOUR NEW YORKER has set ideas about his seat at an event of this kind—or at any other kind of event, for that matter. Your New Yorker wants the top price seat, regardless of location, or none at all.

It doesn't do any good to tell him that a cheaper priced seat is a better seat than the other. He feels that his pride doesn't permit him to sit back in a spot that the world knows is cheaper than some other spot.

The first big open air fight held in New York City, and the last held in the daytime, was the Milk Fund show of 1923, which presented old Jess Willard and Floyd Johnson.

The price of the seats in the upper tier of the grandstand was $3, and these were far and away the best seats in the yard, because they were right over the ring.

But do you think the proletariat went for them? Not at all. They bought the high-priced ringsides with avidity, the upper tier went begging until the next night, when it got a big call from those who went to see, rather than be seen, which is the main idea of a lot of ringsiders.

Subsequently, for all fights the price of desirable upper tier peaches had to be raised because of the demand.

Fans in Upper Stands Had Best View

THE ONLY CLIENTS who saw what really happened at the Dempsey-Firpo fight were those in the upper stands, but then the field seats at the Polo Grounds had been wretchedly laid out for that event.

In fact, it was probably the worst arranged field ever known hereabouts. Now the ringside seats are so placed and spaced in the ball yards that the $25 clients have a very good view, indeed.

Arrangements have been made for the seating of about 90,000 people at the Yankee Stadium the night of June 12. This will include 20,000 seats at $2.15, which will go on sale the day of the fight, and are unreserved.

Shimon Wins First Block in Match

Milwaukee, May 13 (AP)—Max Shimon, Milwaukee, former title-holder, last night won the first block of a 150-point national amateur three-cushion billiard tourney from Joseph Hall, San Francisco, defending his championship crown. The score was 50-44. Play ran 38 innings.

Standish Hall Wins

HUB HORSES IN BELMONT RACE

Nominations for the Aiken Hunters steeplechase, a gallop of two miles and a half over brush which will be the feature at Belmont Park, May 23, include three horses representing Greater Boston stables.

Among the veterans named are Rock of Cashel, owned by the Essex stable of Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., Clarence Dillon, Marbro, nominated by Augustus F. Goodwin, president of the Eastern Horse Club, and Solymon, owned by Louis K. Liggett.

C. V. B. Cushman of Pomfret, Ct., has named his great chaser Markhan among the 25 horses listed for the event.

Others include Niclas, Poplar Creek, Dragon de Vertu, San Romolo, Friend Frank, Morning Sun and Olivercale, both named by F. Ambrose Clark, Mondir, Leading Light II, Horicon, Known Hero, Gnome, Sarazir, Isabel, Golden Gone and A. Ludlow Kramer's Flower Rock and Rock Over.

REGAN BACK IN B. C. LINEUP

Frank Regan, Boston College's injured right fielder, will be back in the Eagle lineup when they face New Hampshire at University Heights on Friday afternoon.

Regan had to be removed in the Syracuse game, two weeks ago, when his leg tightened up and he couldn't run after fly balls. He was used against Boston University as a pinch hitter and delivered a single that practically won the ball game for B. C.

Eagle and Harvard Golf Teams Play Tomorrow

Boston College and Harvard will meet in a six-man golf match at the Commonwealth Country Club tomorrow afternoon in the first meeting between these institutions since 1919.

Harvard's golf team is considered one of the finest in college circles while Boston College's outfit is made up of promising young linksmen who are capable of startling golf.

Gerry Moore, sophomore, will be Boston College's nominee against the hard-hitting captain of the Crimson, Phillips Finlay. Captain Murphy of B. C. will meet Arnold of Harvard.

Nugent of B. C., plays Murphy of Harvard; Bradley of B. C., plays Eaton of Harvard; Tobin of B. C., meets Baldwin of Harvard, while Coleman of B. C., faces Wood of the Crimson.

There is quite a bit of interest in this match in as much as B. C. has a chance of upsetting the Crimson and also because of the renewal of athletics which may lead to competition between these rivals in the major branches of sport.

TOM OLIVER MAKES ANOTHER HIT

Tom Oliver

Tom Oliver, Red Sox batting star, was interviewed by Joe Cashman, baseball writer of the Boston Evening American, over Station WHDH, at 6:45 p. m., as part of the regular Boston Evening American broadcast. Oliver said he was very happy to be with Heinie Wagner and the rest of the Red Sox, and hopes to keep on "hitting 'em where they ain't." Oliver made a "home run" with the radio fans, as his talk was as colorful as his hitting.

WILLIAMS VS. B.U. TOMORROW

Boston University will attempt to chalk up its seventh baseball victory of the year when it clashes with Williams at Williamsburg tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Gilmore will use "Lefty" Lojko, his best bet since Weafer strained his arm, against Williams. Lojko should not have a great deal of difficulty in winning as he has been pitching great ball.

There will be two changes in the Terrier lineup. Mike Jukins, the hard-hitting first baseman, has been shifted back to catch. Jukins is a much better catcher than a first baseman and did a neat piece of work against New Hampshire.

Lou Bornstein, who has been warming the bench all year, will take care of the initial sack. Lou is the niftiest fielder on the team, but his poor hitting has kept him out of a regular position. The rest of the team will be the same.

Police Nines Clash for Relief Fund

With the relief fund for Patrolman Franklin B. Dwyer's wife close to the $1000 mark as the result of a collection of $140 by the Dorchester Board of Trade, the organization handling the collection, yesterday, plans were being completed for a series of benefit baseball games to swell the fund.

Two police teams, one from Dwyer's home station at Fields Corner, and the other from East Boston, will battle on the town field tomorrow evening in a twilight contest. A 45-piece band is expected to render music.

Devine Winner Over Sonny Suggs

Fall River, May 13—Harry Devine of Worcester won an eight-round decision from Sonny Suggs of Newport at the Casino A. A. last night.

In the semi-final bout Ollie Koski of Worcester won a six-round decision from Tommy Quigley of Cambridge. Johnny Hanlon of Lynn defeated Tommy Cousins of Boston in six rounds.

In the opening matches Johnny King of Fall River knocked out Baldy Frabyma of Warren, R. I., in the second round and Lew Petrone of Worcester defeated Bristol Brown of Bristol, R. I., in six rounds.

BAN ON MAX TO BE LIFTED TODAY

New York, May 13 (UB)—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, who is to meet Jack Sharkey in the big milk fund show on June 12, will be reinstated at today's meeting of the New York boxing commission, it was learned from an authoritative source.

But prospects are not so bright for Joe Jacobs, Maxie's favorite manager. It is understood the commissioners intend to give Joseph a little more time for reflection and repentence.

Reinstatement of Schmeling will release more than $300,000 worth of tickets, representing orders received to date. Under commission rules, the Garden could not offer tickets for sale until Schmeling had been reinstated. The public sale is expected to start Thursday.

Corbett May Get Shot at Thompson's Title

Detroit, May 13 (INS)—Young Corbett, Pacific Coast welterweight, is the opponent being sought for Young Jack Thompson, the new welterweight champion, by Olympia here, Dick Dunn, promoter, announced today.

Dunn has Thompson under contract to fight a title bout for Olympia. The contract was made before Thompson won the title. It provides that Thompson is to get 40 per cent of the gate for defending his title against any opponent Olympia may name before the end of 1930.

Somerville Cubs and Mohawk Giants Meet

The Somerville Cubs will strive to get back into the win column on Thursday evening when they face the famous Mohawk Colored Giants of Schenectady, N. Y., at Lineo'n Park, Somerville.

This colored aggregation holds the championship of the New York-Pennsylvania colored baseball league and is considered to be the greatest colored attraction ever to visit Greater Boston.

Charles River at Oakley.
The Country Club at Weston.
Winchester at Woodland.
Wollaston at Belmont Spring.
Commonwealth at Brae Burn.

By BILL GRIMES

Although the chances are that Charles River and Winchester will remain in the undefeated class after the fourth round of the Boston Four Ball League today, Brae Burn should pile up a sufficient number of points in their match with Commonwealth to give the West Newton team a comfortable lead.

As Commonwealth has only corralled four and one-half points in three matches, Brae Burn, one of the strongest favorites for top honors, should score an overwhelming victory, thereby pulling well out in front of Charles River and Winchester.

Bill Grimes

In the opening match, Brae Burn was on the winning end of an 11½-to-½ contest with Wollaston, and then took the measure of The Country Club, 9 to 3. Last week, the West Newton team had a narrow escape when it was held to a 6½-to-5½ win by Weston.

Charles River has beaten The Country Club, Commonwealth and Belmont Spring in the order named and has won 27 out of a possible 36 points, which starts them off on even terms with Brae Burn going into today's match.

Winchester has also won three matches and is only a point and one-half away from the leaders. Belmont Spring was Winchester's first victim, to be followed by Oakley and Commonwealth.

Charles River Will Have Trouble Scoring

Charles River will have trouble scoring well at Oakley, as that course is in bad condition this spring. Naturally, the condis control of Oakley will prove more of a handicap to the visiting aggregation, and it will not be surprising if Charles River only manages to win by a narrow margin.

It would be to the advantage and fairer for both teams if this match was shifted and played at Charles River.

Playing their home course, Woodlawn is expected to give Winchester a hard fight, but it is doubtful if the Auburndale club packs enough balance to give their opponents a setback. Winchester is exceptionally strong this season and will be in the fight to the bitter end, despite the admitted strength of Brae Burn and Charles River.

Belmont Spring has been in three close matches and in spite of the fact that they have been set back three times they have won 15½ points. The Waverley team was beaten by Winchester and Charles River, 7 to 5 and lost 6½ to 5½ match to Woodland. Belmont hopes to break into the win column this afternoon at the expense of Wollaston.

4 U.S. Golfers Enter 4th Round of British Open Title Play

HELEN HICKS WINS TWO MATCHES

By F. A. WRAY

Formby, Eng., May 13 (INS)—Seven Americans, the greatest number ever to survive into the late rounds of the event, advanced to the fourth round of the British women's championship today, with their aces, Glenna Collett, Helen Hicks, Maureen Orcutt and Virginia Van Wie, still very much alive and kicking up a great furore.

Miss Collett mad her advance modestly and with a lack of ostentation, winning a single match from Miss Mary Beard, 4 up and 2 to play. But the Misses Hicks, Orcutt and Edith Quier doubled up on the day, playing off their matches in the second and third rounds and winning both well in their stride.

It was perhaps the most impressive day, from the standpoint of actual significance, that American golf for women has ever sponsored.

Three defeats alone were sustained, and in these the real stars of the invasion had no part. In fact, no American who has passed out of the championship to date had been regarded as a potential threat to the title.

Louise Fordyce and Peggy Watties Defeated

Those who lost today were Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, O.; Peggy Watties, Buffalo, and Frieda Stifel, Wheeling, W. Va. Miss Fordyce represented perhaps the first major defeat in the American ranks since the start of the tournament.

She was beaten, 1 up, by Miss Howe of England, while Mrs. Payne dropped in three birdies to win from Miss Stifel, 4 and 2, and Miss Dianna Fishwick, one of the ranking Britishers, was simply too good for Miss Watties.

The latter lot by 7 and 5. A fourth American defeat was scored against Mrs. Grace Lenhoff, Los Angeles, who lost to Mrs. Garnham, 2 and 1, so much for the few defeats. Here is a list of the many victories:

Helen Hicks Victor in Two Matches

Third round—Miss Collett won from Miss Mary Beard, 4 and 2; Miss Van Wie won from Miss Juta, 5 and 4; Mrs. Pennington won from Mrs. Walker, 2 and 1; Miss Hanley won from Doris Park, 1 up.

Second round—Miss Hicks won from Barbara Law, 7 and 5; Miss Orcut won from Mrs. A. N. Holm, 3 and 2; Mrs. Hill won from Mrs. Johnston, 4 and 2; Miss Quier won from Mrs. Sturgess Wells, 2 and 1.

Miss Hicks lost no time in partnering Miss Hardiker in the fourball in the afternoon and winning her second match of the day, thus sending herself into the fourth round with Glenna and the other three Americanas.

The Long Island sub-deb won his match from Miss Hardicker, by 7 and 5, another victory that was so easy that Helen spent much of the round in practising her shots.

A few minutes later, Maureen Orcutt carried another American entry into the fourth round by winning from Mrs. Slade by 6 and 4. However, Mrs. O S. Hill, Kansas City, finally passed away in this round, being beaten by Miss Hildegard, 5 and 4.

British Golfer Wins One Hole From Miss Hicks

Miss Hicks thus was the victor in two of the easiest matches of her career. She won the first three holes against a succesion of 7s by Miss Hardicker and, therefore, simply rode home on her own momentum, being 5 up at the turn.

The Briton won only one hole of the 13 played. The cards:

Miss Hicks:
Out ..... 5 5 6 5 3 5 4 5 3—41
In 6 4 5 4
Miss Hardicker:
Out ..... 7 7 7 5 4 7 6 4 3—50
In 6 5 5 5

Miss Van Wie, meantime, had furnished her most impressive performance since coming to England in winning from Miss Juta by five and four. Virginia shot the first nine in a sound 38, yet she was two down going to the fifth and had to play unbeatable golf to win five holes in a row between the fifth and ninth in order to make the match safe. During this sequence, the Chicago girl was only a stroke over even fours, topping off the performance with a birdie two at the ninth, where she almost holed her tee shot. Miss Juta got away with a rush in winning the first and fourth holes, but these were her only victories of the match.

The cards:
Miss Van Wie
Out ..... 5 4 5 4 5 5 4 5 2—39
In 5 4 4 4
Miss Juta
Out ..... 4 4 5 4 5 6 6 5 3—42

Miss Orcutt Makes but 2 Errors Beating Mrs. Slade

Miss Orcutt the steadiest and most consistent of the Americans to date, was just as sound as ever this afternoon against Mrs. Slade, her only errors coming at the third and 11th, where she was trapped with her tee shots.

The cards:
Miss Orcutt—
Out ..5 5 5 4 5 4 5 5 4—40
In ..5 5 4 4 4
Mrs. Slade—
Out ..5 5 6 5 4 5 4 7 4 5—44
In ..5 5 5 5 6

Mrs. Hanley had to live down two birdies by her opponent in order to win from Doris Park on the home green, where she shot her second pin-high to get a perfect par 4 for a victory.

It was the most stubbornly contested match of the day and showed the American to be a fighting golfer of the most pronounced type.

She was two up with only six holes to play, yet saw her lead wiped out when Miss Park won the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth, the latter was a birdie.

Then the American squared the match at the 17th and won at, definitely and finally on the home hole. Only four holes of the 18 were halved, Miss Park winning the first two and Mrs. Hanley the next four. The American had a medal round of 82 against an 83.

The cards:
Mrs. Hanley—
Out ..... 5 5 5 4 5 6 4 3—39
Miss Park—
Out ..... 4 6 5 6 4 6 5 5 2—42
Mrs. Hanley—

Miss Park—

Mrs. O. S. Hill Only American to Lose

The only major "fatality" of the day among the Americans was the defeat of Mrs. O. S. Hill, former national champion, in the third round. She lost to Miss Rudgard, five and four, after playing fine golf in the morning to beat Mrs. Johnston four and two.

Her defeat, in fact, was the sole American reverse of the third round, which not only witnessed the triumphs of the Misses Collett, Hicks, Orcutt, Van Wie and Quier, but also saw Mrs. Leo Federan, New York, and Mrs. Stewart Handley, Detroit, emerge hale and heart-whole from two of the most stirring matches yet known to women's international play.

Mrs. Federman won from Mrs. Walker of England by 2 and 1, in a match that featured only seven halved holes of the 17 played.

But if the match was tence, Mrs. Hanley's was chills-and-fever itself. She won from Doris Park, 1 up, on the home hole with a perfect 4, after being 1 down with two to play.

Sonnenberg's Dive Barred on Coast

Los Angeles, May 13 (AP)—The "flying tackle" used by Gus Sonnenberg, claimant of the world's wrestling championship, was banned officially from California rings today.

The tackle consists of butting the opponent in the stomach, and was developed chiefly by Sonnenberg.

James Woods, state boxing commissioner, said the ban on the tackle was to eliminate any evil from the wrestling game.

Cantab Cubs Play in Somerville Tonight

Tonight at Richard Trum Field, Magoun sq., Somerville, the Cantab Cubs of Cambridge will be the guests of the undefeated Somerville Progressives.

Jimmy Johnston Was Taken for Real Ride

By FRANK G. MENKE

Jimmy Johnston, who is Phil Scott's sashow, spins this one: "Some seasons ago, when I was managing Johnny Dundee, I shot him in against Sammy Mandell, in East Chicago. Johnny was to get $10,000.

"I demanded the money in cash before I let Johnny toss into the ring. The promoter finally handed over the money. It was made up of 10 and 20 dollar bills and was counted and tossed to me in the box office.

"Just about the time I was checking the count, I noticed three fellows standing on the other end of the office looking at me in what might be called a jealous fashion.

"My plan had been to turn the cash over to my brother Charlie and chase him back to Chicago. But the sight of those three dudes and the way they kept sighting me altered all the circumstances.

"So I walked to the dressing room, bundled up the money, wrapped it around my chest, put on my overcoat and then the coat all during the ten rounds the fight lasted.

"I wasn't thinking so much about the fight as I was about how to make a getaway with the sponduliks.

Formed Plan to Get Away With Money

"If a fellow keeps on thinking he finally will think out a plan. I did that, impossible though it may seem to many of my dear public. I whispered the plan to Charlie, like this:

"'Listen,' says I, 'as soon as the fight is over and Dundee starts for the dressing room we follow him for about eight or ten steps. See? Then we drop back into the crowd and get sort of swallowed up. Then we make a bee line for that fence over there and jump over it into the space where all those cars are parked. Maybe we'll find somebody there that we know.'

"The fight ended and Charlie and I went through with the plan. We ended up in the big parking plot. Cars were twisting and turning out of the place. We kept looking for some familiar face at the wheels, but saw none. And all this time we eyed very fellow who came wandering along. Expected every minute that one of the three-cow maybe all of the three—might show up.

"A car rolled up alongside of us and a fellow sitting in the driver poked his head out and yelled:

"'Hey, there, Jimmy! Jump in and we'll ride you back to town, he said.

"All this time I was looking at the bloke, but couldn't place him. Nor could Charlie, although the fellow called my brother by name. There were four other fellows in the car. Didn't know them either. But the big fellow kept urging us to hop in.

Taken for Ride by Strangers in Car

"Charlie and I got into the car. Charlie. And in the midst of one of the conversations, one of the And still I didn't know any of the crowd. But they knew me. And fellows grabbed another's arm.

poked his finger across the road and with a laugh said 'There's where I pulled my first hi-jacking job.' That sweet confession led to others and in no time at all Charlie and I found that we were guests of a party of boys who were very Chicagoese.

"And me with $10,000 tucked under my coat. Whew! I figured that every new minute would be the one when I would lose the ten grand. But my mathematics were wrong. Nothing happened. The boys were nice boys. Nothing formal about them. Just good pals. They didn't introduce themselves. They were just Tom, Dick and Harry and Charlie was Charlie and I was Jimmy—and we let it go at that.

"When we got to town they suggested we stop off with them and have a snack. But I pulled an excuse about having to hustle to the hotel to keep an appointment. Then the big boy pulled one that nearly knocked me into a swoon.

"'We'll drive you up to the hotel, Jimmy, and you park that $10,000 you've got under your coat in the safety box at the hotel and then we'll take a whirl at the cats.'

"How that fellow knew I had $10,000, how he knew where I had it is a mystery to me and always will be, because I never asked. All I asked was that he drive Charlie and me to the hotel. He did. Charlie and I hopped out of the car, thanked him, and he drove right out of my life. I've never seen him since."

Memorial Trophy for Canoeists

The Francis Cassidy Memorial War Canoe trophy is the cause of much interest being displayed on the part of the racing canoeists of the American Canoe Association.

Cassidy lost his life last July 4 at the Charles River Basin while engaged in the war canoe race, held under the auspices of the New England Amateur Rowing Association and the city of Boston. The nineman crew capsized in a heavy wind, and during the confusion following he was not missed. He had just joined the O. D. crew.

MALONEY LOSES TO EMANUEL

Los Angeles, May 12 (AP)—Armand Emanuel, San Francisco barrister, was given a decision over Jim Maloney, Boston heavyweight, in a 10-round bout here. The victor weighed 187 pounds and Maloney scaled 207.

The victor was outweighed 20 pounds, entering the ring at 187 pounds. Several months ago Maloney won a decision from Emanuel at Boston. The West Coast fighter had protested that the first meeting was won by a low knockout blow.

Maloney jarred Emanuel in the fourth with hard overhand rights to the head and again in the ninth hammered the barrister severely about the head and body.

Emanuel weathered the storm and came back strong in the 10th. He apparently was superior in the first three rounds, with Maloney scoring in the fourth, eighth and ninth and with the fifth, sixth and seventh even.

The battle was marred by numerous clinches.

SHARKEY TELLS HOW HE LOST SHOT WITH TUNNEY

By JACK SHARKEY
American Heavyweight Champion

The third meeting between Maloney and myself was staged in Boston on December 11, 1925, after several postponements.

The night of the battle found another huge crowd at the ringside. As I entered the ring I received one of the finest ovations I ever was accorded in Boston.

The fans had finally begun to warm up to me. In the past I had often heard the boos and hisses. I think this was partly due to the great popularity of Maloney, whose friends resented the fact that I was blocking his ring advancement.

Maloney was also greeted warmly by the great gathering. It was then announced that Jim weighed 194 pounds, while I was at 190.

As his always been his custom, Maloney opened with a furious rush. I met him in the center of the ring and there was a fast exchange of punches.

Maloney's heavier punching gave him the margin of the first round.

I started boxing at a fast clip in the second frame and made Jim miss a great deal.

Maloney made a mighty bid for victory in the third round. One of his savage left hooks opened a gash over my right eye and the blood began to flow freely.

Maloney's boosters immediately cried for a knockout. In a few seconds, my face was covered with blood and the claret started dripping down over my body. I was partly blinded by the blood which got into my eyes, but I fought back as best as I could.

JACK THINKS FAST

Between rounds, my seconds partly stopped the flow of blood. As I heard the bell sound for the opening of the fourth session I realized Maloney would be on me right off my feet in my partly crippled condition. I gritted my teeth and decided to make the aggressor.

Maloney bolted from his corner as I expected he would. I did likewise and we collided in the center of the ring.

Jim, apparently, figured I would go into a defensive and was startled when I crashed a left hook to his jaw and then crashed a right hand punch to his nose. I shifted my attack to the body and drove him back against the ropes. A slight trickle of blood annoyed me slightly, but I fought on with all the fury I could muster. I knew that I could carry that round that I had Maloney beaten.

At the end of the fourth session I was still going forward, while Maloney was trying to defend himself as best he could. It was my round and I knew then it was all over but the shouting.

Maloney appeared weary when he answered the bell for round five. From then to the opening of the tenth chapter, I hit Jim when and where I wanted, and took few blows in return.

Maloney knew at the opening of the tenth round he had to score a knockout to win. So at the bell he rushed from his corner with intense fury.

I brushed aside his first rush. Undaunted, Jim came back at me again. I met this second rush with a jarring left hook to the chin and a savage right hand sock to the jaw.

As the blow landed, Maloney's knees sagged, his eyes became glassy, while his arms began to droop. He was on the verge of a knockout.

MALONEY NEAR K. O.

As Maloney, fighting instinct still strong in his fighting heart, tried to pull himself together, the crowd went wild.

"Knock him out, Jack!" was the wild plea of the fans.

Some of those who had greeted Maloney so warmly when he entered the ring shouted for his destruction. Boxing crowds are peculiar in this respect.

When there is a chance for a knockout they become nonpartisan. They say this is due to blood lust.

I let go another right, but Maloney fell forward and got in under the blow. He then went into a clinch and held and stalled as best he could until the round ended.

When it was all over, I was awarded the decision.

After I got dressed I dropped in and saw Maloney in his dressing room.

"I wish you the best of luck in the future, Jim, and try to forget all about losing the decision," I said.

Maloney looked up rather surprised. I think he was of the opinion before the bout that I was hostile to him.

"Thanks for your good wishes, Jack," he replied.

After I had left, I am told Maloney said to Johnny McGrath, who was at the time his manager:

"Sharkey is not such a bad fellow after all."

Eddie Huffman was selected as my opponent for my debut at Mahon Square Garden, New York, on February 13, 1926.

GARDEN DEBUT

I defeated Huffman so easily that I was accused of "fixing" him. The trouble was I injured my right hand early in the contest and was obliged to lick Eddie with my left jab.

William Muldoon, veteran member of the New York boxing commission, praised my work in the Huffman match and declared I had a fine chance to win the heavyweight championship of the world.

That night I was offered a contest with Gene Tunney. We were signed to clash at the Garden on March 3rd, 1926, but Richard would not go through with the match after he saw how easily I handled Huffman.

Tex later told me he was afraid I would ruin Tunney on him and that he would have been left without an opponent for Dempsey.

Rickard declared that if he felt I could have stopped Gene he would have put on the match, but he said he couldn't take such a chance.

So I went back to Boston and

BRAVES OPEN WITH CUBS TODAY

Chicago, Ill., May 13—The Boston Braves make their 1930 bow here this afternoon when they open a three-game series with the Chicago Cubs.

Both clubs enter the engagement in anything but a happy frame of mind. The visitors have lost their last five games while Joe McCarthy's champions have just received three serious setbacks from the Giants which knocked them out of first place.

So each outfit is determined to do a little winning for a change and the fur should fly at Wrigley Field for the next few afternoons.

The Braves had a day off yesterday. The rest did the club a lot of good, according to Manager Bill McKechnie, who predicts that his charges will gain the edge in the local series.

Thompson Resting on His Laurels

Chicago, May 13 (AP)—Young Jack Thompson of Oakland, Cal., new welterweight champion of the world, is going to watch the other boys work for a while, before returning to ring activity.

Thompson, who won his title last Friday night from Jackie Fields at Detroit, emerged from the battle in good shape, except for his hands, which still are sore and will require about three weeks of rest.

While the hands are resting Thompson plans to attend the Kentucky Derby and witness the fight in Louisville in which Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, will meet Al Friedman of Boston. After that he is going to go to other fights—to see the other boys work.

Paulino-Swiderski Bout Postponed

New York, May 13 (INS)—The bout between Paulino Uzcudun and Paul Swiderski, Syracuse heavyweight, scheduled in Kansas City on May 30, has been postponed, it was announced today, owing to a back sprain suffered by Paulino while training.

The Basque probably will be able to fill an engagement against Jimmy Maloney, Los Angeles on June 9 and later will box Swiderski in Kansas City.

Al Friedman Loses Furious Battle to Joe Monte

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

CHRISTNER WINS FROM M'CARTHY

By JACK CONWAY

Joe Monte was awarded the decision over Al Friedman in a furious 10-round bout at an Argonne A. A. show at Mechanics Building.

The verdict didn't meet with the approval of a large part of the crowd and was greeted with boos.

Jack Conway

In the opinion of this writer, Friedman was entitled to the decision. He was the aggressor in most of the rounds, landed the cleaner punches and finished in a blaze of glory during the last three sessions.

It was a hard gruelling contest all the way. Friedman was guilty of butting in the fifth and sixth rounds. This caused Monte to do likewise. Referee Joe O'Connor was obliged to step between the rival mutt flingers and warn them to eliminate their rough tactics and get down to straight boxing.

The fact Friedman started the butting tactics probably counted against him with the officials. It may have been what caused them to vote for Monte. Otherwise there is not any way in which they can justify their finding. Friedman's margin was clear cut.

Al has got some of his poorest breaks in Boston. He dog well campaigning in all parts of the country, but when he returns to his former home town the official rulings are not very kind to him.

Friedman Fractures Wrist; Walker Go Off

Friedman fractured his left hand in the bout. An X-ray examination after the bout showed a complete fracture of the left scaphoid.

He will be out of the ring for six weeks and his bout with Mickey Walker in Louisville, Kentucky, on Friday night, the eve of the big Derby, has been cancelled.

Jimmy Rogers of Cambridge was obliged to step at a lively clip to win the decision from Primo Ubaldi of Italy in a six-round battle. Ubaldi is a newcomer and in the early part of the contest had Rogers in trouble several times. A fast finish won for Rogers.

Sam e Winnerick of Lawrence m ved Eloi Thomas of Roxbury in a six-round event.

Tom Doyle of San Francisco, making his bow as a pro, punched out a one-sided kayo over Jerry Daniels of Medford.

Jackie Norton of Roxbury outscored Phil O'Leary of South Boston in four sessions while Albion Mooney of Boston won from Tommy Maroon in four chapters.

K. O. Christner Wins Verdict From McCarthy

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

K. O. Christner defeated Pat McCarthy of Roxbury nine at ten rounds in the feature bout at the Boston Garden, held in conjunction with the New England Diamond Belt championship series.

Christner was all over McCarthy from the sound of the gong in the first round. Several times he spun the Roxbury boxer around on his heels with rights to the face.

McCarthy showed a real spark of life in the sixth round and mixed with Christner, opening the Akron battler's right eye.

Stimulated by the flow of blood, McCarthy raced after Christner and was willing to battle. McCarthy got the better of the seventh, the only round that could be given to Mr. McCarthy.

Summary: N. E. Diamond Belt bouts

Jones-Tolley May Meet in 4th Round

London, May 13 (US)—The British amateur golf championship, one of the two titles that are the sum of the amateur-pure golf world, will see America's best and the British title-holder meet in the fourth round—unless one is eliminated when the tournament gets to that stage.

The draw indicates that Robert Tyre Jones, who everybody knows is the world's best golfer, will face his shots against those of Cyril Tolley, titlist, and twice holder of the crown.

The matches take place at the famous old St. Andrews course in Scotland, beginning May 26, and will bring 272 aspirants to the dunes by the sea.

The eight members of the American Walker cup team are entered, as are 17 other Americans. The draw gives 32 byes into the second round.

George Voight of the American Walker cup team is in the first quarter, and his only serious competition will be from Dr. W. Tweddell, former champion.

Jones, Harrison Johnston, American champion; Tolley and Tom Torrance of the British Walker cup team are bracketed in the second quarter.

In the third bracket are Dr. Oscar F. Willing, American Walker cupper; Roger Wethered, Maj. A. G. Heslet and J. N. Smith, last year's finalist.

George Von Elm, Roland MacKenzie, Francis Ouimet and Don Moe are all in the last quarter, while Moe plays Rex Hartley, British winner of the St. George's challenge vase in the playoff against Dr. Willing, Sunday.

SMASHING WORLD'S 100 YARD DASH RECORD

The above Associated Press photo shows Frank Wykoff of the University of Southern California as he broke the tape victor over a fast field in the final heat of a recent A. A. U. title meet 100, in 9 2-5 seconds. The time is one-fifth of a second faster than the accepted record figures. Wykoff was caught in the record time by four watches. He did not use starting blocks. And no wind helped him in his record dash. So the figure is likely to become an accepted mark.

Diamond Pick-Ups

Bill Regan has now hit safely in 10 consecutive contests. The second sacker's great stickwork was lost sight of while Tom Oliver was in his streak, but he kept right on going and now threatens to break the outfielder's mark. He is also playing the greatest game of his career in the field.

The three hits that Regan made in Monday's game sent his average up to .300, and the Red can now boast of five players in the charmed circle. The others are Oliver, Todt, Scarritt and Berry.

Bill Killifer, Browns' pilot, hates a whining ball player. Melillo yelled over a couple of called strikes before he fanned in the eighth and looked to his boss, who was coaching at third, to help him out in his argument with "Red" Ormsby, who was umpiring behind the plate.

"Get up there and hit the ball," was Killifer's answer.

There was more chatter from the rival benches in the Sox-Browns series than has been heard at the Fens in ages.

The final contest looked like a convention of red-heads with "Red" Badgro, "Red" Kress, "Red" Killifer and "Red" Ormsby present.

Old Tom Zachary, whom the Braves secured from the Yankees yesterday, is one of the smartest pitchers who ever tossed a big league game and he should earn his salary with the Tribe as a coach of the young hurlers even though he shouldn't win a game.

His acquisition tends to confirm the rumor that the Warriors will trade Burleigh Grimes.

The poor showing of the Detroit Tigers, who make their Fenway debut today, is one of baseball's biggest mysteries.

The Bengals are one of the heaviest-hitting aggregations in the game and have one of the smartest pilots in the business in Stanley Harris.

They lack the pitching to be a pennant contender but they certainly shape up like a sure first-division bet on paper, and the fans can't understand why they are so deep in the cellar.

New Players Are Secured by Bruins

President C. F. Adams of the Boston Bruins announced that through the draft he had secured Peaches Lyons, a 21-year-old, 175-pound left wing of the Portland club in the Pacific Coast league.

He was thought to have been purchased several weeks ago but Chicago had been negotiating with him and the deal was held up until he was put in on the draft. The Bruins got a firm hold on him.

Paul Runge, a 22-year-old center and left wing, has been purchased from the Victoria Club, and Jack Pratt, another youngster at 21 years of age, who tips the scale at 185 pounds and who is rated as a star defense player, also has been purchased from Victoria.

9TH STRAIGHT FOR HOLY CROSS

Worcester, May 13 Holy Cross scored its ninth straight win of the season at Fitton Field yesterday, defeating Colgate, 11 to 3.

The Crusaders trailed the visitors for three innings and then pushed over six runs in the fourth and four more in the sixth to put the game on ice.

Sims went well on the mound for Holy Cross, allowing only six hits and walking only one man.

GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
Golf's Greatest Teacher

Sliced drives result from a collapsed left arm for the simple reason that when you hit the ball, and force the club forward with all the force and power you have, your left fore arm proves unable to withstand the pressure. By "collapsing" it is meant that just about the time the clubhead gets to the ball your left arm, breaking down because of the pressure against it, quickly withdraws toward your body, and the right arm slams on through. In this action it jerks or yanks in quickly toward your body and in doing so, of course, it draws the clubhead inward and across the direction line. Your indication of this would be finding your left elbow tucked in close to your left side at the finish of your drive, and the clubhead obviously well around to the left of you and not high up. The cure for this is simply to quit your pressing. Also, be sure you know what pressing is. Any forcing or noticeably urgent pushing of the club toward the ball is pressing. For sure efforts, substitute smoothness of action.

Rosenbloom-Slattery May Fight in N. Y.

New York, May 13 (INS)—The Max Rosenbloom-Jimmy Slattery light-heavyweight title bout may be staged in New York, it was indicated today. Buffalo is willing to waive its rights to the bout and Madison Sq. Garden officials today will ask the state boxing commission to approve a date for the match in New York.

Referee Johnny Martin ruled the blow was exceptionally low and awarded me the verdict on a foul.

Red Sox Lose Final Game to Browns

By JOE CASHMAN

The breaks which enabled the Red Sox to win five games in a row turned against them on blue Monday and the St. Louis Browns walked off with the final contest, 3 to 2, after 10 innings of bitter batting.

Horace Lisenbee held the enemy to six hits, while his mates were collecting ten off Rip Collins, but Lady Luck pulled the opposition through.

The Sox made one or more safeties in seven of the ten frames, yet only in the second, when Bill Sweeney hit a home run after Bill Regan had singled, did they manage to score.

The Browns on the other hand tied the score on one hit in the fourth and only once thereafter did they even threaten to count until they got a single, a double and a sacrifice together for the winning outburst in the tenth.

The first two Boxers in both the fifth and sixth innings singled but were left stranded. In the seventh they had the winning run on second with two out in the eighth and ninth they had the all important tally half way home with one down, but always the necessary single was lacking.

They had only themselves to blame in some of these stanzas, but in others they would surely have put the game on ice had not the visitors been covered with horsehides.

Tom Oliver Gets a Hit in Fifth

This was especially true in the fifth when Lisenbee and Oliver, first two hitters, singled. Up stepped Cedric Durst to smash the ball deep into the right field corner. Leaving the bat, the drive appeared to be a certain triple and both base runners started to tear around the paths, having made up their minds that the ball couldn't be caught.

But it was. "Red" Badgro, playing his first game of the series, just flew over towards the foul line and, timing the drive perfectly, extended his glove as far as he could and the ball struck it and stuck.

Lisenbee, of course, was disabled off second, and the natives were minus two runs that they had every right to expect. Few greater catches have ever been made.

However, he had Lisenbee shown a little more control, he would have probably won in regulation distance, regardless of the breaks.

He opened the fourth by hitting Lou Blue in the back and then walked Kress, after forcing Manush to fly up. Badgro, who made three of the Browns' hits in addition to aiding them in the field, managed to send Blue home and Kress to third. The latter scored as Melillo was forcing Badgro.

"Lis" then kept out of trouble until the eighth when he walked Kress and Badgro produced a double. He got out of this hole, however, by fanning Melillo and making O'Rourke roll to Rhyne.

Blue singled to open the tenth, went to third when Manush doubled and scored the winning run on Kress' sacrifice.

TANNERY BEST BET OF WEST IN DERBY

By WARREN BROWN

Louisville, Ky., May 13 (US)—Kentucky Derby eligibles, from the western sector, at least, seem to be taking pfograms from the heavyweight pugilistic procedure.

As the time for the payoff, which is next Saturday, nears, the ranks are almost as well thinned out of contenders, as have been the ranks of the heavyweights who came after but oh, so far after Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey.

At one time, however, there were as many Derby contenders with followings, as there were ones heavyweight contenders. Lately, the Derby contenders, save Gallant Fox, have shown a marked disposition to have no one follow them, especially around a racing strip.

Someone has pointed out that Max Schmeling the Black Uhlan, took himself out of competition, and let the other contenders beat themselves. And so, in this neck of the woods, does E. R. Bradley's Tannery appear to have moved by default, as it were, into the van of the western group that hose to cope with Gallant Fox and Sande, Neal Saturday, and have a bowing acquaintance with Lord Derby.

BRIODY JAILED IN ATTACK ON GIRL

John F. Briody of Canton, pending at Newton when he was arrested for an alleged attack on Dorothy I. McDonald, a waitress in a Boston hotel, was sentenced by Chief Justice Walter Perley Hall, in the Superior Criminal Court, to one year in the House of Correction. A case against Corman Carlson, for the same offense, was placed on file.

Miss McDonald testified that as she was walking on Gainsboro at 1 o'clock on the morning of May 2, an automobile came up behind her, a young man slightled and threw a blanket over her head. She said she screamed and the man ran back to the automobile and drove away. A citizen took the number of the car and the arrest of Briody followed.

Briody said he had been drinking and did not know what he had done. Carlson said he had little to do with the affair and had no idea what Briody was about to do. Carlson said he was driving the car and was told to stop by Briody

DAILY ANTIQU

No. 94

The three objects shown today date from the middle of the 18th century, and have considerable historic interest. On the left are the two parts of a sword cane, originally carried by Hon. Thomas Cutts of Saco, Me. It was handed down to his grandson, Thomas Gilbert Thornton, and to his son and grandson, James Brown Thornton and John Wingate Thornton, and is now in the possession of Dr. J. B. Thornton of 346 Commonwealth ave., Boston, sixth in line of descent from the family of Revolutionary heroes.

On the right is an ivory-handled riding crop, originally owned by the same Thomas Cutts.

The crop later became the property of Dolly Madison. While she was mistress of the White House she frequently carried it on her canters at Chevy Chase. Dolly Madison was a greataunt of Dr. Thornton, who now has the crop in his collection of Revolutionary heirlooms.

YACHT DENIED AID IN CRASH, IS CHARGE

Newport, R. I. May 13—When the yawl Cavalier limped into port here late yesterday, her crew of three attributed the craft's damaged condition to a collision at sea with the steam yacht Valda.

The men were Bert Green and Carey Thompson, of New York, and Charles Lundgren of Brooklyn. Green said he had purchased the Cavalier, a 30-foot yawl, in Boston, and that he and his friends were sailing from there to New York.

The men said they were approximately five miles off Newport when the Valda, heading toward Long Island Sound, was in collision with the Cavalier, shearing off the jigger mast and sail, and carrying away the dingy. The Cavalier barely escaped capsizing, and in the confusing the Valda steamed without offering assistance, the men alleged. The Cavalier will be repaired here.

U. S. Cruiser Plans Curbed by Treaty, Says Expert

By CAPT. N. H. GOSS
U. S. N.

U. S. Naval Academy, 1905; commanded destroyers and convoy escorts in European war zone during World War; graduate Naval War College; now commanding the U. S. ship Sirius. Capt. Goss is a practical sea-going officer, who has devoted much study to the subject of sea power and is a well-known writer on naval subjects.

The London treaty proposes the following cruiser limits:

8-INCH CRUISERS
America—18 of 180,000 tons.
Great Britain—15 of 146,800 tons.
Japan—12 of 108,400 tons.

6-INCH CRUISERS
America—143,500 tons.
Great Britain—192,200 tons.
Japan—100,450 tons.
TOTAL CRUISER TONNAGE
America—323,500 tons.
Great Britain—339,000 tons.
Japan—208,850 tons.

It authorizes a larger tonnage of cruisers for Great Britain than for us, but makes no allowance to us for either the superior British merchant marine or for their superiority in bases.

It accords Japan an increased ratio of cruiser tonnage but does not take into consideration our small merchant or our weakness in bases.

It requires us to cancel at least five of our 8-inch cruisers already authorized.

This is in line with the previous British demands that cruisers be divided into two classes and that the number of 8 inch cruisers be limited but directly opposed to the position we took at the Geneva conference.

AGREE TO JAP DEMAND

It agrees to Japan's demand for a cruiser allowance above the 5 5 5 ratio.

This is called cruiser parity.

The reason for our previous position regarding the cruiser type starts from our naval baze limitations but has also another and particularly important reason. This is because merchant ships are all potential auxiliary cruisers. Were all regular men of war abolished there would still be naval power. All that would be necessary would be to arm existing merchant vessels and the country with the largest merchant marine provided it had ports at necessary and convenient points at which to shelter and supply them would dominate the sea.

This is something to always bear in mind for it is not only an underlying basis of naval strength but a reason why particular classes of various types of men of war are valuable to different countries

Great Britain has by far the largest merchant marine in the world with ports conveniently disposed on which to base them. Japan has a comparatively large marine with many suitable harbors besides close and interior lines of communication with her sources of raw materials and markets.

EASY TO CARRY GUNS

We on the other hand have a small merchant marine with long lines of communication and few bases.

The natural characteristics of merchant vessels preclude them from readily mounting the larger and more powerful guns. The foundations to support them would use up too much useful space in peace time, the stowage and supply of heavy ammunition is impracticable, etc.

Most any merchant vessel, however, may easily carry guns, many up in 6-inch in size, and the larger and faster ships so equipped, make useful and valuable auxiliary cruisers.

Cruisers are already limited in size to 10,000 tons. This is about the minimum on which to obtain high speed in rough weather at sea or the long cruising radius essential for our ships on account of our scarity of naval bases.

Such a vessel can, however, carry a reasonable number of 8-inch guns and this is very important because there is a great difference between the value of a 6-inch gun and an 8-inch gun.

Accordingly a cruiser carrying 8-inch guns is far superior to any merchant ship armed with 6-inch guns. It is faster and since its 8-inch guns greatly outrange 6-inch guns it can overwhelm any merchant vessel with comparative impunity to itself.

This is the real crux of the cruiser question and this is why responsible experienced technical opinion in the navy, realizing our limitations as to bases and the relatively small size of our merchant marine have consistently favored only the large cruiser mounting 8-inch guns.

Both the British and the Japanese with their secure position, supported by their bases, and the potential support of their relatively large merchant marines were each able to build a considerable number of the smaller cruisers that are more handy and in some cases more advantageous for fleet work. As these fleet cruisers are largely used for screening, communication duties and breaking up destroyer attacks the 6-inch gun is ample as their weapon.

Despite this, however, both the British and Japanese promptly proceeded with substantial programs of the large cruisers mounting 8-inch guns before we authorize any.

This with their well sustained perseverance gave them a strong trading point at London where they sought and obtained not only a materially increased ratio in cruisers but under this treaty they would be 12 to our 15 8-inch cruisers at the end of 1936.

We are also assigned a considerable tonnage of low power cruisers, about 75,000 tons in addition to our present 10 Omahas, and 45,000 tons more if we can be persuaded to scrap three additional 8-inch cruisers.

But since these would have to be also large vessels in order to have sufficient radius to cover our long lines of communication or accompany our fleet at war to our vital areas they would lack the high maneuvering qualities desirable for fleet work and would definitely lack the preponderant power over armed merchantmen which the 8-inch cruisers have and so would relatively weaken our strength in cruisers.

The London treaty is so drawn as to also enable the British to replace their older cruisers, still less than 20 years old, with 90,000 tons of new ones.

When we consider that we could have a margin of only three eight-inch cruisers over the British; that the British are allowed a substantially greater total cruiser tonnage than we; that until 1937 we could have a margin of only three eight-inch cruisers over the Japanese, possibly never any more, to offset all their superiority in merchant marine and bases, we realize that this London treaty is impossible for us ever to overcome the handicap of their merchant ship and base strength

What can be done with Life Insurance

(1) Building an Estate

To plan and build an estate of substantial size is a serious and often a life-long problem.

Is the estate you will leave sufficient to do for your family all you would like to have done? If not, do you know how you can increase it immediately? How you can make sure of leaving adequate financial means for them?

Through Life Insurance, with a comparatively small annual premium, you can build an estate of substantial size and effectiveness.—this proceeds payable at whatever time and in whatever manner you designate.

STATE PRISON WORSE THAN CHAIN GANG

Warn Landlords to Light Stairways

Anne Pleads Illness and Quits Work

Bright-haired, vital, alive young Anne Murdock had been three years at the Eaton Advertising Agency when her opportunity came—the opportunity to become Eaton's personal secretary. To work with a man of Lawrence Eaton's breadth and power was something to dream of, for Anne had ambitions beyond a suburban home with Ted O'Hara, who was on his own rung of the ladder. The only beauty Anne Murdock saw in her own home was that of her sister, Kathleen, who had lately deserted that home for a career in the chorus. But Eaton overhears a conversation between his secretary and young O'Hara which leaves him wondering whether he may not have to surrender his efficient assistant to Cupid. Anne scorns him and declares that she has no dreams whatever of matrimony. Eaton sends Anne on a business trip to Chicago. On her return she learns that Kathleen is planning on a runaway marriage. Linda brings matters in the Eaton household to a head by calmly asking for a divorce. The plea was like a bolt out of the sky to Eaton

CHAPTER XXVII

Jim Murdock walked out of the office. He had learned control, and his apprenticeship in repression stood him in good stead now.

A girl in Eaton's office? His secretary? That could only mean Anne!

He walked directly to the agency and walked into Anne's office. He'd never been there before. But he brushed by the reception clerk with a mere "Miss Murdock's brother" and left her gazing after him in bewilderment.

Anne was not in her office. She was with Eaton in his. She held a newspaper in her hand and was saying:

"I'm so sorry—so sorry!"

Eaton looked at the item—FORMER SHOW GIRL TAKES POISON—and read the name and the description.

"Dolly — Dolly Davis?" he asked, sickened and incredulous.

Anne answered, half crying: "Yes. Do you know, I—I liked her! There was something honest about her."

"I wondered what happened," Eaton said.

"Oh, that man," Anne told him with a gesture of disgust. "And they didn't marry, after all. There's nothing about a husband here."

She shuddered and Eaton put his hand on her shoulder. There was comfort for both of them in that contact, a sense of understanding and the quick uprising warmth of a flame leaping.

He dropped his hand as if he had betrayed himself; said, steadying his voice with an effort:

"I'm sorry, too—darned sorry." Then looking at Anne's quivering mouth, he said inadequately: "So sorry that you should have been brought close to anything like this."

And then wondered suddenly if, after all, the restrictions he had placed upon himself had not been unnecessary. "Anne," he began. Anne!"

But when she looked up at him with questioning, waiting eyes, he thought swiftly. "Not here. He couldn't have it all out there. He'd go to see her; in her little flat he'd reach out his hungry arms and ask her . . .

But there was a step in the adjoining office, a male step. Anne turned before Eaton could speak again and walked away. What had he been going to say? And so, her eyes dim and her heart choking her, she walked directly into her brother's arms.

For Jim had been there, at the half-open door; had listened shamelessly and had seen Eaton's hand on Anne's slim shoulder.

"Jimmy! What on earth! What's wrong? Mother — Kathleen — Dad?"

"No; don't get excited. They're all right. I want to talk to you, that's all. Can we go somewhere and be alone?"

She nodded, sick with anxiety. "The conference room. It's empty."

He followed her in there and sat down with her at the long table

"Jimmy, what is it?"

"Dad," he told her. "Eaton's wife is suing for divorce in Reno. Very quietly, see? But the papers have got wind of it, and of you."

"Of me?" She could hardly credit her ears. Eaton's wife . . . divorce . . . herself . . . "Of me?" she asked incredulously.

"Yes. Oh, I know there's nothing in it. But you are his secretary; you are with him all day and sometimes part of the night; you've been away with him and his wife; you've visited them on Long Island. Can't you see what a slick case can be built up against you, Anne? And," he added, "you're so confounded good-looking!"

"But they can't print anything like that. It would ruin him—the publicity; it mustn't be; it mustn't be. Jim, you've got to stop it!"

"Anne, look at me! You're thinking of him, not of yourself. Answer me one question: Are you in love with him?"

"Yes, Jimmy," she said, in a small, clear voice.

"The scoundrel!" he said violently.

"No, no. He doesn't know I'm alive. I couldn't help it, Jimmy."

PREPARE SLOOP FOR RACES

Rudder stay plates placed to hold the guiding fin of the defense sloop Yankee in place when she was launched Saturday were removed by Diver Fred J. Wallace, off Lawley's in Neponset as the next step in conditioning her for trials

At the same time the defense sloop Whirlwind, also building at Lawley's, was being placed in position for completion of her painting

This will be done in time, it is expected for the stepping of her mast next Saturday.

The other two "J" sloops of the potential American Cup defense quartet are also rapidly being conditioned.

The Defender, with her mast and rigging all in place and having gone through several test cruises, is at City Island, N. Y., where shortly she will be joined by the Weetamoe from Herreshoff's Bristol yard, where the Defender was also built Weetamoe's mast and sails will be placed at City Island and her test runs will be made off the place.

Bard Helps to Puzzle Mystery Sleuths

Well there certainly is mystery in the air and confusion in the libraries as well. What a scrambling around there was yesterday in search of Longfellow's poems.

And the arguments that started, My, My! Father had his own idea as to the meaning of the picture clue and arguments from the entire family failed to shake him Mother was busy, as usual, but hinted between trips from dining room to kitchen that she knew her Longfellow and had a cash prize as good as on her back.

And the Mystery Messenger, cause of all this hullabaloo, won't come through with a word of advice All we can tell you is that the Mystery Messenger goes on the air daily over Stations WHDH and WNAC, and the Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser will print daily picture clues and the latest news concerning these Tercentenary Radio Mystery Messages

Those who tuned in on early broadcasts today have something else to bother them. The Mystery Messenger sent forth his second message and now we'll all have to learn a little more about this John Lovell who said. . . well, whatever it was he did say. Of you didn't hear the Mystery Message this morning, be sure to tune in on WHDH at 6:45 this evening or on WNAC at 7:15 p. m. Remember, there's mystery and money in the air

Thieves Take 20 Bottles Root Beer

Somerville police today were investigating three breaks, the loot ranging from $5 in cash to 20 bottles of root beer

James Taylor of 10 Moore st., West Somerville, reported that a bolt was forced on his front door and $55 taken

Mrs E. J. Salisbury of 118 Walnut st. said the glass in her front door was broken but she was unable to determine what had been taken. The root beer was stolen from the cellar of Edward F. McMorrow, 14 Centre st.

ROEMER ACTS TO PROTECT TENANTS

New Building Commissioner Sends 50 Inspectors Out to Order Obedience of Law

Action was taken today by Millward W. Roemer, new Boston building commissioner, for the better protection of tenement and apartment house dwellers, both in ordinary use of the buildings and in case of fire

Fifty building inspectors are notifying landlords to comply with the law requiring proper lighting of all corridors and main stairways of houses three or more stories high, or accommodating four or more families

These inspectors will also make a report on automatic sprinklers in each place. Owners will be required to put up placards indicating the main stairways

Breaking of the law is punishable by a fine of not more than $500 with an alternative of civil action leading to injunctions

The police department will be asked to have night patrolmen check up on the lighting of stairways.

MALDEN HONOR TO WAR HEROES

The unveiling of a tablet to Revolutionary soldiers at Bellrock cemetery featured the Malden tercentenary program for today. The unveiling was under the auspices of Mystic Side Chapter, D. A. R.

Historical and literary exercises in the Lincoln, Browne and Beebe junior high schools in the evening will complete the day's program. Lord Mayor Arthur L. Clarke, of Malden, England, will speak at all three schools, as well as at the silver jubilee banquet of Malden Lodge of Elks.

Former Governor Fuller, Governor Allen, Lieutenant-Governor Youngman, Richard B Wigglesworth, John J. Walsh, Prof. Albert B Hart and Mrs Emma F. Schofield spoke at the schools

Clad in his official scarlet robes and wearing the great seal of Malden the lord mayor, with Mrs. Clarke, was honored guest at a formal reception in the rotunda of the Malden Public Library last night

About 3000 persons shook hands with the couple as they stood at the head of the receiving line with Mayor and Mrs William A. Hastings and Judge and Mrs Elbridge S. Davis

The library was beautifully decorated and the women were dressed in Colonial costume while the men wore evening dress

GIRL LOSES HER ALL IN PURSE

Aid of the Boston Evening American was asked today by Miss Tina Fulcinite of 56 Trull st., Somerville, in recovering her pocketbook and $45—all she had in the world. Saturday in a Boston department store Miss Fulcinite recently came here from Ohio to seek work and is in need of the money she lost, together with an address book, two photographs and several valuable keep sakes

In a telegram to the Boston Evening American, Sanford Eaton, superintendent of Federal prisons and former Massachusetts commissioner of correction, expressed the opinion that the present executives of the correction department are well aware of conditions prevailing at Charlestown prison, and have taken or will take all necessary steps to cope with the situation.

Supt. Bates added that the matter of conditions at Charlestown prison as a site is a policy for the department to determine

North End Man Shot Down in Street

North End racketeers broke loose again early today, when they attempted to kill Carmine Gurriere, 27, of 22 Charter st., as he walked along Hanover st

After five shots were fired at Gurriere, two of which hit his left hand, the assailant escaped and Gurriere was taken to the Haymarket Relief Hospital by Patrolman William Morrison, who heard the shots. The police say that Gurriere knows who fired the shots but refuses to tell

Gurriere has a police record. He was identified as one of the men mentioned in the case of Anthony Rizzo, who was slain several weeks ago in a bootleg war

To maintain the institution as it is today, Director Russell said that $750,000 additional endowment must be secured.

CONDITIONS ASSAILED BY WOMAN EXPERT

Mrs. Alfred Guyon Urges Immediate Shift of Convicts From Firetrap

Prisoners in Southern chain gangs are infinitely better cared for than the inmates of Charlestown State prison, Mrs. Alfred Guyon, noted sociologist, declared today

Mrs. Guyon, as a member of the welfare committee formed by Bishop Lawrence, circulated a petition in 1928 asking for the abandonment of the prison. The petition, she declared "was smothered in committee" by the Legislature

Today she commended the Boston Evening American for leading the fight for transfer of prisoners from Charlestown and the speedy erection of the new Norfolk prison and expressed the hope that the bill filed by Rep. Joseph Finnegan would fare better than its predecessors

SAYS HEALTH IS IMPAIRED

Describing Charlestown prison as a disgrace to the Commonwealth and blaming politicians for its continued use as a prison, Mrs. Guyon declared that the State has neither legal or moral right to impair the health of prisoners while punishing them for illegal acts

She pointed to the primitive conditions under which prisoners live at Charlestown, the lack of segregation, and the complete unsuitability of the 125-year-old building

"Men held captive in Southern chain gangs are infinitely better cared for than the unfortunates confined in Charlestown," she asserted.

"Many of the men in Charlestown will from time to time come back to society. If we are indifferent to their reclamation while in prison it is inevitable that they will become involved criminally again when freed.

SEES ULTERIOR MOTIVE

"There is some ulterior motive behind the refusal of our politicians to do something to relieve the situation. What it is I have never been able to ascertain, but I hope that the American's campaign will result in instructive action."

In a telegram to the Boston Evening American, Sanford Eaton, superintendent of Federal prisons and former Massachusetts commissioner of correction, expressed the opinion that the present executives of the correction department are well aware of conditions prevailing at Charlestown prison, and have taken or will take all necessary steps to cope with the situation.

Supt. Bates added that the matter of conditions at Charlestown prison as a site is a policy for the department to determine

CARDINAL DEPLORES PRESENT AGE 'OF CHARACTER DEFAMATION'

Greeting New Leader of State K. C.

CALLS ON K. C. TO CRUSADE FOR TRUTH

Cites Maligning of Priests as an Example at the State Council Convention

An appeal to the Knights of Columbus to begin a campaign for truth and a crusade against lies was made today by Cardinal O'Connell at the annual convention of Massachusetts State Council in the Hotel Somerset.

The present age, the cardinal declared, is one "in which everybody seems to be attacking somebody else."

"It seems to be the flippancy of the age," he said, "to defame a man's character. Many people today will tell a lie about almost anything. There is a constant fever of trying to find out something about somebody.

"I urge you men, as representative Knights of Columbus, to get together with yourselves and, when you go back to your councils, to organize a crusade against this miserable vice.

PRIESTS MALIGNED.

"It seems to be a malignant idea of the times to defame men. Defend your neighbor. Say what is true, what is kindly, what is just—or say nothing at all."

Cardinal O'Connell said that he ha had many stories concerning priests of the diocese, "but all of them have turned out to be malignant, vicious lies."

"It is difficult to trace them, but those that we do manage to trace reveal themselves as 'coming from the minds of irresponsible persons.

"One the lie is told, the damage is done. The heartache remains and a thousand denials will not right it."

Cardinal O'Connell warned against allowing politics to seep into the Knights of Columbus and urged that heads of the order be in absolute accord with the head of the diocese.

ONCE DOUBTED ORDER.

"I was once," he explained, "we were very dubious of your success some years ago as a Catholic order, not as regards your commercial or social success, but because certain leaders ran off on their own tangent for their own selfish ends.

"I am thankful to God that such a situation has ended."

Mayor Curley was another speaker at the convention and congratulated the Knights on their constantly growing organization, especially in these "distressing times."

Joseph M. Kirby of Boston, for three years state secretary, was elected state deputy at the convention, where 360 delegates, representing 55,000 Knights of Columbus, were in attendance.

The new state deputy is a member of Fr. John B. De Valles Council of the Columbus Club, Dorchester, and succeeds John E. Swift, Milford and Boston attorney who served three terms as state deputy.

Other officers elected today were: State secretary, Joseph H. Martin, jewelry manufacturer of Taunton state treasurer, Thomas F. McGrath, Newburyport, superintendent of a Boston department store; state auditor, Andrew J. Leach, Brookfield; state advocate, James E. Hafey, Cincopee attorney and brother of Bishop W. J. Hafey first, bishop of Raleigh, N. C., and state warden, Charles F. Bartuck, Milton.

Delegates elected to the supreme convention at Boston in October are William R. Barry of Ware, Thomas H. Buckley of Abington, Frances J. DeCelles of Cambridge, John J. Donohue of Maynard, William F. Henderson of Dorchester, Edward F. Maher of Hyannis, Daniel L. Sullivan of Needham and Thomas F. Vahey of Watertown.

Preceding the opening of the convention, the delegates, relatives and friends attended a special mass at St. Cecelia's Church, Back Bay, celebrated by the Rev Joseph F. Coppingen, I. P. P., of St. Augustines Church, South Boston.

Wives of Bishops Inspecting Medical Mission

MRS. WARNE | MRS. OLDHAM | MRS. BADLEY | MRS. ANDERSON | MRS. LEE

Wives of Methodist bishops in convention here were taken on a tour of the city that included the Medical Mission, a Methodist organization, on Hull st., by Mrs. William F. Anderson, wife of the Boston prelate. Among the guests were Mrs. F. W. Warne of Brooklyn, Mrs. William F. Oldham of Columbus, O., both of whose husbands are retired; Mrs. B. F. Badley of Bombay and Mrs. E. F. Lee of Singapore. (Staff photo.)

MRS. ANDERSON IS HOSTESS

While Methodist bishops from all over the world were gathered for business session at the Copley-Plaza today, their wives were being entertained by Mrs. William F. Anderson, wife of Bishop Anderson of Boston.

The ladies were taken on a tour of the city by Mrs. Anderson and visited many points of religious and historical interest. Many were greatly interested in the Medical Mission at 36 Hull st., which is sponsored by the Women's Home Missionary Society of the New England Methodist Conference.

The ladies then visited the grave of Cotton Mather in Copp's Hill Burying ground and the Old North Church, returning to the Copley-Plaza for a reception in the Sheraton room.

For Mrs. E. F. Lee of Singapore, it was necessary to travel halfway around the world to reach this city. Mrs. B. F. Badley, wife of the bishop of Bombay, also covered considerable distance.

Others in the party were Mrs. Edgar Blake of Indianapolis, Mrs. W. L. Brent of Helena, Mont., Mrs. F. W. Warne, inactive after 40 years of service in India; Mrs. William F. Oldham, inactive after over 40 years' service in Malaita and Buenos Aires, and Mrs. Adna Leonard of Buffalo, N. Y.

The local committee in charge of the entertainment were Mrs. William Sludger of Newtonville, Mrs. E. S. Bliss of Malden, Mrs. S. Emory of Newton Center, Mrs. C. S. Lovell of Watertown and Mrs. J. H. Atwood of Newton Highlands.

Nichols Stands by Salary Increases

Salary increases granted during his regime have no appreciable effect in the proposed raise in the Boston tax rate, declared former Mayor Nichols last night in answer to Mayor Curley's intimation that the liberality of Nichols is partly responsible for the increase in taxes.

"I admit liberality, but not extravagance," said former Mayor Nichols. "All the raises granted by me were justified and I am glad they are incorporated in the budget. But those raises have no effect on the tax rate, past present or future."

SCALE TO FIGHT FOR BRIDE

Determined to vigorously oppose any attempt to annul his marriage to his 16-year-old bride, Frank A. Scale, 24-year-old master painter of Beverly, will sacrifice his fortune in the fight if necessary, he declared last night.

Scale, who married Dorothy E. Paine, Beverly high school junior, in Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, was held in $2500 bail for hearing next Saturday when he appeared in Salem District Court yesterday on a charge brought by the girl's mother, Mrs. Esther Paine. The girl, being held as a delinquent child, will be given a hearing in juvenile court the same day.

A warrant has been issued in Portsmouth, N. H., where the two were married, for Scale's arrest on the charge of falsifying the girl's age, which was given as 19.

Wendell Thore Raps Old Age Bill as Hokus Pokus

"A piece of tercentenary legislative hokus pokus," was the characterization today by Wendell P. Thore of the bill giving old age assistance to needy citizens.

The bill was passed yesterday by the House by the surprising majority of 202 to 27, and provides old age assistance to women over 60 years and men over 65.

According to [illegible] advocate of a state-wide old age pension in Massachusetts, the "assistance bill" is merely a subterfuge and a blind.

"None of our people," declared Thore, "should be deceived by the passing of the old age assistance bill with its pauperizing touches.

BACKWARD MOVE

"It should be called a piece of tercentenary legislative hokus pocus, for under this proposed law citizens will be asked to degrade themselves with their own taxation under our public welfare department, with its obnoxious pauper fingers.

"All that has been done under this assistance is to expand the depressing old age relief given now by the public welfare department, which so many of our worthy, needy aged shun until forced to accept it by circumstances.

"No state like ours should go backwards with such old age assistance, but should go forward with genuine old age pensions so long in use in other countries.

Under this assistance law the citizens out of government employ who may be in need in the later years are to be degraded like paupers with assistance while government employes are given pensions paid from the taxes of of these citizens.

TREAT ALL ALIKE

"Under the genuine old age pension all our citizens would receive the same American treatment denied them under this assistance law, which is no more genuine old age pension than a skunk of the field is like a rose of the garden.

"This assistance law is purely an election face saver, a camouflage put forth by legislative magicians to deceive the people so that at election time the magicians may be able to say they did so much for the people."

TO SAIL SHIP IN FROG POND

"Stand by to haul taut the weather brace," will soon be heard on Boston Common, and rollicking tars will gather 'round the Frog Pond.

No man will hold the helm, however and not a soul will grace the decks, for the H. M. S. Pinafore is only a model, and models—well models don't require much of a crew, just a skipper.

Designer of the trim little vessel is Joseph W. Murphy, who loved the ancient British vessel of the same name in drawing his plans to scale.

Miss Mavis Fenno was the builder, and both designer and maker are anxiously awaiting the H. M. S. Pinafore's first plunge in the Frog Pond.

Curley's Ward Has Gain

Mayor Curley's home ward, Ward 13, in Jamaica Plain, has made a jump of 3008 in population in the last five years, according to figures released yesterday.

Officers of the bureau are Joseph Liederman, president; K. Bogoshian, vice-president; D. Elkind, treasurer, and Harry Burnim, secretary. The counsellors are Goldberg & Goldberg, of Beacon st., Boston, at whose offices the bureau is located.

ASK HOSPITAL IN E. BOSTON

A major hospital in East Boston, in place of the present relief hospital, where major operations cannot be performed, is asked for by Councilor Timothy J. Donovan of East Boston, in an order which was referred to the council's finance committee. The cost is estimated at $300,000.

Donovan called attention to the many factories in East Boston, the airport and construction of the new traffic tunnel which, together with the fact that the section is separated by water from other hospital facilities should warrant construction of an enlarged hospital there.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY AND GIRL ARE FINGERPRINTED AS 'BURGLARS'

YOUTH TAKES BLAME FOR CRIME

His Efforts to Clear Sweetheart, Long Ill, Prove Unavailing With Police

Branded as burglars, a 17-year-old high school boy and his 16-year-old sweetheart, were fingerprinted and photographed today at police headquarters.

They were Charles E McLeod of R st, South Boston, who was elected to be president of his senior class at Mechanics Arts High School, in which the couple were caught, and Miss Mary Cornelisen, also of H st., three weeks out of a sick room to which she had been confined two years.

Loyalty, the youth had attempted to absolve his frail companion of any complicity in the alleged burglary, but the finger-prints of the 81-pound weeping girl were taken just the same.

Three police officers declare they found the two in the act of looting McLeod's chemistry class room.

McLeod is said to have admitted his guilt and to have declared he had taken part in another burglary. But he insisted his girl friend was ignorant of his mission and he had to coax her to go inside the school.

At headquarters as each of more than 40 detectives gazed upon the couple and answered "No," meanL., that they did not want them, the girl broke down and wept.

To rogues gallery photo, and fingerprinting room they were led for records that will last until years after they have died.

With tears streaming down her face the girl pleaded with police to omit the finger printing and photographing, but her plead were in vain.

The couple was taken from headquarters to central court where they must stand trial on charges of breaking and entering in the night time.

Police recovered at the boy's home $200 worth of loot gathered in a previous robbery.

HULTMAN PLANS SCIENTIFIC DETECTION

More Intelligent Men to Use Chemistry, Photography and Radio in Crime

Police Commissioner Eugene C Hultman intends to make the Boston police department the most modern and efficient in the United States by de.ayed tactics.

Today the commission said he plans to concentrate on the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, making it the best unit of its kind in the country.

The detectives will be brainy intelligent men, thoroughly drilled in all branches of crime detection, and equipped with the most modern aids for the solving of criminal problems and apprehending criminals.

An educational program may call for transfers from time to time the commissioner said, but they will not be regarded in the light of punishment.

24-HOUR DUTY

Photographers chemists, radio and industrial experts, and interpreters are some of the specialists who may be added to the department, he said.

He also plans a drive for new and modern police ambulances, and suggested the newspapers agitate the question of the necessity for a unified head for all ambulances in the city during emergencies.

After talking with Supt. Michael H. Crowley and Deputy Supt. James J. McDevitt, the commissioner said he plans to have men on duty nights and Sundays in the detective bureau.

"I believe the men should be thoroughly trained in all forms of police work, after which they may become specialists, but each man should know everything about police work first," he said.

"I had a drill school in the fire department, and it may be I will establish one in the police department.

REVISED EXAMS

"I believe in the Civil Service and expect to work with the Civil Service Commissioner today to get his views on the promotion of men for merit only. I expect to make a survey, as a result of which I can advise the Civil Service Commission as to what kind of an examination would be most effective.

"We should have a photographer on duty at the B. C. I. both day and night," he said. "In case of a major crime at night the detectives should get to work on it at once and not wait until morning.

"As regards radio for the cars of the Special Service Squad, I prefer to move slowly. In some places it has not worked out so well as it has in Detroit."

FIREBUG HUNT IN OUTBREAK AT BRIGHTON

Eight Suspicious Blazes in Two Weeks Arouse Firemen and Police

Extra police were today patrolling the Aberdeen section of Brighton to apprehend a pyromaniac who for two weeks has terrorized apartment house occupants by setting fires to debris piles by beneath stairways used as fire exits.

Stirred to action by the most recent fire at 193 Colburne st., where Mrs. John F. Leonard, a cripple was carried down a ladder, state fire inspectors, Chief Daniel Sennot and police officials today held a conference.

Police stated that during the past two weeks there have been no less than eight fires of suspicious origin, resulting in a loss of close to $1r000, estimated by the firemen.

Yesterday there were three apartment house fires and two grass fires started close to a group of wooden tenement houses.

The first of these three fires was at No. 133 Colburn st., Brighton. This fire was started in a pile of papers in the cellar.

HARVARD NAMES 5 NEW HOUSES

Following the meeting of the Harvard board of overseers, the names of the five Harvard houses remaining unnamed, and which are to be ready for occupancy in September, 1931, were announced today.

All seven houses are now named for after presidents of Harvard one after Harvard's first academic and one-time acting president, and the seventh for a family which has been closely connected with Harvard since its foundation

The five new houses are given the names of the three Harvard presidents, Charles William Eliot John Thornton Kirkland and John Leverett of the first Harvard dentist and one-time acting president, John Winthrop, and of the Adams family.

Two houses were named last November, one after Henry Dunstan first president of the college, and the other after A Lawrence Lowell, present president. These two houses will be open to students in September of this year.

A. T. HART STILL UNCONSCIOUS

X-rays were taken at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital today to determine the extent of the injuns suffered by Albert T. Hart, president of the Boston Marmon Co., thrown from his mount during a polo game.

Hart, who is also vice-president of the Boston Athletic Association fell on his head during the first chukker of a game on the Westwood estate of W. Cameron Forbes, former governor-general of the Philippines.

The injured man was given first-aid by Dr. Edward Thayer of Baltimore, a guest at the Forbes home.

He was then taken to the hospital, where he failed to regain consciousness. It was feared that he had suffered a fracture of the skull.

BOY SEES DAD KILLED BY AUTO

Stepping from a trolley car into the path of an automobile, Herbert Lanigan, 57, of Samuels st., Everett, was killed last night.

The machine, according to the police, was passing the trolley on the left, in violation of traffic regulations.

Lanigan, accompanied by his 15-year-old son, John, stepped off the trolley at Broadway and Lafayette st. and crossed in front of the car to gain the sidewalk.

The automobile, driven by Charles W Shultz of Lewiston, Maine, struck the father, and missed the boy by only a few inches.

Although rushed to the Whidden Memorial hospital, Lanigan was pronounced dead on arrival.

Questioned by the police, Shultz gave a Newburyport address, where he intended to take up residence today, he said.

In his own defense he said automobiles might pass trolleys on the left in Maine.

Ray of Sunshine for Hero Cop's Family

DWYER FUND IS STILL GROWING

Capt. Michael Goff of station 11 today turned over to Deputy Superintendent McDevitt at police headquarters $678 to be added to the fund to be taken up in the department for the widow and children of Patrolman Franklin B. Dwyer.

At the same time the fund sponsored by the Dorchester Board of Trade was increased by $139, bringing the total to $8,318.

A benefit ball game will be played tomorrow night at Town Field, Fields Corner, between police teams from divisions 7, East Boston and 14 Brighton. This will be the first of a series of departmental championship games.

LAY GEM THEFT TO LYNN COUPLE

David Kinane, 23, and his wife Sarah, 19, of Lynn, where their two small children are living, are under arrest in Cleveland and held with larceny from George Peasley, collector of internal revenue of Detroit, it was learned today.

According to police, the couple were arrested when they attempted to pawn a pearl neck are identified as part of $9000 worth of furs stolen from the Peasley home.

Detective George Franke said Kinane had been traced after Mrs Peasley's fur coat, valued at $1800, had been pawned in Cleveland. The remainder of the loot was recovered in a Cleveland hotel after the arrests.

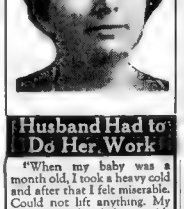
The couple were married on April 19, 1927, by Justice of the Peace Benjamin Waite.

The bride was born in Evansville, Ind. At the height of the scare however, word was received at the East Dedham st. station that she had returned home. A note addressed to her sister was found on a dresser shortly after her disappearance.

"Good-bye," it read. "Don't look for me. Thanks for all you've done."

There was no explanation of her action.

Husband Had to Do Her Work



"When my baby was a month old, I took a heavy cold and after that I felt miserable. Could not lift anything. My husband had to help me with the housework. I was so weak I could not do a washing. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the Kitchener paper and I gave it a good trial. Before I had taken half a bottle, I found the difference. I do all my own work now and I have told others how much this medicine helped me."—Mrs. Alice Bassett, Cadogan, Pennsylvania.

Hold Funeral of Film Head's Mother

With beautiful pieces from movie stars and motion picture officials among the floral tributes, the funeral of Mrs Margaret M Sullivan, mother of Charles E. Sullivan, vice-president of the Pathe Co., was held yesterday from the home in Pearl st., South Quincy.

A solemn high mass of requiem was sung in St. John's Church by the Rev Edward A. McDonough, with the Very Rev. Michael J. Owens as deacon and the Rev. James I. Belcher as subdeacon.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Ring Stays in Sewer

Informed by the street and garage department that nothing could be done to recover her $600 ring, dropped down a drain pipe by her 3-year-old daughter, Marion Sunday afternoon, Mrs. William Segal of 42 Truxton st., Dorchester, has resigned herself to the loss.

Auto Strikes Tree, Driver Arrested

Alleged to have struck a tree, damaging his automobile, George F. Holley, 38, of Commonwealth ave., Allston, telegraph operator in a Boston brokerage house, was arrested today at Lincoln ave., and Endicott st., Saugus, charged with being drunk and operating under the influence of liquor.

He will be arraigned before Judge Edward B. O'Brien in today's session of Lynn District Court. Patrolman William MacDougall found the machine wrecked against a tree. Holley was asleep on the seat, MacDougall said.

Big Street Program Launched by Curley

Plans for the greatest street and sewer construction program in the history of the city, which will cost $10,860,000 were launched yesterday by Mayor Curley when the city council approved the recent legislative act for those purposes with the signature of Governor Allen.

Included in the program are the widening of Center st., West Roxbury, at a cost of $1,210,000; Charles st. widening, $1,060,000; Simonds river improvement in the South Boston, $1,140,000; sewers throughout the city, $1,550,000; construction of new streets, $2,500,000, and reconstruction of existing streets, $3,500,000.

Woman Robbed by Purse Snatcher

While throngs of people were walking along Seaver st., Roxbury, yesterday, a youth about 20, wearing a blue suit, snatched the purse of Miss Bettie Greenberg, 24, of 357 Seaver st., Roxbury, and escaped by running into Franklin Park.

According to the woman she heard someone running in back of her and suddenly someone grabbed her pocketbook and ran past her.

Missing Girl Returns as Search Goes On

For some hours yesterday a search was made for Mary Ready, 25, of 49 East Springfield st., South End. At the height of the search however, word was received at the East Dedham st. station that she had returned home. A note addressed to her sister was found on a dresser shortly after her disappearance.

"Good-bye," it read. "Don't look for me. Thanks for all you've done."

There was no explanation of her action.

Get Your Umbrellas Ready; Showers Due

Partly cloudy, with possible light showers today and tomorrow, was the weatherman's prediction for Greater Boston and vicinity today.

Not much change in temperature is expected until tomorrow night when it will become cooler. The wind today shifted from southwest to west and at 8 o'clock the official temperature was 62, with the humidity low.

'BROKEN DISHES' MAKES GOOD CHEER CONTAGIOUS AT WILBUR PREMIERE

OVATION IS TENDERED MEEK

The Cast

Jenny Bumsquad — Marion Barney
Myra Bumsquad — Joan Lowell
Mabel Bumsquad — Elsie Park
Flavie Bumsquad — Betty Davis
Lyman Bumsquad — Donald Meek
Bill Clark — Reed Brown, jr.
Sam Green — Art Smith
Rev. De Stump — Francis Robertson
A Stranger — Wilson Benge
Grant — Josef Lazarieff

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

THERE IS SOMETHING tucked away in the Scriptures concerning the meek and the lowly and their forthcoming inheritance. Applying this to the theater and its wares, and particularly to its people, Donald Meek may be said to have "collected in full" from "Broken Dishes," which last evening started the new week at the Wilbur.

Nicholas Young

8:20 to 10:45, and nearly drove into the bibliolatrous audience some of the pious moments of the play. But "Broken Dishes" is neither a great comedy nor an outstanding contribution to the season's spoken drama, but it certainly provided lively entertainment which, as it turned out, more than atoned in healthy humor for any or all of its structural shortcomings. At the outset Mr. Meek found himself backed against the wall in domestic complications that might have staggered any gentleman with a family on his hands. He was not an outstanding character in the towns affairs; at home he was just an underdog possessed of a determined spouse of commanding diction.

IT WAS A PLEASANT little comedy for everybody concerned except Mr. Meek and a lovely daughter. It was home life as you perhaps believe it is conducted in the house next door. The story proved trivial, but exhilarating. At moments its gentle comedy gave way to farce, but until it is one of the unregenerate were uncovered, it rang reasonably true the commonly undespised frailties of life.

FOR ITS POINTED HUMOR, and for its really faithful portraits of about a tow folk, rounded rather than for its qualities as dramatic composition, we not only liked "Broken Dishes" but enjoyed it. A big first night audience, bent upon giving Mr. Meek an earnest welcome, must have reached the same conclusion, for every satirical thrust found quick response and was amply rewarded with chuckles, smiles and laughs that fairly rocked the theater. There were no interruptions in the flow of good humor.

MR. MEEK, as might well be expected, handled himself more than adequately. He was a good actor decently cast. In support, he had the benefit of many assorted talents, among which were those of Marion Barney, as a domineering wife; Bette Davis, Reed Brown, jr., and Art Smith. The prevailing spirit of "Broken Dishes" was good cheer For once, at least, it was made contagious

RICHMAN FILM ON STATE BILL

The Cast

Harry Richman — Harry Hayward
Joan Bennett — Dolores Costello
James Gleason — James Dorsey
Aileen Pringle — Mme. Teddy Van Kenssler
Lilyan Tashman — Goldie De Lyte
Purnell Pratt — George Barnes
Richard Tucker — Ferguson Hanley
Sallie Kane — Ruth Waggner
Louise Wilson — Dr. Lee
Sidney Franklin — Schmidt

Harry Richman makes his bow to the screen in the all dialogue musical spectacle, "Puttin on the Ritz," now at Loew's State

Harry Richman

This picture is lavish, rich in set and costume, with many sparkling scenes. The cast includes Broadway favorites and Berlin has provided an ideal vehicle to introduce Richman to the screen.

Its locale is the night clubs, vaudeville and theatrical hotels, is depicted with color and action

Some of the numbers, several of which are done in technicolor, are magnificent Particularly did the "Alice in Wonderland" scene, supposedly taking place in a Broadway revue, please, as one of the finest color sequences of the year

With all of this setting, the drama of the story has not been neglected, and in his more intimate scenes Richman demonstrates that he is an actor as well as a singer

To James Gleason falls the task of adding much of the comedy of the picture His characterization of a big-hearted but unworthy Bunny vaudeville actor is both amusing and appealing

Joan Bennett, whose rise to screen success has been so rapid and so meteoric, plays opposite Richman Her role is that of a flapper admirer of vaudeville talent, and she lends to the part a decidedly winning personality and unusual beauty

Lilyan Tashman gives a real satire and amusing characterization as Richman's vaudeville partner, and Aileen Pringle lends her beauty to a prominent supporting role.

Much of the credit for the picture's charm should go to the expert direction of Eddie Sutherland [illegible] vaudeville, [illegible] Sutherland has [illegible] entertainment.

Other features at the State this week are a Charlie Chase [illegible] Movietone News.

WHOOPEE GIRL GAYETY HIT

La Villa Maye, "original Whoopee Girl," whose name burned yesterday by her performance at the Gayety. With a new set of songs and a new dance routine, she stopped the show.

Less fortunate was another star who clicked Between the two feminine stars there was plenty to hold the attention of the audience

The comedy in the show, which bore the title "Echoes of Broadway," was dished out in lavish manner by Joe Yule. He has a style of his own in this slow, deliberate way of handing out pointed remarks kept the audience in grand humor throughout

Louise King, Ray King and Sally Allen were three others whose work met with approval. The scenes in the production, the costumes, and the setting showed the finished work of Ed Daley, producer

Big-time vaudeville acts, together with features by Hohbs's Gayety jazz orchestra, made up a fast-moving entertainment.

'THE CRIMINAL CODE' FILLS PLYMOUTH

The Cast

The Principal Players

Warden Brady — William Ingersoll
Robert Graham — Lyle Talbot
Mary Brady — Nina Penn
Mrs. Brady — Thais Lawton
Jim Faire — John T. Dwyer
Dr. Bancroft — John Junior
Capt. Strasser — George Sheridan
Keith — Raymond Bramley
Galloway — Joseph Marvin Sorrey
MacManus — Hal Clarendon

In surprising fashion Boston responded to an innovation at the Plymouth Theater when throngs jammed into the pic[illegible]ture to view "The Criminal Code," first of a series of plays by the Robert Williams Players

Nor could a better selection for the initial venture have been made. The enterprise, apparently, got away on the right foot Excellently done is "The Criminal Code," which tells the story of a young man sent to prison for 5 years for an unfortunate death in a cafe brawl

A victim of circumstance, he breaks out, is made again when he is transferred from the [illegible] mill to the warden's office as chauffeur, where he has opportunity once again to be in the presence of a girl—the warden's daughter

But again he falls a victim of circumstance when he witnesses the murder of a convict who has squealed, for which the young man is thrown into a dungeon when he abhies by the re[illegible] and refuses to talk

The warden is the former state's attorney who brought about the conviction, and convict and girl have fallen in love The warden has been working for a parole for the young convict, and when the daughter confesses her love the father agrees to send him outside in hope that then he may reveal the murderer and save his own neck

But even as the parole is delivered, and warden and daughter wait for [illegible] the guard, the young convict, in desperation because of brutalities inflicted on him, stabs and kills the prison captain in the dungeon, finally becoming an actual criminal Remarkably effective are William Ingersoll as the warden, Lyssa Talbot as the [illegible] Penn as the warden's daughter, Thais Lawton as the warden's sister, John T. Dwyer as an ultimate crook and John Junior as the prison doctor.

'DRACULA' IN NEW TRIUMPH

Count Dracula, the Transylvanian vampire, returned to the Hollis last night and maintained his record for vibrating, spine-chilling thrills A waiting crowd nurse was on duty in the rear of the theater ready to give first aid to those women who emotionally overcome by the count's supernatural activities Frequent hysterical outbursts, exclamations of surprise and fear from the body of the audience in response to a number of crisis situations were splendid compliments to the play's staging

Bram Stoker's story who "conceived "Dracula" in the days when he was better known to the theater lovers as manager for the late Sir Henry Irving, invests his central character with attributes that are weird and awesome, but in the supporting character of Renfield, the lunatic, he lays the background for a high-grade histrionic interpretation of which every advantage was taken last night by Alec Hartford Judging from the spontaneous applause that greeted Mr Hartford's efforts vaudeville talents regretted heavily with last nights audience

Raymond Hantley, who played the title role of Dracula at the initial London presentation in 1925, and has played it more than 2000 times since in England and this country, leads the cast He depicts the character as the author conceived it. He arouses an and even loathing for the creature he represents That in itself is the highest compliment that could be paid to his characterization The supporting cast is adequate Wallace Widdecombe is cast as Jack Seward, Melville Ruick as Mate Frank Rothe as Jonathan Harker Lester Alden as Abraham Van Helsing, Carl Reed as Butterworth, Joan Colburn as Lucy Seward and Julia Brown as the maid

Time has mellowed "Dracula" into one of the outstanding thrillers of the modern stage It is distinctly a play for theatergoers who like their drama undiluted

Elks Will Hold Benefit Sunday

Seats have been placed on sale for the benefit performance to be held next Sunday evening, May 18, at the Shubert Theater, under the auspices of the Boston Lodge of Elks for crippled. The charity performance is in aid of the crippled children and orphans of Boston An imposing list of stars have volunteered their services. These include Babe Ruth, Fred Stone, Dorothy Stone, Paula Stone Andrew Tombes, Dugnan and Ball, Frank J Corbett, Jacques Renard and his orchestra, Scotty Holmes and his band, Morgan and Ott, Dahlo Brothers, Edwards and Grant, Master Jimmy Hooley and the Cyclonic Duo Mickie Alpert and George C MacKinnon of Wisdom Box fame, will share honors in presenting the guest stars.

RIDICULE IN AIMEE FILM BANNED

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor, Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 10—Harry Cohn of Columbia fame is determined not to ridicule Aimee Semple McPherson in her own name town. Columbia has just purchased the film rights to "Bless You, Sister," Alice Brady's recent stage play and thought by many to be the story of the colorful sister McPherson's some what hectic career

When Columbia brings "Bless You, Sister" into the talkies a few weeks hence, Barbara Stanwyck will play the role of eloquent feminine evangelist While the story deals with a fervent religious exhorter, Mr. Cohn was emphatic in saying that in no sense of the word would Sister McPherson be held up to any sort of ridicule. With this idea in mind he has signed Carey Wilson to write the adaptation of "Bless You, Sister"

Louella O Parsons

The character may not even be another Mrs. McPherson, Mr. Cohn said, although the working of the character has been given to bear a resemblance to Mrs. McPherson's manner of getting converts The screen story will be called "The Miracle Woman

Pathe isn't letting Eugene Walters waste his time in promises The eminent playwright author of "Paid in Full" and other heavy dramas, is deliver the goods now. Not only has he written an original for Constance Bennett but when Miss Fleming finishes "Splendid" she will play the lead in "The Greater Love," a Eugene Walters drama. Ann, like Constance Bennett, has done much of her recent picture making away from Pathe. They promise as the title of "The Greater Love" will be changed. Waldemar Young will write the dialogue and adaptation

Where is Ronald Colman? Not a soul at United Artists studio new until yesterday whether the conservative English actor had taken himself for a holiday or not. Some thought he had gone to Honolulu, others insisted that he slipped away quietly to England to visit his family. None didn't even say au revoir to his close pals, and from that fact inkling anyone had that he had departed was when someone at the Goldwyn office wanted to talk with him about his next story He was nowhere to be found. Perhaps he anticipated he would be detained, that a why he left for parting address Most of us would be afraid our boss would discover they could get along without us under similar circumstances Colman, we hear but not authentically, has sailed for England

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Hedda Hopper back in town. Colleen Moore, Carmelita Geraghty, Jeanne Johnston and Vida Buck land giving her a surprise luncheon at the Embassy Club She rendered "Old Kentucky Home" and was called back for encores. The New York trip will be taken later. Mary Eaton lunching at the Embassy also with Adele Howland The bachelors' table tipping a colo to see who would get the check. Norma Talmadge working with 200 extras on a big scene in "Perception" (Talmadge du Barry.") Adolphe Menjou entertaining Lothar Mendes and a visiting Chicago theater manager at luncheon. Townsend Netcher giving a graphic account of his narrow escape from drowning while he and his brother, Irving, Gilbert and Roland and a group of film folk went sailing. Their boat capsized That's all today. See you tomorrow!

STAR DANCER AT HOWARD

There is another topnotch show at the Old Howard this week, offered by the Howard's own company. The title is "Broadway Gaiety Burlesquers and the performance has pep and merriment. One of the added attractions is the clever dancing girl, She. Her specialty is a big feature.

The show as presented under the direction of Billy Koud jumped into favor. Fred Snider, Mike Sacks and Charley Wesson kept things humming From a comedy standpoint the show must be compared with the best this season. The company includes Tangara, Opal Oakley, Adeline Parks, Vera Walton, Lucille Carroll and Pearl Adams

The management provided a fine vaudeville and picture bill Les Jardys presented a circus perch act. Pearson Brothers and McCoy and Walton, were others. On Friday night comes the weekly midnight performance

Beginning next Monday, Mae Brown "personality star," will be featured.

Lionel Atwill Copley Guest

Lionel Atwill, as guest star in the service of the Copley Players, made his first appearance at the Stuart st. playhouse last evening in "Mystery." Mr. Atwill, of course, played the principal role, while E. E. Clive stirred laughs in his audience as a comedy constable—or inspector as they call him in the London drama. This presentation of "The Ackroyd Mystery" was the first in America. The play will be reviewed in Wednesday's Boston Evening American.

METROTONE FEATURES

The Hearst Metrotone News continues to be a highlight of the entertaining programs at the Loew's State and Orpheum each week. The moving picture public now looks forward with interest to the unusual features and the surprising incidents photographed for them by the extensive Hearst organizations which covers the entire world.

The issue now showing is very interesting Ethel Barrymore is seen in her first interview for the talking screen while a "shot" of Bamboo, the baby gorilla at the Philadelphia Zoo, with his pal Lizzy, a chimpanzee, proves very amusing Other items are: A scene of the largest air fleet ever mobilized, the Belgian Royal family celebrating a century of Belgian independence, a foreign view of Maori belles singing a New Zealand song, and King George of England attending the championship rugby game with scenes of the classic itself

MYSTERY ACT IS SCOLLAY HIGHLIGHT

The vaudeville at the Scollay Sq. for the current week contains a mystifying act of high quality. Marvelstone it is called and it is certainly a marvel Georgia Templeton depicts on the screen the "Girl with the X-ray Mind," and displays an uncanny ability in answering questions put to her by patrons

Mr. Lovett, the inventor of Marvelstone, received these questions by going in the audience in the same manner as the stage mind-reading acts of old and, at the same time received requests for any musical selection. These are played on the screen by both Miss Templeton and Elsa Brown, the latter known as the "musical oracle."

Jessie and Dade were seen in a fast stepping presentation, and Don Julian, the international cartoonist, displayed great talent with the crayon. Goss and Barrows in their comedy skit, "Good Morning, Lady," made the most of humorous lines and situations, and the Two Gobs were a hit with their eccentric dancing. Anthony and Rogers, two boys with an Italian accent, brought down the house with their exploitations of the English language, and the 14 Dancing Aces brought as fine a bill of vaudeville as has been seen in Boston in a long time to a close Dumb-Bells in Ermine," with Barbara Kent and Robert Armstrong in the leading roles, was shown on the screen.

Tomorrow morning at 9.30 o'clock, there will be a special performance of Marvelstone, for ladies only, at the theater. Personal questions regarding home or other problems may be freely discussed at this time with Miss Templeton, and patrons of the Scollay Sq. will have an opportunity to meet Miss Templeton in person.

MISS SHEARER AT BEST IN 'DIVORCEE'

Norma Shearer brings another excellent characterization to the talking screen in "The Divorcee," adapted from a story by Ursula Parrott and now at Loew's Orpheum. The supporting cast includes Chester Morris, Conrad Nagel and Robert Montgomery.

In her sophisticated portrayal of Jerry Bernard, Miss Shearer attempts to console herself for the loss of her husband, who has deserted her, by living a life of perfect freedom even if she has to break all social codes in doing so. The husband's previous affair with a divorcee had determined the high-strung society girl that she would meet him on common ground

Much mirth is injected into the vaudeville program by the current headliner, Al Herman, for many years one of the stage's foremost blackface comedians. He meets little difficulty in winning the smiles and laughs of the audience with his new collection of "gags" and songs. Oscar Stang and his singing orchestra prove to be a very versatile group of musicians. Their entertaining offerings are extremely varied and well liked. Betty and Jerry Browne, in a pleasing skit entitled "Two Hoofers"; Natalie Alt, in a cycle of favorite songs, and Carr Brothers and Betty, comedy dancers, also decorate the stage

NEWS, VIEWS AND GOSSIP OF SOCIETY IN AND ABOUT GREATER BOSTON

Betty Shaw Will Wed June 14

Miss Anita Potts to Wed John Hunt Marshall in New York Tomorrow

A JUNE WEDDING OF social interest is that of Miss Elizabeth (Betty) Shaw of Groton, granddaughter of Julia Ward Howe, to William D. Ticknor, Harvard varsity football player and prominent athlete, and brother of Ben H. Ticknor of football fame and captain of next year's football team. The marriage of Miss Shaw and Mr. Ticknor will take place on June 14 and on June 17 the bridal couple will sail for Paris to be gone a year.

MISS POLLY POTTS WILL be her sister's only attendant when Anita Potts is married to John Hunt Marshall tomorrow in New York. The wedding and reception will be a very small affair and Mr. Marshall will have Mr. Edward Dana of Brookline as best man. Miss Potts is a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club and resided in Boston with her mother, Mrs. Rockhill Brevoort Potts, until they moved to New York. The young couple will go abroad on their honeymoon and will return to Boston to make their home here. Mr. Marshall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Franklin Marshall of Chestnut Hill and is a graduate of Harvard with the class of 1929.

Junior League and Vincent Club Lists May Be Kept Secret

BY KEEPING ONE'S EAR TO the keyhole, a whisper has been heard that it will be a social faux pas for the mothers of next year's debutantes to send invitations to freshmen at Harvard, or elsewhere, for their daughters' balls. We can imagine that this may have something to do with the Volstead act and not a bad idea at that. It gets harder each year to make the social college and the social dictators think it is about as important to get in best society as to bring the girl out. It has also been rumored that the list of new members to the Junior League and Vincent Club for next season will not be published, that the feelings of those who do not make the social grade may not be hurt. We cannot say so much for this idea, as it is an honor more than social to belong to either of these clubs, a girl has to contribute personality and talent to become a member of both of them and we think those who qualify should be given credit.

MISS EMILY STORER, daughter of Mr. John H Storer, has gone to New York for a few days before opening their summer home in Waltham. Mr. Storer will remain in their apartment for another month before joining his daughter.

MRS. ARTHUR M BEALE, of Chestnut st, another clever little matron who has joined the ranks of society money-makers—painting screens, trays and whatnot—has gone over to New York to see her charming daughter, Polly, off for Europe. If Polly should meet the Prince of Wales and bring him back for her memory book—and it wouldn't surprise anyone as Miss Polly usually gets what she goes after—Grandmother Miller's cup would be full to overflowing.

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS W. WELCH of Mt. Kisco are visiting in Boston. The Fred Rogers gave a large dinner party, about 30 we hear, in their honor on Friday night and the Joseph Story Fays, sister and brother-in-law, also have been entertaining for them.

Mrs. Guy Murchie Will Spend Summer Traveling in U. S.

MR. AND MRS. ELLERY CLARK of Boston have been in New York recently to welcome Mrs. Guy Murchie who returned from Europe. Mrs. Murchie is now on her way to Chicago. She is planning to spend the summer travelling.

MRS CONSTANCE GARDNER MEANS, only daughter of the late Congressman Augustus Peabody Gardner, has sold her house on Marlborough st., and intends to make her future home in Philadelphia.

DR AND MRS. SAMUEL MIXTER have bought the beautiful Goddard place at 164 Warren st., Brookline, one of the show places around these parts, for somewhere near the quarter-million mark. The Rudolph Welds have been living at the Goddard place for five years.

MRS. NATHANIEL THAYER of Boston and Lancaster will occupy her house at Newport, R. I, in August and September.

MRS. GEORGE CABOT AND Miss Katherine Thayer arrive from Southampton today on the Majestic.

In Post-Debutante Group

New Women's City Club Officers Are Named

At the 17th annual meeting of the Women's City Club of Boston last night at Ford Hall, the election of minor officers of the club resulted in these selections: Secretary, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr , treasurer, Miss Adelaide M. Meserve; executive committee, Mrs. Amos R. Little, Miss E. Louise Jones, Miss Elsie C. Dodge, Mrs. Eva Whiting White, Dr. Alice H. Bigelow, Mr. Hugh W. Ogden, Miss Elizabeth Hubbard, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, Mrs. Lois B. Rantoul, Mrs. Charles R. Peseck.

Those elected to fill vacancies on the executive committee (term of office expiring in 1932) are Mrs. Edward Ingraham, Miss Doris I. Allen and Mrs. Leland Powers. The nominating committee for 1931 will be Mr. Andrew N. Winslow, Mrs. Langdon Frothingham, Mrs. Frank G. Wren, Mrs. John B. Osborn, Miss Grace Reed, Miss Mary Caroline Crawford, Miss S. Agnes Donham, Mrs. Lorenz F. Mulner and Miss Mabel Gair Curtis.

The election of the president and the three vice-presidents will take place this evening at the clubhouse at a special meeting of the executive committee. Miss Frances G. Curtis is the present head of the Women's City Club.

Strong Endorsement for the Poppy Drive

The State-wide buddy poppy drive, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and scheduled for May 24, has the endorsement of prominent personages in civil, religious and military circles, who have expressed their willingness to co-operate.

Headed by the nation's chief executive, Herbert Hoover, who refers to the buddy poppy campaign as "a fitting symbol of the sacrifice of those who died in the service of our country," there is an imposing list of sponsors. Governor Allen has also endorsed the work of the organization, and there have been letters of commendation from Cardinal O'Connell, Rabbi Harry Levi and many others. Proceeds from the sale will go toward the relief of those in government hospitals and toward the maintenance of ex-service men in need and their dependents.

Auto Inspectors Begin Training

The second class of motor vehicle inspectors had their first day at school yesterday. For the next three weeks 22 new appointees will attend daily sessions, from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, with time out for lunch at noon.

An intensive training will be given them and when they have graduated they will swell the list of inspectors of the Registry of Motor Vehicles up to 225.

Morrison Named by Shrine Chief

Recorder Walter Morrison of Aleppo Temple, Mystic Shrine, has been delegated to represent Imperial Potentate Youngworth in calling together the potentates and rabbans of subordinate temples in this jurisdiction and have them appoint committees to extend invitations to the governor and grand master to be present in Toronto at the unveiling dedication of the peace monument in June.

The other New England representatives are Dana S. Williams, Maine and New Hampshire; S. S. Gwillim, Connecticut; Charles H. Heaton, Vermont; Past Imperial Potentate Clarence M. Dunbar of Providence, R. I.

League of Women Voters Opens Two-Day Convention Next Tuesday

By NANCY BREWSTER

The tenth anniversary convention of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters takes place next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Hotel Commander, and suffrage leaders from all over the State will gather in Cambridge to recount their success and plan for the future of woman's franchise.

All departments of the league will report progress with the focus of attention, perhaps, placed on that of the committee of legal status of women. Miss Greta C. Crleman will discuss this work.

Ten years of arduous struggle are over and the first two days of the coming week will witness an anniversary rejoicing of no mean proportions, as those who have labored in the field will temporarily lay aside the hoe to plant even greater seeds among sympathetic women voters.

MANY REPORTS

Monday will be a day of pleasure, a preliminary gesture that the women may be ready and active for the full program on the following day. Beginning with an open conference these reports will be given: International Co-operation to Prevent War, Mrs. Walter E. Dewey; Government Efficiency, Mrs. Lewis E. Pierce; Child Welfare, Mrs. Roland M. Baker; Education, Mrs. Louis C. Hunter; Living Costs, Dr. Susan K. Selekman; Women in Industry, Mrs. Lois B. Rantoul; Social Hygiene and Budget.

SPREAD LUNCHEON

A special luncheon will be tendered the Massachusetts women on the roll of honor and words of tribute and glory will come from Mrs. Robert L. De Normandie, president of the Boston League, who will act as toastmistress. They are: Cambridge—Harriet Elizabeth Brooks, Ellen Fisher Adams, Alice Mary Longfellow, Elizabeth Cary Agassiz, Jannette A. S. Jeffrey, Mary Ware Allen, Grace Allen Johnson and Louise Merritt Parker. Andover—Agnes Irwin, Emily Putnam Reid, Reading—Mrs. Boyd L. Dow. Boston—Pauline Agassiz Shaw, Mary Hilton Page, Mrs. Robert Codd, Sidney Sumner, Marie Therese Baldwin Hollander, Martha Perry Lowe, Winifred Bernette Bachelor, Worcester—Abbie Kelley Foster, Margaret Perley Woodward, Massachusetts, for the national roll of honor—Lucy Stone, Alice Stone Blackwell, Maud Wood Park, Mary A. Livermore, Fanny Osgood.

TUESDAY PROGRAM

At 2:30 p. m. next Tuesday, Mrs. Mary Tenney Healy, state president, will rap for order and Mrs. Henry Randolph Brigham, president, Cambridge League of Women Voters, will do honors for her unit. The official greetings of the University City, however, will be given by Mayor Richard M. Russell.

Following that, the rules of the convention will be read; the secretary's minutes of the last annual convention will be given by Mrs. Edward Scott Keefe; the treasurer's report will be announced by Miss Guy W. Stanton, then the auditor's confirmation, the presentation of the budget by Mrs. Ralph M. Sparks and finally the announcement of the committees of the convention. Mrs. Edwin J. Cohn, chairman.

The real business is scheduled for 3:30 p. m. with the formal address of Mrs. Healy. Twenty minutes later will come reports of 17 state and the last expressions will add the picturesque flair when the banquet takes place with Mrs. Charles Peabody in the role of presiding officer. George Young, M. V. O., British diplomat and author, is the speaker of the evening. "Results of the Naval Disarmament Conference," being his subject.

Panamalac, a Shining Favorite

From Paris Bureau, Boston Evening American

Paris, May 13.

THAT SHINING light of the millinery world, Panamalac, continues to add to its laurels, for it has, we hear, duplicated its success on your side of the Atlantic, thus scoring an international triumph.

Whether it be trimmed with a simple ribbon bow, or an ornate cluster of flowers, its charm is unmistakable, mainly because its lustrous surface does not bestow that hardness to the face that is such a detrimental feature of other shiny straws, however smart they are. As contraire, it somehow seems to lend softness and piquant delicacy to the face, and, we suppose, that that is one of the main reasons for its popularity.

Then, too, it is as good with elaborate frocks as with severely tailored models, thus making it an ideal all-occasion hat. Ribbon trimming is very much liked here, several hats using pink ribbon to add color to make the black and pink combination so much liked here. Blue and pink and beige and pink are also to be noted.

The black panamalac model shown today is by Mme. Jose, and is most cleverly worked. The brim, which arches over the eyes in a most becoming manner, dips down at the sides and is pleated in close to the back of the neck.

BLACK PANAMALAC model is by Madame Jose and is most cleverly worked. The brim dips down at the sides after arching over eyes in becoming manner. A bow of black and pale pink ribbon is placed toward the front, at the right side. (Sketched in Paris.)

A large bow of black and pale pink ribbon is placed toward the front at the right side. The droopy brim is being much featured on the very newest hats, but the droop is more to the sides than at the front, the arched model having been found to be most flattering to the majority of faces.

Reboux continues to make hats that are radical departures from the current mode, and are yet of an extreme smartness and charm. The model shown here today is one of Reboux' newest triumphs, and is made of beige tricot with grosgrain ribbon. The wide, slightly dipping brim sweeps in curves to a point low at the right side. It is faced with pink grosgrain.

BEIGE TRICOT with geometrical inserts of ribbon make up this interesting creation by Reboux' offering of ribbon trimmed hats. Heavy pink grosgrain ribbon is used for the decoration and facing. (Sketched in Paris.)

Kabibble Kabaret—By Hershfield

Registered U. S. Patent Office—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

DEAR MR. KABIBBLE,
IS SUMMER THE TIME FOR LOVE? = Z.T.

YES = YOU ALWAYS GET AN EXTRA HOUR AT THIS TIME OF THE YEAR.

Daily Health Hint for Readers

A yearly change of climate, at least for a short time, is valuable. Those living at sea level should visit the mountains and vice versa. From the North go to the South and from the South go to the North. Care should be taken in the water one drinks in changing.

This Day in Our History

The Mississippi river broke through the Bayou des Glaises levee in Louisiana May 13, 1926, and flooded the "Sugar Bowl" and rice regions. More than 60,000 persons were compelled to flee. Army engineers are now at work trying to strengthen the levees along the river.

GARDEN GIRL ASKS AID IN SOLVING PROBLEMS

She Wants a Garden to Go With Her Lily Pool

By MARTHA LEE

(Organizer and conductor of New England's largest home-makers club of over 37,000 enrolled members.

"I love flowers so that I just can't bear to wear them and watch them fade," confided my neighbor, the Garden Girl, at a dinner party Saturday night—and the rest of the evening was an exchange of garden enthusiasm. Quite the most exciting thing in her life is the lily pool which friend husband is building for her. "To be sure," she admitted, "it's not much larger than the dinner table, but can't you just imagine how that pond will mirror the trees and sky and garden? It's even going to boast of a few gold fish—but I expect I'll find Jacky angling for them."

Martha Lee

She asked me to ask you more experienced gardeners whether house plants such as azaleas and cyclamen should be cut back when transplanting them to the garden? Also whether they should be left in their pots or put in the earth and whether additional fertilizer should be used? She would appreciate it ever so much if you would send any garden helps for "The Garden Girl" in care of me, here at 3 Winthrop sq.

She would like suggestions, too, about annuals to be planted immediately.

While I'm not an expert farmer, I do think I have pretty good luck with my flowers—perhaps it's because I, too, love them so. This year I am going to have portulacas, nasturtiums, nicotiana, zinnias, marigolds, Drummond phlox, stocks, pansies, cosmos and sunflowers. I do think this combination will be lovely and won't be too much work. Nasturtiums are always satisfactory and will grow in even poor soil. The giant kind will cover the porch while the dwarfs are fine for edging. Drummond phlox needs a sunny spot and rich ground, but the seeds germinate rapidly, and the low-growing plants cover themselves with blooms of lovely delicate shade. I am using a mixed variety of seed to produce a mass of color.

Four o'clocks make a splendid showing and plenty of space should be allowed between each plant, as they will spread. Nicotiana is a tall growing white flower noted for its wonderful odor, and a few plants will perfume the whole garden. Portulacas are sun worshipers and enjoy the fiercest heat. They'll do well in the seashore garden and can be transplanted in full bloom and will keep right on flowering. Phlox throw out their blooms during the fall as well as in summer and if kept in a sheltered spot will bloom until November.

There's my contribution! Now please don't be backward about coming forward with your garden suggestions for the Garden Girl.

DRAWN BY Nell Brinkley

Cast of Characters—The mermaid, a professional, sits on a brown sea-rock thrust up from the sun-drenched sand. She has a jimp little figure, strong and proud. Webs between her fingers. I was going to say, dear me, between her toes, too! Down to her waist she is a lovely pearl color. But from there she deepens through palest shades of green to a rich, velvety and jeweled blue-green of the angel fish. And she ends—oh, name of lost Romance—in a fine, strong fluke that can make civil the rudest wave!

Just now she is flapping it idly on the sand, flicking off sea water in diamond sprays. Around her neck she wears a necklace of kelp and red-weed with a whirl or two gleaming among the greenery. Her hair is a silken, bright green.

The girl, an amateur, lounges on a water-proofed silk rug in the lee of a brown old bovine rock and a gay parasol. Her swimming suit is brief and ties in bows in the latest manner. Her nails glitter in the sun. She, too, has a jimp little figure. She is quite a way from the water and, though she CAN swim, she is not wet. Her hair was made curly with hot tubes while she smoothed on a white bathing cap. Her pretty white legs and no tail at all. Her jewelry is pearls out of the first character's home—the sea. Her hair is bright golden.

—NELL BRINKLEY.

How to Keep Well

—By DR. R. S. COPELAND—

Cold Weather Blamed

Various requests come to me to write upon certain health subjects. A recent letter asked for information regarding the ailment known as cystitis.

In this disease there is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bladder. It may then extend to the deeper structures in the pelvic region.

There are many possible causes for this trouble, but always there is some germ infection.

Many cases are found in cold weather, so exposure to cold is another contributing cause. Certain drugs and alcoholic intemperance bring on cystitis.

Dr. Copeland.

Persons most susceptible to it are those in middle life, rather than the young. In aged persons it may be extremely serious.

Cystitis begins with chills and fever, symptoms common in any disease from germ infection. Usually the pain is located in the bladder, but it may seem to be in the kidneys below and around the bladder. Pressure on the abdomen causes pain.

During an acute attack of the disease it is very important that the patient remain in bed and keep as quiet as possible. Rest is necessary in the treatment. Alcohol in every form must be excluded [illegible] baths, particularly hot hip baths are useful. A hot-water bag will reduce the congestion and promote the comfort.

In all cases of cystitis the diet should be restricted. Sometimes it is necessary to keep to a diet of milk alone. relief is found, and it supplies the patient with sufficient nourishment.

Heart and Home

—By BEATRICE FAIRFAX—

Fears Falling in Love

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"I am a girl, sixteen. I am afraid of falling in love, because of the many heart aches and disappointments.

"About four months ago I met a boy twenty-two, whom I know I really love. He says he loves me, but says I am afraid to believe in him. How am I to know his really loves me?

"My friends tell me he cares more than he dares to admit.

"Shall I take a chance and return his love? He asked me to go steady with him. Shall I?

Thanking you for your kind advice, I remain,

"AFRAID OF I OVE."

Dear "Afraid of Love":

You are much too young to consider "going steady" with any boy just now. If you are still in High School, apply yourself to your studies, have good times with your girl friends, and forget the boys for awhile. When real love comes along you will not have to question it and won't be afraid.

Must Drop Her Acquaintance

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

You have helped so many people out of their troubles, perhaps you can help me. I am in a very embarrassing position. My folks have objected to my keeping company with one of my girl friends. I don't know just how to break the news to her without making her feel hurt. If you can tell me just what to say to her I would appreciate it very much.

WORRIED.

Why discuss the matter with her at all, as you say it would be too embarrassing? There are times, unfortunately, when we have to drop people and the kindest thing is to do it as painlessly as possible. You can tell the young lady that work, studies, obligations at home will prevent you from going about You can speak politely when you meet, but avoid her as much as possible when you meet in public places. These things are often hard to do, but your family, who know all the circumstances, doubtless [illegible]

Advice to a Mother-in-law

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My husband died two months ago and I have not yet made plans for my future. Don't you think my daughter and her husband should invite me to share their pleasant home? They have said nothing about it. I am only 48 and could take an active part in their life. LONELY WIDOW.

My inclination is to send you by telegraph my urgent advice not to yield to the inclination to live with your married daughter. In your loneliness it is natural that sharing her home should seem a solution of your present problem. But a mother-in-law who is no older than you should insist on being an individual and leading her own independent life. Believe me, dear friend, if you build up your own home and your own interests you yourself will be happier and your relations with your daughter and her husband far pleasanter.

RHUBARB PUFFS

Ingredients:

3 c. rhubarb cut fine
½ c sugar
½ tsp. ground cinnamon

Method:

Mix rhubarb, sugar and cinnamon together. Divide in eight cups; cover with a batter made as follows: ¼ c. white shortening creamed with ½ c sugar. Sift 1 c pastry flour, 1¼ tsp. baking powder and ¼ tsp. salt together. Add alternately with ¼ c. of milk. Last fold in two egg whites beaten stiff. Set the cups in a pan of hot water and bake in a hot oven (375-F.) about 20 minutes. Serve with sauce made as follows: Mix together thoroughly 1 c. sugar, 2 tbsp. flour, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. cinnamon. Add one tbsp. shortening 1 c boiling water. Stir all together and bring to a boil over the fire.

First Aid at Home

FOR MINOR BURNS—Raw white of egg applied on a cloth is excellent. Also equal parts of linseed oil or sweet oil and lime water on a cloth.

Cover a soft cloth with a thick layer of scraped raw potato, and apply to the burned part. Renew the potato as often as necessary to keep it moist.

Hold a burned finger or hand in a strong solution of bluing water for 10 minutes longer if necessary. Pain quickly disappears.

TO REMOVE A FISH BONE from the throat, eat a lemon or two and suck the juice slowly. It softens the bone, giving prompt relief.

IF YOU STEP ON A RUSTY NAIL, prepare a foot bath of a teaspoonful of creolin to a pint of hot water and soak the foot for about 20 minutes. Then bind with a cloth wet with creolin and keep damp. Do this every two hours, and my doctor promises me that no blood-poisoning will result. Tincture of iodine applied immediately is also effective, and remember that you must never bandage over iodine.

I just found in my morning's mail an inquiry from Mrs. B. N. L. of Framingham about what to do for ring-worm. Won't someone please help her through this column?

Lingerie Touches Take New Lines

By ANN. ARDEN

NOW FASHION suggests we wear a bib for neatness' sake. It does sound a bit juvenile and if we are truthful the effect is youngish, but the bibs are not the baby kind. They are charming little affairs with cuffs to match. Cut in interesting shapes, they are the newest things in lingerie touches. They practically change the appearance of a plain frock beyond recognition and the cuffs to match are exactly the right note.

THE STREET dress pictured is smart for shopping, lunching and general town wear. One piece, of black crepe, wide bands of close tucks form the trimming down blouse front and over the hips. A sash of the material starts each side, and ties in back, and the skirt is gracefully circular. Deep cuffs and bib yoke of finely pleated yellow linen accented by small buttons give the costume dash and freshness.

A BLACK straw hat, its turn-back brim faced in embroidered silk, black bag, and natural color chamois gloves complete the outfit.

WHETHER YOUR frock is severely simple or gaily frilled, the trimming is of more importance than it may have been in other seasons.

A CERTAIN black crepe frock that came to our attention recently had no collar, but exploited the smart touch of white in two six-inch long strips of pique inserted diagonally from the inside of the bodice to the front, near the shoulder on each side. These insets had scalloped edges and three buttonholes apiece, for the big black buttons secured to the dress.

THIS IS a very handy season, for your gloves are such an important part of your ensemble. Of course you have been matching your gloves to your bags, but there is a new vogue that sounds most intriguing. It is that of wearing gloves to match the lingerie touches of frock or suit. Thus beige gloves are worn with eggshell collar and cuffs and eggshell band on black hat, while the hose may be many shades darker. Pink accessories which are increasingly important with black offer the fascinating possibility of gloves in pinkish shades.

EVEN IF one prefers to carry her handbag under her arm—a handle, be it brief or long, is a device that makes for safety in the matter of fashion correctness. Because of this the handle gains in importance and in decorative value.

AND THAT brings forward another style note

Correct Manners .:. .:. by Mrs. Beeckman

How Should She Reply to Invitation?

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN

1. Will you kindly let me know the correct form to be used in declining an invitation to an "At Home" to be given by two ladies?

2. Should personal cards be enclosed?

1. Usually an "At Home" invitation does not require or request an acknowledgment. It is like a tea invitation, a reception invitation. When we go, we leave our card, and if we do not plan to go, we send our card so that it arrives on the morning of the party.

However, if a request for an acknowledgment was engraved on the card, the invitation should be answered in the formal, third-person manner. Like this:

Mrs. George Williams regrets that she is unable to accept the kind invitation of Mrs. Alan Underwood
and
Mrs. Walter Dickerman for Thursday, the first of June at five o'clock

2. Not if you write the acknowledgment to the invitation.

Is a Gift Necessary

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am invited to a housewarming party and I would like to know if it is customary to take a gift to such a party, but it is often done, and it is correct to do so if we wish to.

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted by readers.)

Girl Unafraid -:- By Gladys Johnson

CHAPTER 37

Ken's breakdown was more severe than any of them had feared on that first day. Had he stayed in the city and he been laid in a sanitarium against his wishes, he would have rebelled and the result would have been disastrous. But in this soothing quiet and with Ardeth's continuous presence, he was submissive and content. Nature supplied her own remedy in the form of deep restful sleep.

To Ardeth, time went on in an undisturbed dream. Two days of peace, filled with calm, filled the Smell of the pines. Reality could not reach her. Despite the abrupt change, it seemed strangely natural to be here.

There were times when she found her heart leaping as she thought of the soon but they were infrequent. But I to imagine in seeing only the rush of action in store up here in the quiet mountains.

Two days—filled with the trees, with the small tasks of the household. Ken did not gather the true meaning of the situation. Most of the time he slept. When he did rouse his words were dreamy and after eating he drowsed off again. He was a mind and body were drinking up rest as a sponge drinks water.

Mid-afternoon of the third day the silence was broken by the sound of a motor. Tom drove up before the cabin and beside him was Mary Eastwood.

"Ardeth my darling child what craziness is this? To stay here like this—"

"I know it's not conventional, but nonetheless conventions must be thrust aside, Mary dear." Ardeth's tranquil gaze met Mary's steadily.

"Conventions — oh, rubbish!" Mary swung her hands in her earnestness. "It isn't that I care! Not Ardeth. Or even dear old Tom, though I know he really hearthroken. But—you can't slap the world in the face, Ardeth. What about when you go back?"

Ardeth shrugged. She had leaned back against the rough sapling which formed the wall of the room and her eyes went up to a tall pine which seemed fringed with silver in the clear light.

"Time enough to take that up when I have to, Mary. It was a case of deciding quickly. I couldn't let Cecile get Ken even if she wanted him. He needed me. I listened to the world's opinion, Mary, and look what I did—nearly killed Ken. Now he's mine. He is weak and sick, and I'm going to see that he gets well. I'll never leave him again, I don't care what happens."

"But darling it will only end in a scandal! Cecile is furious. And she's beastly self-righteous. She'll hang on to Ken legally now, just for spite. Don't you see, you're playing right into her hands?"

The girl continued to regard the pine with a faint smile. "Cecile doesn't matter any more, Mary."

"Not here, maybe. But later, You can't spend all your days in a mountain cabin. And you're not the sort of woman who can get away with this sort of thing, Ardeth. Not the flaunting adventuress type. You're too sensitive. Life can hurt you."

"Life has hurt me." Ardeth's eyes had come back to regard her steadily. "And Ken needs me."

"What does Ken say? What does he think?"

Her face grew lovely with tenderness. "He doesn't think, Mary. He's like a man drugged. It just seems so blessedly right to him to have me around here that he accepts it as natural. Honestly, Mary, I think that another day of the strain would have been too much. He'll be all right, but he's as weak as a baby."

Mary stared at her helplessly, suddenly finding that she had no arguments in advance. There was as well a serenity an aura of quiet happiness which Mary had never before seen.

Fine and true, she seemed, standing here in the sunlight. A sweet gravity, a thoughtfulness about her which was new and more of the woman than the girl.

The older woman's eyes filled and she put her arms about Ardeth.

"Oh, my dear, if I could only make things come right for the two of you. Damn Cecile and her selfishness! I'll have to tell you—I went to her as soon as Tom told me. I pleaded with her—I begged her to do the decent thing and set Ken free. You see he hasn't a chance now—she'll bring counter-suit to any complaint. The woman's a dog-in-the-manger. She sneered at me. Talked a lot of noble stuff which was as false as her own smile. I could have killed her."

Again Mary was struck by the complete indifference of the girl's attitude.

"Cecile can't make it right or wrong, my being here," she said serenely. "Ken needs me. That's all that counts with me. Cecile is responsible for—for him being in their like that—" She pointed back to the house. "This sickness of his goes back to that night after the baby's death, when he came to me—Cecile hurt something fine and good in Ken's very soul that time, Mary. It's as if—as if she'd stabbed his soul and it has been slowly bleeding to death all this time. I suppose that sounds melodramatic, but it shows what I mean. And she'll never get a chance to hurt him again. He's mine."

"Beautiful but crazy!" Mary raged to Tom when they had left and were driving down the grade in the quiet evening light. "But what can I do? She's of age—and in her right mind, though she doesn't act it!" After a moment of silence she burst out vigorously. "And moreover, she's dead right! It does the same thing if it were Fred lying there in Ken Gleason's place."

But Mary's generous opinion, or the world's spiteful one, made little difference after all to Ardeth.

Tranquil days and deep, starfilled nights each one bringing returning strength to Ken. Little by little reality pushed in upon him once more. He watched the girl moving about the room and his mind groped back over the past days. Something like terror came into his eyes.

"It's all wrong, dear," he said slowly. "Oh, you shouldn't have done this! What will people—what will everyone say? And—his thin hands moved nervously, "I can't make it right for you."

Ardeth had been sitting by the window shelling peas for dinner. She rose and came over to his side. She held his head against her breast, kissed his closed eyes.

"It's all right now," she said softly. "It's only wrong when we're apart, Ken."

The Marry-Go-Round

—By HELEN ROWLAND—

The Bridal Path

True worldly consideration consists in tactfully reminding your husband of his approaching wedding anniversary, and never forcing him to strain his memory to recall something for which he was not responsible.

A man may remember tenderly the first time he saw you, the first time he asked you and the night he proposed to you; but, the day you got him to the altar may be only one of the sad dreams that he wants to forget.

No matter how desperately a man may love you, no wife, a woman, the thought of the wedding ceremony holds nothing but terror and tribulation for him. No matter how little a woman may care to marry a man, the vision of the wedding ceremony gives her a little thrill of triumph.

For a woman getting married is an event; but a man, in climbing the Golden Stair, but, for a man, it is a desperate act, much more like walking the Plank.

No wonder a man breaks his wedding vows so easily. He never thinks about them beforehand, is totally unconscious while he is making them, and forgets all about them the moment after they are spoken.

One wedding anniversary seems to be too much for a man to keep in his mind; but no matter how many wedding anniversaries a modern divorcee may have, she never forgets to drop a little flower of memory on each of them.

A modern woman can endure almost anything except being "reverenced" for two years.

EVENING New York Stocks AMERICAN News of Street MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

Sales today (AP), 2,800,000 shares. Yesterday, 3,016,700. Week ago, 4,755,800. Year ago, 4,633,300. 1930 to date, 181,305,700. 1929 to date, 417,241,000. 1928 to date, 312,878,900.

OILS LEADERS IN NEW YORK DEALINGS

New York, May 13 Oil shares were the medium used today in efforts to lift New York Stock Exchange trading out of its narrow channels. Utilities and steels joined in the resultant upturn.

First hour trading was the dullest in several weeks. A few of the utility an dfood shares, along with selected specialties, showed vitality in the forenoon, but the ons were in brisk demand late.

OIL CURTAILMENTS

Oils have been somewhat retarded during the recovery from the latest break, owing to a report of a fresh effort to bring the smaller producers into line with the conservative movement in California.

It was announced today that Santa Fe Springs operators, with the exception of a few, had agreed to curtail output to 37 per cent of potential capacity. Furthermore, a survey of drilling operations in California discloses that major operators have curtailed activity by 40 to 50 per cent.

There has also been some talk of further gasoline price increases in the East, although Wall Street understands leading refiners may delay such action for a time, as it would probably be followed by increases in Mid-Continent crude quotations.

For the year to date, consumption of petroleum products has been running 8 to 10 per cent ahead of last year, although for the first quarter it was stated in oil circles that a 5 per cent gain would be satisfactory.

The day's business reports were in general moderately favorable to the export copper price was put up to 12.20 cents a pound, in response to the advance in the domestic price to 13 cents yesterday.

Steel, however, was inclined to regard the copper stocks somewhat cautiously, as estimates indicate that production costs are around 11 cents a pound.

Reports from the automotive trade indicated that sales had picked up somewhat in several lines since the first of May and that dealers' stocks are low. A few new models are expected to appear around July 1, largely in the eight cylinder class.

OILS SET PE KS

George Reynolds, chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank, was quoted as stating on his return to Chicago from a visit to the Pacific coast that business there is showing fund agricultural conditions were satisfactory for this time of year. C. Warren, president of Hall Printing, pointed to an increase in volume of large national magazines and declared that conservative optimism is increasing.

In the Oils, Standard of New Jersey, third of Rockefeller units, Asphalt Houston and the Pan American issues, mounted about 2 to 4 points, the last named reaching new 1930 peaks.

U. S. Steel and A. M. Byers gold up more than 2 points, and Michigan Steel surved up several points to new high ground.

Shares gaining about 2 to 5 points, including Houston, Du Pont, Norwood Elliot, Eastman Kodak, Air Reduction Allied Chemical, Columbia Gas, Coca Cola, Macy, Sears Roebuck, American and Foreign Power, and Electric Power and Light.

Volcan Detinning, a lightly traded issue, shot up more than 20 points. Shares gaining 10 or more included Case and International Salt. Earnings of the latter are said to be running about double the rate of this time last year, and the stock has doubled in price since the first of the year.

Mother Lode Seeks New Ore Bodies

New York, May 13—At the annual meeting of Mother Lode Coalition Mines Co., President Earl said there had been no change the past 12 months in the situation. Under exploration work had been done in search of new ore bodies but no new ores had been found. In seven years the company has expended over $600 000 in fruitless search for ore bodies, having done 53,000 feet of development and exploratory work in addition to 28,000 feet of diamond-drilling.

Ore reserves contain between three and four years' supply of ore, Mr. Earl stated. Search for additional ore bodies will be continued.

Somerville Loan Is Awarded to Shawmut

Somerville has awarded to Shawmut Corp. at 3.21 per cent, $200,000 loan, dated May 13, and payable $100,000 Nov. 30 and Dec. 5 respectively. Other bidders were: Bank of Commerce & Trust, 3.24 per cent; First National-Old Colony Corp., 3.253 per cent; Salomon Bros. & Hutzler, 3.26 per cent, plus $5; Faxon, Gade & Co., 3.265 per cent, and Merchants National Bank, 3.28 per cent.

Building Pace in New York Faster

New York, May 13 (AP)—During the period from May 1 to 9, new building and engineering contracts in the metropolitan area of New York totaled $32,244,700, F. W. Dodge Corp. reports. This was at a daily rate of $4,030,900, compared with a daily rate of $3,787,700 for May, 1929. Construction contracts for the year to date amount to $368,339,000, against $426,290,900 for the corresponding period last year.

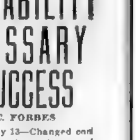
ADAPTABILITY NECESSARY TO SUCCESS

By B. C. FORBES

New York, May 13—Changed conditions sometimes demand changed business methods in order to improve profits and to keep ahead of the times.

President Melvin H. Baker of the National Gypsum Company tells me that its business is in a better position today than it was a year ago 'because we recognized that different conditions had developed in the building field and we directed our operations accordingly." He added:



B. C. Forbes

"It was our opinion that materials had become selective and we directed our sales efforts to that basis, moving into those markets which we were especially well able to serve.

"It was also recognized that the volume of business which could be done one year as a showing and that our objectives this year should be laid down on a more normal basis; instead of aiming solely for volume, we concentrated on those markets and products that we felt would be productive of profits.

"Recognizing also that reduction in overhead and lowered selling costs would be necessary, we added to our line certain companion products that our sales representatives could profitably market This has worked out extremely well and we have been able to reduce sales costs in practically all territories we cover.

"As a result of this intensive effort we have been able to obtain our essential volume and show earnings actually in excess of those a year ago. While improved conditions in the gypsum industry itself have naturally contributed to this, we feel that the major reason has been our working along selective lines and applying our selective efforts in line of companion products that can be readily sold by their regular dealer trade."

Why is banking undergoing a transformation? Let Gregory C. Rand, president of the Marine Midland Corporation, who has been actively engaged in organizing many banks under one supervision, answer:

"Strong banking institutions are essential to prosperity. During the last 10 years the methods of operating business in this country have been revolutionized and it is logical that phases of banking should likewise undergo change to meet this new condition. Group banking, as represented by the Marine Midland Corporation, is an alignment of banking to the new order in industry. It is a necessary step in the financing of the larger industries of the country. Group banking not only will assist in meeting the big banking requirements of our large corporations, but also will afford supplementary service and deposits not hereinfore available in the smaller unit banks.

"Buffalo and the Niagara frontier region is a territory with a great diversity of industry and it is essential that banking must keep pace with the industrial developments in this area."

While in Buffalo the other day I asked A. D. Graves, president of Graves-Lambert, and who is also vice-president of the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce, how his city could by known and come to locate in that city. He replied

"In 1902 Buffalo was selected as the best location for our main plant and executive offices. Our company has been in business for more than 80 years, and its greatest progress has been made during the last 30 years. From my viewpoint, Buffalo is an ideal location for the manufacture and distribution of paint and varnish products in the United States and Canada. The most heavily populated parts of both countries, including the rich industrial sections, are easily accessible from Buffalo, with its numerous railroad and water transportation.

"Our experience of manufacturing in this community for many years has shown labor content to be uniformly good, with a minimum of unemployment and practically no labor controversies. Buffalo, with its diversified industries, is due to the diversity of industry within the Niagara area which guarantees a more level average of labor than exists in sections having one or two industries predominating.

"Buffalo business men are loyal, energetic, proud of their city and helpful to one another. Our company is fortunate in its location in Buffalo as its principal manufacturing center."

It is cheering to meet business heads who are able to report improvement over a year ago. J. E. Rogers, president of the Addressograph Corporation, tells me that not only did their earnings last year show very great gain over the previous year, but that still better results are being achieved this year.

NEWS OF New York Curb BOSTON Trends of the Day MARKETS

DULL TRADING, MINOR CHANGES IN BOSTON

Trading continued dull on the Boston Stock Exchange today with price changes for the most part in a narrow range. Copper issues were irregular with Quincy Mining selling fractionally higher and Anaconda, Copper Range and Isle Royale slightly lower most of the session.

Cities Service was firm, almost a point higher. General Aloys was steady. Edison soon gained 2 points. Economic issues were quieter over a point and American Telephone was fractionally higher at 246½.

Railway Light & Security dropped 2 points, Boston & Maine B stayed steady at 1¾ and Great Northern B was off a point. United Shoe was up ¾. United Founders, United Fruit and Utilities Equities preferred each lowered a fraction in the afternoon.

The companies under the supervision of Stone & Webster Service Corporation show an increase in merchandise sales of $78,166 or 7.3 per cent, for the first quarter of 1930, compared with the first quarter of 1929. The total sales of merchandise was $1,142,583.

Engineers Public Service Company reports electrical output for April of 158,641,600 Kilowatt Hours, which shows an increase of six per cent over the corresponding month last year.

City Treasurer Dolan of Boston awarded $1,000,000 loan, dated May 15, 1930, and due October 1, 1930, interest to follow 365-day year basis, to Guaranty Co., at 3.05 per cent plus $20 premium.

Other bidders were: Faxon, Gade & So., 3.12 per cent; Shawmon Bros. & Hutzler, 3.13 per cent; plus $7; Shawmut Corp., 3.19 per cent, plus $25; First National-Old Colony Corp., 3.23 per cent, plus $17.50, and Chase Securities Corp., 3.34 per cent, plus $50.

New Invention to Affect Sound Films

Berlin, May 13—Perfecting of an invention likely to revolutionize the production of gramophone discs for talking pictures was claimed by two Berlin engineers, Gerard Newman and Joseph Suchomski.

They said the new device would render obsolete the amplifiers which use valves, a hitherto indispensable apparatus. A plant using the new patents will be established in Germany with annual capacity of 5,000,000 discs, to start in June, they said.

A large American firm is reputed recently to have paid several million marks for exclusive talking picture license from a German syndicate holding monopoly of the valve patents.

Dividend Is Omitted

Syracuse, N. Y., May 13—Associated Laundries of America, Inc., omitted quarterly dividend of 5 cents on common. This is confirmation of voting trust through which bank creditors now control the company.

Advice Is Free

Before you buy or sell stocks or bonds, you ought to secure unbiased expert advice. Send your investment inquiries with stamp to Frank H. Meloon, Financial Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. All replies are made by mail direct.

EARNINGS RECEDE

N. A., Boston—Past advice has proved excellent. I thought of buying Cerro de Pasco but decided to wait until I heard from you.

Ans.—Cerro de Pasco is speculative particularly with copper metal at 13 cents a pound. For the year ended December 31, 1929, earnings were $4.31 a share, compared with $5.13 in 1928. Although sales increased in 1929, enlarged operating expenses accounted in part for the decline. Earnings have ranged from a deficit of $2,691,762 in 1921 to net of $6,016,164 in 1924. Dividends are paid from 1915 to 1929 discontinued in 1921, resumed in 1923 at $4 annually, increased to $5 July, 1928. Current $6 rate has been paid from April, 1929.

NO EXCHANGE

N. L., Devonshire st.—My broker suggests I switch my 100 shares of General Allegheny common at par for my suggestion, into Seneca shares. Do you advise it?

Ans.—The switch suggested by your broker is not favored by us.

DIVIDENDS IRREGULAR

L. A., Quincy—Shall appreciate information on American Sugar common. Also, your opinion of a purchase of the stock.

Ans.—American Sugar common is speculative. Earnings and dividends have been irregular. In 1929 net profit was $8.59 a share, compared with $7.60 in 1928 and 97 cents in 1927. No dividends were paid from second half of 1921 to end of 1925; resumed on $5 annual basis first quarter of 1926, to and including first quarter of 1929; then omitted until July, 1929, when quarterly payment of $1.25 a share was distributed and since maintained. The preferred stock, yielding about 6 per cent, on which dividends have been paid regularly from 1891, would be more suitable for most investors.

Bristol Bonds Are Awarded in Boston

Bristol County has awarded to Eldredge & Co., at 100.76, $200,000 4 per cent Registry of Deeds (Fall River District) loan bonds dated May 1, and payable 1931 to 1960. Other bidders were: Bristol County Trust, Taunton, 100.61; First National-Old Colony Corp., 100.365; Merchants National Bank of New Bedford, 100.34; Chase Securities Corp., 100.286; F. S. Moseley & Co., 100.19; First National Bank of Attleboro, 100.06, and Shawmut Corp., 100.

CURB MARKET IS ENLIVENED BY THE OILS

New York, May 13—A flurry of buying in the oil stocks centered proceedings somewhat on the Curb market today, but on the whole trading was again dull and price movements were both indefinite and small.

The move in the petroleum shares coincided with the operations in the same group on the big board. Humble, Gulf and Cosden rallied two points each, while Vacuum and Standards of Indiana and Kentucky were marked up about one.

Cities Service and Missouri Kansas Pipe gained fractionally. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore was pushed to a new high above 136 on an improvement of more than two points, but most of the light and power company shares made smalled swings.

American Gas & Electric sold off a point to 120 on profit taking. California Electric, a volatile issue, rallied 7 points on odd lot buying. Niagara Hudson was up nearly 2.

Angio-Chilean Nitrate was a feature, mounting 3 points to a new high. Reports from Paris concerning plans for a huge nitrate cartel. Domestic industrials and specialties were largely quiet and prices shifted irregularly.

In the investment trust group, Blue Ridge common and preferred rose a point on buying attributed to the financial statement published yesterday. Transamerica was higher.

Call money remained on the Curb at 3½ per cent.

Copper Betterment Instills New Faith

Sudden turn of events in copper situation, with firming of quotations, has created a noticeably more cheerful sentiment in many quarters. Hope is expressed that the firmness may become contagious among the commodities and develop greater resistance for other metals. The copper stocks recently have been bought by interests close to the industry who foresaw that it may not be part of the strategy of copper producers to induce renewed buying and help to lessen the enormous surplus stocks of the metal. For this reason the sudden demand for the copper stocks has been chiefly for speculation, even by those close to the copper industry.

Refrigerator Stocks Attracting Attention

HOT WEATHER spell is directing greater attention to the refrigerator stocks which, incidentally, recently have acted in most encouraging fashion. It is said that continued demand, particularly for Servel and Kelvinator, is traceable to interest favorable with their retairs. Servel is being sponsored by an aggressive group who are emphasizing the valuable linkage the company enjoys with leading public utility companies, thereby providing ready markets for its output. Kelvinator's earnings in the first quarter were substantially ahead of last year.

Vanandium Trouble Entirely Settled?

Someone aware of the internal difficulty the Vanadium pool was facing has been very anxious to broadcast that the difficulty has been overcome. Apparently the trouble was quite serious, judging by the anxiety to spread the "good news." Difficulty within the pool in a stock under the vanadium might easily result in a sharp break; as a matter of fact the stock did suffer considerably by the threat of difficulty. Without complete co-operation and with only hopes concerning developments which might make the stock intrinsically worth its price, every effort was made to overcome the internal difficulty.

Electric Power New Financing

ELECTRIC BOND & SHARE interests maintain their confidence in Electric Power & Light, which is the natural parent arm of the bond and share company. Electric Power is one of the most widely tipped of the utility issues and recent support furnished by its sponsors is said to be in anticipation of possible new financing in connection with the recent deal with United Gas. Electric Power has outstanding 1,842,000 shares.

COPPER'S RISE IS SURPRISE TO MARKET

By FRANK H. MELOON

Rise in price of copper came as a surprise to the market. Inquiries in State indicate the biggest bears were not caught napping, but had covered their short commitment. The fact that copper interests have been able at last to move the red metal in large tonnages has been a cheering factor which has led to rumors in stock market circles that a further advance is considered not unlikely. The situation, nevertheless, remains somewhat beclouded as to what would happen after that.

There had been rumors that the price of copper would be lowered, but the bears stood wary. Some good sales at 13 cents a pound have been reported in the past 24 hours.

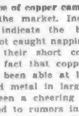
Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. announces the appointment of C. Lincoln Abbott as assistant northeastern district service manager.



C. Lincoln Abbott

Mr. Abbott was formerly in charge of the service activities in New England, and now he has been given charge of service activities in New England and northern New York.

George A. Robinson, who has been assistant to Mr. Abbott for the past five years, is appointed Boston service manager. Mr. Robinson entered the employ of the company in 1915, serving with the accounting department for two years. He then enlisted in the Yankee Division, and upon returning from the service became associated with the steam section of the Westinghouse service department.

Stock market crashes in the old days used to spell numerous brokerage house failures. There are few such failures associated with setbacks of the past year, and stock exchange houses have been almost immune. Real estate mortgage investment houses have largely led the "bad list."

The money you handle so briefly is to be made by a new process. The Bureau of Standards in co-operation with the Bureau of Engraving and Printing has developed the new way for making the printing plates used at the latter bureau for printing the paper currency.

For the past several years, most of the plates used at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, have been made by an electrolytic process somewhat similar to electrotyping. These plates have consisted largely of nickel and copper with a surface of chromium, which is a very hard metal. In order to simplify the process and to reduce the cost, some of the plates are now being made by depositing iron instead of copper and nickel.

In this new process, the solution contains an iron salt and iron anodes are used. The deposits of iron are strong and tough. When plated with chromium to harden the surface they give very satisfactory service.

Warm weather is generally agreed to have been an excellent stimulant for retail trade.

Pres. Macaulay of Sun Life Assurance Co. says: "I am no prophet, but I rather think that by the end of this year selected common stocks will on the average have regained in market value 60 per cent to 70 per cent of the loss sustained last autumn. By the end of 1931, or at any rate by the end of 1932, I expect the average to have perhaps even attained the 1929 peak again."

A. H. Woods, theatrical producer, says he is backing to the extent of $100,000 a motion picture Corp. and has become president. Company manufactures machines costing $1000 which make motion pictures of subjects while they wait. Mr. Woods states he has concluded arrangements for lending on royalty basis machines to be used at Coney Island and other resorts.

About 20 per cent of American Telephone stockholders of record are duplicates, according to an edition, more than 300,000 employees are now subscribing for stock in installments under the Employees' Stock Plan. Stockholders are in every state in the Union. Eight states have more than 10,000 each. 37 have more than 5000 each.

Holiday for Rubber Tapping Is Assured

New York, May 13—To date around 81 per cent of the Netherland rubber group which includes the associated German, French, Belgian, and Swiss growers as well as around 5,000 tons of Government estate rubber, and around 90 per cent of the British group, have approved of the May tapping cessation scheme, so that inauguration is now assured according to trade information to vamitted to the Department of Commerce by Acting Commercial Attache Paul S. Guinn, The Hague.

YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS

—By FAITH BALDWIN

started to write: "Dear Mr. Eaton," and—

"What's happened?" Kathleen asked.

Anne shook her head and her lips trembled.

"Well," Kathleen ordered practically, "Whatever's happened, you're going to get into bed—immediately."

Anne rose, followed Kathleen into their bedroom and docilely permit-ted her clothes to be put her to bed.

Kathleen sat down beside her slim hands clasped about one silken knee.

"Tell me," she commanded, and added, "You'll never get a good night's rest—it will whatever it is if off your chest."

Mrs. McCormick Puts One Mr. Colcord in His Place

Show-Up Should Be Warning to Others Lending Names to Foreign Propaganda

Samuel Colcord, of 305 West 113th street, New York City, official League of Nations propagandist in this country, was put in his proper place by Ruth Hanna McCormick, in her nationwide radio broadcast Friday night.

Colcord had addressed a letter to United States Senators urging them not to believe that the League Court played an important part in Mrs. McCormick's smashing victory over Senator Deneen in the Illinois Republican primary.

Mrs. McCormick pointed out that in the campaign she spoke against the League Court in a hundred Illinois counties. Deneen in his first address devoted 8000 words in defense of the League Court and, says Mrs. McCormick,

"For thirty days he traveled through Illinois reiterating that defense. International organizations also flooded the state with pro-court literature.

"I do not believe that an issue has ever been more clearly drawn and more thoroughly discussed than was this League Court issue in the Illinois primary."

On this issue she received 700,000 votes in the primary, which was 210,000 more than Deneen got, and represented the greatest majority ever given to a candidate for the Senate in an Illinois primary.

It was promptly recognized and designated as a serious League Court defeat by Chicago and Illinois politicians.

It was promptly called a serious League Court defeat by the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Journal of Commerce, Deneen's chief newspaper supporters in Chicago.

It was promptly called a serious League Court defeat in editorials in hundreds of newspapers from coast to coast.

It was promptly called a serious League Court defeat by Senators Pittman, Watson, Borah, Glenn, Trammel and Copeland.

All these expert and recognized interpreters of public opinion are discredited by Samuel Colcord, who from his League of Nations propaganda study at 305 West 113th street, New York City, advises Senators to disregard the Illinois vote as a test of what our people think about joining the League of Nations Court.

Mrs. McCormick presents an analysis of the list of sixty prominent men and women who without investigation endorsed the Colcord interpretation of the Illinois vote.

It now appears that nobody on this list lives nearer Chicago than Cleveland, Ohio. Sixteen of them are from New York, the country's center of internationalism.

Mrs. McCormick's exposure of the stupid falsifications for which Colcord is responsible may not have much effect upon the methods of that professional publicity agent, but it should serve to make prominent men and women a little less hasty in lending their names to endorsement of propaganda in the interest of foreign nations so crudely done that it makes author and endorsers alike ridiculous.

The Nurse-Burglar

Fond of Children

The gentlemanly burglar, who apologizes profusely for taking your money and jewels, tips his hat to his lady victims and usually operates in evening clothes has been an old story from the days of "Raffles, the amateur cracksman" to the present. But the nursemaid burglar is a new development. He combines a taste for other people's property with a love for children. He is equally expert with a jimmy or a milk bottle. He can rock a baby to sleep with one hand while he picks a bracelet and a few diamond rings off the dressing table with the other.

The nurse-burglar, of course, hails from Chicago. A few nights ago one of them, accompanied by a friend, appeared in the apartment of a Mr. and Mrs. Edward Solovy. Mr. Solovy was absent, but his wife and child were there. As the baby was crying, both visitors first went to the ice box, took some milk, warmed it to the proper temperature, and gave it to the infant, who was immediately pacified. Then, and only then, they gathered up Mrs. Solovy's $1200 worth of jewelry and went on their way.

It is a pleasant little incident, and it ought to reconcile any mother to losing a few paltry gems. A jury would probably take it into consideration, also, if it had the two men up before it. As long as burglary is one of our thriving industries, we are glad to see it practised as painlessly as possible, and with a note of broad human sympathy on the part of its practitioners.

Baseball Players Crazy?

Mr. Gemmet Thinks So

All baseball players are crazy or they wouldn't be baseball players, in the opinion of Louis R. Gemmet, 71-year-old fan. Mr. Gemmet has asked Probate Judge Henry Horner, of Chicago, for a ruling on this debatable question. He presents arguments to support his belief.

Here are some:

"One of the signs of insanity on the dismond is the method of scoring. A batter makes a one base hit, after which he proceeds at high speed to first base, ignoring the fact that his effort is useless to his team unless his mates are successful in their efforts to make additional hits in order that he may continue on around the bases and register a score. That's crazy, isn't it?

"There should be two pitchers, one right and one left handed, in the box at the same time, and the batter wouldn't know which one was going to pitch. The purpose of the pitcher is to deceive the batsman.

"And it's crazy to call a game on account of rain. There ought to be a canopy over the field, suspended by balloons, so that play could go right on, no matter what the weather."

Judge Horner will take the matter under advisement. As Mr. Gemmet has been going to ball games for the last sixty years, there may be something in it.

Most players, while dissenting from Mr. Gemmet's general contention, will, however, agree heartily with his final claim that they are crazy to let an umpire make any ruling in a game. "Umpires are always wrong," he says, "except when they decide in your favor. And you can decide that better yourself."

MATERNAL SERPENT'S TOOTH

The thankless child is bad enough, worse than a serpent's tooth. You read about him in Shakespeare, when you were little:

"How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is To have a thankless child."

What do you think about this thankless MOTHER, old Mamma Prohibition, lambasting her poor little wet elephant child because he happens to have a pint or so on the hip, and a quart or two inside?

It is an awful thing to have your mother turn against you, simply because you strive to brighten up the corner where you happen to be.

Old Sinbad the donkey, made famous by his Brown Derby run to the tune "We Want Booze," finds that it is HIS turn to laugh. Perhaps he was right, back in 1928, only a little ahead of his time. Who knows?

As for the wild sons of jackasses in the background, pay no attention to THEM. They are heartless insurgents, mongrel Republicans from the West, and it does their callous hearts good to see ANYTHING happen to ANYBODY.

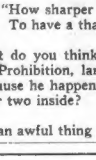
Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

The Single Standard

The "Single Standard" — one hears a lot about it nowadays. Wild Oats for the girls as well as the boys?

And why not, if the girls know what they're about and can pay their own way?



Elsie Robinson

A fine argument, my friend, but it won't work! Philoosophize as you will, what's sauce for the gander isn't gravy for the goose. And Wild Oats do harm women more than they do men.

It's all a question of one's usefulness to society. Your Big Job—that's the important thing. Do Wild Oats mess up that Big Job—or don't they? That's the test.

They don't necessarily mess up a man's Big Job. Papas, apparently, were planned to be promiscuous. Mating was an incident, but not man's main responsibility. Work was. Man's place in his tribe and his pride in himself depended on that work. Times have changed and so have papas. A little. Gentlemen have been taught to use wedding rings and cherish consequences. Reprehensible as it may seem, men can still love 'em and leave 'em without messing up their jobs.

But women can't! Women can't make light of love without messing up their jobs because love is their big job.

"But women aren't just wives and mothers any longer," somebody snorts. "They hold as many positions as men now and that changes everything."

They do—and it doesn't!

It is true that woman do hold positions, but love is still their big job—for out of it comes their greatest contributions to society and themselves. These contributions aren't just children and homes. They are the priceless and fundamental things of the spirit. Tenderness and a peculiar wisdom are born in women when they love—as well as children—and a reckless, sacrificial courage—and a stability in which other lives may root.

These are the most valuable and beautiful things that can happen in a woman's life. They will happen in her life if she will keep faith with the law of love in her own body and spirit—if she will keep love rare and constant as it was meant to be for women—for the mothers of the race.

But if she does not keep faith—if she makes a sport of love and gives love no chance to ripen into any fruit—then she demoralizes the very plan of her being. And none of the things that come of real love can come from her wild oat sowing. Tenderness and courage cannot come, nor any stability in which other lives may root. And her outraged nerves and spirit will make her an unsatisfied, unnatural thing—forever seeking that which she herself denies—of no use to herself or to the world.

The woman who makes light of love makes light of herself.

Capital Silhouettes

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

With Massachusetts returning to Georgia a clock carried off by the Yankees in '65, New Orleans has revived her hopes of getting back Ben Butler's spoons.

Postmaster-General Brown's new postage stamp showing Washington as a young colonel on the staff of Gen. Braddock at a certain celebrated fight will mark the first instance of Uncle Sam celebrating a defeat.

Great Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon League objects to giving the lobby committee the names of contributors to the fund that helped to fasten bootlegging, hijacking, smuggling and general all-around cussedness on the defenseless people of the United States, on the ground that their publication might embarrass the nobleminded contributors to the slush fund, but when did an argument like that ever appeal to Senator Caraway?

Golf's Just a Business

By ARTHUR BAER

This is a nation of merciless reforms, hopeless indictments and useless investigations.

In all the history of the charted reefs there has never been a land that had so many constitutions with so few preambles.

We compel a merchandiser to put up his goods in germ-proof packets but we don't stop him from charging us double for the product.

We allow our temporary habit-formers to sell Government oil lands. Then we indict them and the jury struts back with a vote of thanks.

Somebody, with little to do, appoints an investigation committee with less.

We would like to know what an investigation committee finds out.

It is our fervent misquotation that all big business in this neck-of-the-woods is done on golf links.

Any time you want to consult a bank president you have got to chase him across a terrain of raging divots.

A capitalist in the woods slices accidentally to the fairway and meets an international promoter niblicking himself from hazard to hazard.

They add up their scores. The total is so terrifying and astounding that there is only one way to save themselves.

So they merge. The result is a 16,000,000-share day on Wall Street and a panic that started with a topped mashie crack.

Civic and state politics used to be run from the back rooms of corner saloons.

Now they use the locker system.

H. G. Wells Writes

ON "THE SCIENCE OF LIFE"

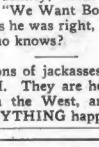
Those who still doubt or reflect the truth of evolution should ponder their own. For their own private and particular evolution, even though it was all compressed into a nine months' span, was just as spectacular as the slow evolution of life as a whole.



H. G. Wells

Even that valiant apostle of Fundamentalism, William Jennings Bryan, began his existence as a single cell, passed from this stage of Protozoan resemblance through the stage of a soft-bodied, jelly-like coelenterate, to the stage of a soft-bodied, jelly-like coelenterate, to the stage of a soft-bodied, jelly-like coelenterate, to
